SAIGON—Government forces have recaptured the district town of Dong Xoati where Communist guerrillas inflicted heavy losses on American and Vietnamese defenders in a day-long battle, it was announced early today.

An American military spokesman said a South Vietnamese Ranger battalion stormed the town 60 miles north of Saigon late last night and reoccupied the military compound where the Americans had fought a last ditch stand.

SEABEES IN AREA

The spokesman said the Americans lost 31 killed, wounded or missing in the battle in which the Viet Cong attacked under cover of a heavy mortar barrage, captured the town and overran the nearby U.S. Special Forces training camp. A number of American Seabees also were in the area.

While the battle see - sawed throughout the day at Dong Xoai American jet fighter-bombers carried out 70 sorties over North Viet Nam. A U. S. Navy pilot was killed when his A1 Skyraider crashed into a ridge and exploded during an attack on the Co Dinh power plant 80 miles south of Hanoi.

A spokesman said the U. S. Army helicopter exploded in flight over Dong Xoai after being hit by Communist groundfire. He said all seven crewmen were presumed to have died in the explosion. It was not known if there were any passengers aboard the aircraft.

1,500 VIET CONG

The spokesman said intense fighting raged at Dong Xoai for hours after the initial attack just before dawn when the Viet Cong, estimated at 1,500 men, attacked the town held by 400 members of the civil irregular defense group being trained by the Special Forces unit.

Military sources said a detachment of 24 Special Forces men was stationed at Dong Xoai and that some members of the U.S. Navy Seabees construction team were in the area.

The Communist unleashed a barrage of 200 rounds of 60 millimeter mortar fire into the town and onto the Special Forces camp and then captured the airstrip, preventing the government from flying in reinforcements.

American military sources said the entire first wave of the government force flown in by helicopter was wiped out before it could reach survivors holed up at the district headquarters compound.

Grand Jurors Shocked By Marijuana Evidence

Children Puff Weed Throughout Marin

The Marin County Grand Jury yesterday heard testimony that marijuana use has extended to schools throughout Marin—even to elementary school pupils as young as nine years, the jury foreman disclosed today.

The grand jury indicted 10 adults yesterday for sale or possession of marijuana.

It then heard testimony by a throng of teen-agers—testimony which jury foreman George R. Scott said shocked that jurors with its cavalier attitude toward use of the weed.

As a result of the widespread marijuana use by children disclosed in the testimony, the grand jury set up a meeting next week with school principals to inquire more deeply into the traffic and try to find a solution.

Three of the indictments were secret. The remaining seven suspects had already been arrested. All are scheduled for arraignment in Marin Superior Court at 10 a.m. on June 21 before Judge Thomas F. Keating.

In addition to seven witnesses whose testimony was used in re-

YANK DEATH TOLL MOUNTS IN VIET NAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen American—half of them Californians—Servicemen died in action in South Viet Nam in the week ended June 7, the Defense Department said today. Sixty-two were wounded.

The total of U.S. combat deaths in Viet Nam since Jan. 1, 1961 is 420, wounded 2,324; missing 24, and captured 13.

Northern Californians killed in the reporting week which ended last Monday included: Marine Pfc. Harry P. Gamble of San Francisco, and Navy Lt. (j.g.) M. D. McMican of Alameda.

NAIVE TEENS

Hero-Worship Is Dope Cause

Naive hero-worship of the unwashed members of the beatnik cult living in Southern Marin is one of the reasons for increased use of marijuana by teen-agers in that area.

This was the consensus of speakers on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" today.

The "try anything once" attitude, plus the tendency of youthful rebels to join with older, supposedly wiser rebels against authority also have contributed to the problem, the speakers agreed.

Speakers were Matthew O'Connor, agent in charge of the State Narcotics Bureau office in San Francisco; Police Chiefs Dan Tzerich of Mill Valley and Kenneth Huck of Sausalito; Dr. Philip Hicks, Marin psychiatrist, and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

Bales said many of the juveniles arrested during a round-up which began last Friday had no concern about the consequences of continued use of marijuana, which some said was "quicker than liquor."

"Continued use of the drug leads to violent conduct," Bales declared. "It also leads to the use of hard narcotics."

Huck called the use of marijuana "the beginning of a paved road to the end of the world for the user."

He added, "To the peddler, young adults are the best source of business."

The use of marijuana results in loss of control over inhibitions. The longer and more frequently it is used, the more violent the user becomes, Huck asserted.

He listed four factors which he said contributed to a young person getting the marijuana habit: The lack of constructive influ-

Geminians Greet Families: Kisses, Bear Hugs Aplenty

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White—wearing bright, broad smiles—stepped jauntily into the arms of their wives today and gave great bear hugs to their children in a heroes' welcome home from space.

With one sweep, command pilot and father McDivitt picked his three children off the ground and into a big hug. Both men kissed and embraced their wives.

"We've traveled a lot of miles," McDivitt said. "I read in a newspaper on the ship it was something like 1,700,000. But the last 800 or 900 miles are the greatest.

"Today is my birthday," McDivitt told the some 500 people who had gathered to welcome him back to the astronaut base. "But I've never had anything like today." It's his 36th birthday.

"Being back in Houston, next to landing on the carrier, is the biggest moment of the flight," said White, the man who strolled in space last Thursday.

His blonde wife, Pat, kissed him several times tenderly and dabbed at an occasional tear in the corner of her eye.

After the brief greeting to the crowd, the heroes were led to a nearby NASA lounge for a private chat with their families.

As McDivitt, still dressed in a light blue flight suit and canvas shoes, walked off, his youngest son, Patrick, begged: "Daddy carry me, carry me."

"Sure I'll carry you, son," McDivitt answered swinging the boy in his arms.

White walked away, one arm around his wife's waist and the other hugging Eddie, his 11-year-old son.

It had been two weeks since the astronauts last saw their wives, and even longer since they had seen their children.

A paper banner some four feet long across the front door of the White home proclaimed in child-drawn letters:

"Welcome home, Daddy. We

PUC Hearings Start On Protested Phone Rate Plan

Western California Telephone Co. today began presentation at a California Public Utilities Commission hearing in Novato of rate schedules which had drawn protests in advance from San Rafael, Larkspur and Fairfax.

The PUC is hearing jointly petitions by Western California and by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to eliminate toll charges between Novato and Central Marin. Involved is how much of the necessary increase in monthly service charges should be charged customers at the Novato end of the line, and how much should be charged those served by PT&T's San Rafael exchanges. On this, the two companies have different proposals.

PT&T's schedule of rates, which would not increase the charge for residential users served by the San Rafael exchanges, was recommended for approval after a hearing last November. Western California's schedule is being presented for the first time.

Robert C. Abrams, vice president and chief engineer of Western California, today presented two proposed schedules for Novato users. His company serves most of the city, although part is within PT&T's Novato exchange.

The first of these called for rates ranging from $4 for a four-party residential line to $13.10 for a one-party business line, compared with $3.70 and $10.25, respectively, at present. The second was higher, ranging from $4.05 to $14. Reasons for the differences were not immediately explained.

Yet to be presented is Western California's proposal for increases in San Rafael service charges to provide the toll-free service between Novato and Central Marin.

Witnesses yesterday and early today lined up for or against the "extended service" plan on geographical lines.

Salmon Party Becomes An Adventure

H. D. SCHRAMM
'Don't get worried'

14 Anglers Tell Their 'Fish Story'

Story and photos
By ELLEN BRY

Fourteen East Bay anglers who went out on the Salmon Queen from Sausalito yesterday will have quite a fish story to tell their neighbors, grandchildren and anyone they can get to listen.

The tale starts calmly at 6 a.m., when the party fishing boat left from Sausalito's Gate Five area to take 14 men and women to salmon fishing grounds off the Farallone Islands.

For Skipper H. D. Schramm, 725 Sunset Parkway, Novato, it was just another run aboard the 53-foot boat he owns.

But by 11 a.m. the Salmon Queen was in trouble. Lines which push sea water through the engine cooling apparatus had broken, and there was three feet of water in the engine room.

The pump broke down. The engine quit because of the water below decks.

Schramm radioed for Coast Guard help. He said he told fishermen to pull in their lines and "don't get worried—have another beer."

Within 20 minutes a Coast Guard helicopter had lowered a pump to the boat. Schramm fixed the water lines and fiddled with the engine as a Coast Guard boat from Benecia stood by.

Fishermen from Concord and Pittsburg who were aboard said a little water slopped over the sides of the boat when it was disabled, but no one even got seasick.

The Salmon Queen chugged into Sausalito under her own power at 3 p.m., escorted by a Coast Guard boat from Fort Point.

THE CATCH WAS POOR, BUT . . . — Fourteen anglers aboard the Salmon Queen wound up with only seven fish among them yesterday after the party boat began shipping water off the Farallones and had to call on the Coast Guard for help. But Mrs. Howard McElhaney of Concord (foreground) and Claudia Smith of Pittsburg were among the lucky ones, catching big salmon before the trouble started that forced the boat to limp back to Sausalito.

Yard Fire Brings Hazard Warning

Asst. Fire Chief Frank Christ of Sausalito today cautioned that there is a serious grass fire hazard this year due to heavy winter rains which caused grasses to be high.

He said fire threatened several homes at 1:16 p.m. yesterday after a faulty incinerator caused a pile of grass and debris to ignite in the back yard of Joe Belhrad, at 134 Filbert Street. Belhrad was not at home and the fire, enclosed by back yard fences, was spotted by Mrs. Joe Ford, 126-B Filbert.

Christ said Belehrad was cited for having no permit, after-hour burning, faulty incinerator without screen, unattended fire, burning in hazardous area, and having no hose handy.

GOP HOLDS BIG UNITY MEETING

Goldwater Is Not Invited To Ohio Session Because 'Nobody Wanted Him'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Republicans had their mobilization orders for 1966 today and it was clear many of the party leaders are not couning upon former Sen. Barry M. Goldwater to lead the attack in next year's campaign.

Nobody read the titular head of the party out of the ranks of the fight being mobilized for next year's congressional and state races but a battalion of top GOP leaders never mentioned his name in a series of speeches across Ohio last night.

The party's standard - bearer of only eight months ago wasn't even invited to the big unity feast because none of the Ohio County chairmen polled on potential speakers said they wanted to hear him.

"Nobody wanted him," Ohio Finance Committee Chairman Richard P. Niehoff said during a news conference in which former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, caught off base, had explained Goldwater's absence through an apparent conflict in schedules.

Nixon managed a smile and said he was sure Goldwater had plenty of speaking engagements.

The series of eight $100 a plate dinners which netted the Grand Old Party more than $1 million had speakers of many shades of Republican belief. They included former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nixon, three big state governors, two senators, a congressman and two potential candidates from California and Illinois. All paid tribute to Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

The decision of the Ohio Republican leaders not to invite Goldwater was seen as significant in this conservative midwestern state. Party leaders are busy with a rebuilding program following heavy losses it suffered last year when Goldwater lost the state to President Johnson by more than a million votes.

Federal Reserve Head Told He Should Quit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, today called on William McChesney Martin Jr. "to do the decent thing and resign," as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Patman sharply criticized his old adversary for a New York speech earlier this month that suggested the nation might be heading toward another depression.

"The present Federal Reserve Board chairman has outlived his usefulness as a public servant in charge of America's central banking system," Patman said in a speech prepared for delivery before the House.

"I suggest that he ease himself out of his present occupation and permit President Johnson to name a board chairman of his own choosing."

Martin created a considerable stir when he said the current economic environment contained many of the "boom" factors which preceded the great stock market crash of 1929.

Martin said the government must remain "willing and able to prevent orderly expansion from turning into disorderly boom".

Some observers, including Patman, took this to mean that the six-man Federal Reserve Board might soon apply the monetary brakes by raising interest rates.

"This is the story of a man who is defying the President of the United States by singing a siren song of pending disaster," Patman said.

New Slip Alarms Pacific Palasades

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police last night sped to the Pacific Palisades area where "a little additional movement" was reported in a section ravaged earlier by a massive earth slide that caused an estimated $1 million property damage.

Police said there had been "a little additional movement" but "no actual slide." Officers added that "some people there are beginning to move out."

The city Board of Public works earlier in the day refused to halt road construction in a canyon just east of the slide area. The main slide occurred last Saturday.

India Seeks Oil

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The government announced today it has assumed power to seize the stocks of all oil refineries and distributors in India. A spokesman said the move is designed to stop hoarding in oil-short India.

Portugal Criticized

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — The 13 nations of the U.S. Special Committee on Colonialism have drawn up a resolution calling on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to cut off arms supplies to Portugal.

Returns To Prison

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Mrs. Peron Stops Over In U.S.

MADRID (AP)—Isabel Martinez de Peron, attractive 34-year-old wife of former Argentine President Juan D. Peron, returned to Madrid today after a trip to Paraguay and New York.

Mrs. Peron

Her trip to Paraguay was presumably to confer on her husband's behalf with Peronista leaders there.

The Perons live in exile in Spain.

Before departing from Kennedy Airport in New York, Mrs. Peron told newsmen she hoped to be able to persuade her husband to return with her to the U. S. for a visit next September.

Marriages Are Made In Computer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Three months ago a computer matched Michigan State University seniors Paul Nelson and Sandra Titus for a campus dance. Now they are married, and they agree with the computer that they were meant for each other.

Nelson

Nelson and his wife concede the machine missed a point or two when it paired them for the dance last fall, but they give it an average of .987 since their marriage last March 20.

"What we found out happened was that there were far more similarities than had been catalogued by the computer," said Nelson, 25, a business major.

Mrs. Nelson

"We both squeeze the toothpaste from the end and roll up the empty party and put the cap on."

Mrs. Nelson, 23, a retailing major whose family lives in Lansing, said this came as a relief because she had always wondered how it would be to be married to a man who squeezed the toothpaste in the middle and dropped the cap on the floor.

The computer had paired similarities between them in religion, background, travel, hobbies and politics, noting that each was a "quite vocal" conservative.

"Computer matching is a kind of elimination process," Nelson said. "Instead of having to meet and date many people, discovering compatibilities, the machine does it for you."

Debt Lid Lifting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill to raise the ceiling for the national debt to $328 billion for one year starting July 1.

Powell Tax Deal Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says the government yesterday agreed to settle its tax case against Rep. Adam C. Powell Jr., D-N.Y., for $27,834. The IRS had demanded that he pay $41,014 for back income taxes, penalties and interest covering the years 1949 through 1955.

Suspects Arrested

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Two Yugoslav exiles have been arrested as suspects in the shooting and wounding of a Yugoslav consul, police reported today. The police said they also had arrested Dara Rogic, a 38-year-old Yugoslav waitress who was with the consul, Andrija Klaric, 35, when he was attacked yesterday in a parked car by Lake Constance at Meersburg. She rolled out of the car and was not hurt.

Jewish Leader Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Isidor Leviton, 79, founder and president of the Leviton Manufacturing Co. and one of the founders of the United Jewish Appeal, died yesterday of a heart attack. Leviton was born in Russia.

Dodd Assails Critics Of U.S. Viet Policies As Defeatists, Appeasers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd assailed today "teach-in" critics of President Johnson's policies as defeatists and appeasers who encourage the Communists to prolong the Viet Nam war.

Dodd, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in a prepared Senate speech that the outcome of the Southeast Asia struggle may be determined on the domestic front.

The Connecticut Democrat said that while polls indicate an overwhelming majority of Americans support the administration's policies of pressing the war against the Viet Cong, a "noisy minority" is clamoring for U.S. withdrawal.

"They probably number somewhat less than 10 per cent of the total population," he said. "But this minority of defeatists and appeasers, by dint of their incessant clamor, their seemingly boundless energy, their hundreds of newspaper advertisements, and the apparently limitless funds which fanaticism always generates, have had an impact that is out of all proportion to their actual members.

"I am convinced that President Johnson had weighed and measured every word when he said that we intend to live up to our commitment in Viet Nam, no matter what the cost, and that there is no power on earth that can force us to withdraw."

Dodd spoke out after the White House had made it clear yesterday that U. S. troops would go into action to aid the South Vietnamese forces only if the latter request help and are in trouble.

Even this limited commitment to combat provoked a round of Senate discussion about the growing U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told his colleagues he believes the United States is "moving in the direction of a massive bogdown land struggle in Asia." He said before Johnson commits this country to large-scale ground operations he should ask Congress to pass a resolution approving his course.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., protested that any such action would take the President "off the hook and give him exactly what he wants."

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., a strong supporter of Johnson's course, said he doesn't think any resolution is needed. Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, a critic, said Congress already has given Johnson authority to use troops anywhere in Southeast Asia.

Dodd said that in following the statements of opponents and the arguments at teach-ins he had been "appalled by the degree of ignorance displayed by the majority of those who have spoken out against government policy" in Viet Nam.

NEW COUNTY AIRPORT? — Use of Hamilton Field runway by civilian planes is being proposed by San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. The large strip at bottom is present Hamilton runway. A smaller strip (at top) parallel to the larger, would be used by lighter commercial planes. Taxiways would connect the two strips so that heavy commercial planes that land on the Hamilton runway can clear the strip immediately.

Some Civilian Use Of HAFB Proposed

Partial civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be proposed tomorrow afternoon before the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Ben Ostlind, chairman of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Airport Committee, will present his plan with the backing of the chamber of commerce.

Ostlind said today the area adjoining Hamilton is the logical place to construct a county airport. Land is available now but will not be for long, he warned.

"We can acquire 800 acres of Bel Marin Keys property now," said Ostlind.

Ostlind proposes that the Hamilton runway, presently equipped for instrument approach and landing, be used by heavier commercial aircraft and jets, as well as military aircraft. A smaller strip would be built on the bay side of the Hamilton runway for smaller commercial planes, with connecting taxiways to the ends of the Hamilton runway.

"Heavier commercial aircraft including jets, and those landing by instruments, would use the Hamilton runway but would immediately clear the area by taxiing off to the Marin County Airport," said Ostlind.

Both strips would be under the control of the present control tower.

Through such joint use, the life of Hamilton Field will probably be extended, Ostlind declared.

Ostlind's proposal includes purchase of the 800 acres and construction of a smaller civilian runway with ramps and connecting taxiways, a freight terminal and minimum passenger handling facilities. The plan includes acquisition of 600 to 760 additional acres for an air-oriented industrial park.

"This new county airport facility could also serve as an alternate airport for Oakland and San Francisco in case they are socked in by fog," he added.

Sausalito Swaps Tidelands Areas

Sausalito city councilmen last night, in a two and one-half minute session, unanimously approved a land exchange agreement with Albert K. Engel, owner of the Glad Hand Restaurant, 588 Bridgeway.

It provides Engel with a long-term lease of underwater land outboard of his restaurant in exchange for a deed to the city of land which the city plans to use to widen Bridgeway.

The council, as a finance committee, discussed public works and operating accounts in the fiscal 1966 budget. It will meet at 7:30 p.m. today to discuss fire and police department budgets with the respective chiefs.

Larkspur Park Board Asks Re-Appointment

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission last night asked that the city council reappoint Dr. Ted F. Pett to the commission.

The group asked to meet with the street superintendent for an inspection of the county dump area to make plans for cleaning up and planting the area.

Mayor Wagner Pulls Out Of Race In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the only Democrat ever to serve three four-year terms as New York City mayor, said today he will not seek re-election.

Wagner, 55, had been expected to run again but he told a noontime news conference:

"Simply put, my decision is to end my service as mayor on Jan. 1, 1966."

He had said earlier that personal considerations—primarily the amount of time away from his two sons—was causing him to consider withdrawing.

The mayor's wife, Susan, died March 2, 1964.

Among those who had urged Wagner to try to become New York's first four-term mayor was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who made what amounted to a nominating speech here yesterday at a union convention.

But Wagner today closed "all doors that might otherwise invite requests for reconsideration."

The mayor's withdrawal strengthened the bid of Republican John V. Lindsay, Manhattan congressman. Lindsay seeks fusion backing to succeed Wagner.

Terra Linda Swim Pool Is Closed

The Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District's swimming pool was closed today and will remain closed for four to five days to repair damage that occurred May 7.

Jack Brandon, chairman of the district board, said the plumbing was damaged by Herb's Pool Service during a cleaning operation. A new pool service firm was since hired for the job.

Tulsa Boy Wins Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michael Kerpan Jr., a 12-yair-old seventh grader from Tulsa, Okla., today was declared champion of the 38th annual National Spelling Bee.

Michael won the championship by spelling the word "larghetta," a musical term and then clinched his victory by spelling correctly the word "eczema."

Dixie Group Against Unification Right Now

Dixie School District trustees last night heared a recommendation from the district's 35-member finance committee against unification with the San Rafael School districts "at this time."

The committee, headed by Donn Nissen, reported the group came to this conclusion unanimously after a seven-month study. The board accepted the report and asked that it be duplicated to distribution to those who are interested.

Trustees then dismissed the committee and appointed 22 other residents of the district as the nucleus of a new committee for next fiscal year.

Trustees adopted a preliminary budget of $2,110,000, which is $200,000 over the current budget total. Supt. Dennie B. Willis said most of the increase is due to the opening of a new school.

The board authorized a new, four-year contract with Willis, increasing his annual salary from $17,000 to $18,500.

It also authorized a two-year contract with Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff, increasing his salary from $14,500 to $15,500, and a two-year contract with curriculum consultant Penrod Moss, increasing his pay from $14,000 to $15,000.

Dixie School District trustees also:

1. Refused to grant an across-the-board pay increase for classified employees, who had asked a five per cent hike for next fiscal year.
2. Established a new boundary line between Santa Margarita and Bernard Hoffman School attendance areas that will shift 15 to 20 pupils from Santa Margarita to Hoffman School next school year.
3. Decided against contracting with Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum to contribute 10 cents per pupil in support of the museum.
4. Voted not to participate in the county school superintendent's outdoor school program at Lakoya School in Sonoma County.

Attorney Sued For Failure

A San Francisco frozen food broker, unhappy with his attorney's failure to win a half-million-dollar action for him has filed suit in Marin Superior Court against them for that amount, plus one and one-half million more dollars in punitive damages.

Peter J. Wegesser, doing business in San Francisco as Peter J. Wegesser Co., filed the suit yesterday against Leonard A. Worthington, William F. Worthington, and their law firm of Worthington-Fields and Worthington, all of San Francisco.

He alleges he retained them June 30, 1959, for civil action in Santa Cruz County against Watsonville Pie Apple Processing Co. and others, asking damages totaling $500,000 for breach of contract and loss of commissions.

The defendents, by failure to "exercise due diligence and skill," and by failure to offer evidence in a trial on June 18, 1963, forced Wegesser to abandon the action, he charges. He also alleges a conflict of interests.

All Flood Control Pacts Required

The Army Corps of Engineers has warned that all local commitments on the Corte Madera Creek flood control project must be confirmed prior to start of construction.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer for the corps, reported that work could start at the lower end of the creek in May, 1966. But Allan warned that the county must meet its obligations.

Still very much undecided is the maintenance of the project, which cities have declined to underwrite.

Synanon Charges Talks Cancelled

A Synanon attorney yesterday charged that Davidson School in San Rafael and a San Francisco junior high school recently cancelled scheduled talks by Synanon speakers.

The accusation came from attorney Dan L. Garrett Jr.

In a prepared statement, Garrett took note of "recent newspaper accounts of widespread troubles with delinquency and addiction in Marin County and Galileo High School" (in San Francisco), and said "we feel all parents should be advised of the peculiar attitudes expressed by their school officials."

Davidson Principal Hanlon Tharp, however, said Synanon never was scheduled for a talk. He said school nurse Cornelia M. Tamley had talked to several groups in trying to find a speaker on narcotics for a seventh or eighth grade class.

Chosen was San Rafael Police Investigator Richard Camper, who has a child of his own in the school. Tharp said he called Synanon officials, politely thanked them for the offer to send a speaker, and heard no more of the matter until yesterday's statement by Garrett.

At San Francisco's Roosevelt Junior High School, science teacher Frances Peavey, who had arranged for a Synanon talk, said principal Sylvester Kelly informed her he cancelled it because Synanon has a poor public image and is too controversial.

San Francisco asst. supt. James Dierke said Synanon had made no formal application to speak at the school.

Grand Jurors Shocked By Marijuana Report

turning the indictments, 35 teenagers were questioned by the jury panel or law enforcement officers.

Questioning of the teen-agers —all granted immunity by the district attorney's office for their testimony—followed voting of the indictments.

Scott said the jurors were "very shocked at the testimony given by these children that appeared before us.

"Their attitude," he said, "is that marijuana does not hurt them. They have been given good schooling in that by somebody.

"While at first we thought this was just at Tamalpais High School," declared Scott, "it now appears that every school in the county may be involved.

"Therefore, we are setting up a special meeting with the principals of all schools—public, private or parochial—and anyone they want to bring with them to find out why the schools have not noticed this before, and to work out some program where we can re-educate these children as to the danger of this drug."

Scott said this includes elementary schools, since evidence indicated girls as young as nine years old had been using marijuana.

The meeting has been scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the courtroom of Judge Keating, Department 1.

Scott said a program is expected to be established soon. He asked cooperation of parents through school or the district attorney's office to halt the flow of marijuana.

He also asked all young persons afraid to talk to teachers or parents to notify him or any jury member at any time "so we can hear their story and help them in any way we can."

He congratulated Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales for "a terrific job" in his part of the roundup of suspects and his presentation of evidence to the panel.

Sheriff's bailiffs were not happy with behavior of the teenagers yesterday afternoon during the eight-hour wait in the courthouse to testify. They said an "unbelievable mess" of candy wrappers, hot dog napkins and cigarettes was strewn about the hallways.

In addition, the youthful witnesses tampered repeatedly with the annex elevator, delaying its use by other persons. Minor damage also resulted to walls of a jury room.

Meanwhile, the number of juveniles actually arrested in the marijuana investigation was swelled to 10 yesterday with arrest of a 16-year-old Sausalito youth at his home. Sausalito Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck said officers found marijuana seeds and residue in cracks of the suspects's bedroom floor.

He was booked at county juvenile hall for possession of marijuana. Chief Huck said the youth's parents cooperated in the room's search. He said the boy had been using marijuana for a long time.

Indicted were: Candice Haseman, 18, Sausalito girl arrested in Arizona, two counts of selling marijuana—on April 4 and April 23. Her bail was set at $5,000.

Donald Edward Fleischer, 20, Sausalito, two counts of selling, on May 20 and May 28, and a third count of possession on June 4. Bail is $2,500.

Odus Hayes, 28, of 7 Excelsior Lane, Sausalito, sale of marijuana on Feb. 25 and a second count—for possession—on June 4. Bail is $550.

Susan Kerrigan, 22, Sausalito, a count of possession on June 5 and a second count of felony possession of a concealed dagger, also on June 5. Bail is $2,000.

Richard Nixon Applebee, 21, Larkspur man whose address given during booking at county jail as 20 Olive Street has been reported false by Mrs. Thomas E. Hall of that residence, two counts of sales, one on April 7 and May 28. Bail is $2,750.

Ira Lewis Edwards, 19, of 135 Drake Avenue, Marin City, jointly indicted for sale in the second count against Applebee. Bail is $1,000.

Antony Louis Pastor, 26, Mill Valley man arrested in New York City, two counts of sales, on March 3 and March 17. Bail is $5,000.

Already charged in Marin Municipal Court with felonies for illegal sales of marijuana were Peter Wright Lenihan, 31, of 420 B Street, Sausalito; Wilhelm Alexander Rossknecht, 27, of 10 Reed Lane, Sausalito, and a "John Doe." Lenihan and Rossknecht have been arrested and arraigned in municipal court; the third man is still at large.

Adult witnesses appearing yesterday were Henry Lopez, Gerry Van Ramm, Jesse P. Foster and Forrest Jones, all agents with the State Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement; George C. Prziborowski and Cecil Hider, chemist with the bureau; Sgt. John Higgins and Patrolman Eugene J. Coady of Sausalito Police Department, and Clarinda Biggio, sheriff's matron.

Thin Executive Getting Ahead

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want to pack a lot of weight in executive circles, be sure you're not carrying too much weight around.

That's the conclusion suggested by a survey of presidents of the top 50 corporations in the United States. The study, conducted by manufacturers of a diet food (Metrecal) showed that not one of the company presidents was "fat."

Patrick McGoohan, star of "Secret Agent'," was born in New York City, raised in Ireland and educated in England.

Tax Rate Is Shaved By Board

Mainly because of a new medical home care program started in Marin by a non-profit corporation, the Marin County Board of Supervisors today was able to shave almost half a cent off the projected county tax rate for fiscal 1966.

Michael D. Scholl, county medical director, said the new program will allow a reduction of $13,500 in the sub-accute care portion of his budget.

This, with a few smaller changes made in the medical department budget today, will allow a tax reduction of four mills, county Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said.

This left the projected tax rate at $2.29 per $100 assessed valuation needed to raise the local share of the 25 million dollar county budget.

Supervisors, in their current budget review, still have many other things to consider. The public works department was to be discussed this afternoon and again tomorrow morning. The district attorney, capital improvements, county airport and administration budgets are to be discussed tomorrow afternoon.

ences at home and from religion, getting into bad company, natural curiosity, and the "I'll try anything once" attitude.

O'Connor praised news media for "keeping quiet" as the investigation progressed six months before its culmination last Friday.

He also thanked citizens who, when they expressed their concern about the problem to police and were told about the investigation, allowed it to continue rather than insisting on immediate action which would have resulted in only a few arrested.

Dr. Hicks said that although narcotics addicts were often given their first shot of "hard" narcotics while under the influence of marijuana, the use of marijuana is not addictive.

He said use of marijuana, like caffeine and nicotine, can be habit-forming, whereas use of morphine, heroin and opium is addictive.

The program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

ident Johnson held an informal discussion of the increasingly bloody war in Viet Nam with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and top diplomatic and intelligence advisers today.

The White House, announcing this, said Taylor would return to the executive offices tomorrow for a session with the National Security Council.

The losses at Dong Xoai, 60 miles north of Saigon, were among the heaviest suffered by U.S. forces in a single engagement of the Vietnamese war. They brought to 419 the number of Americans killed in combat since December 1961.

There were about 300 Vietnamese irregular troops training in the camp. Vietnamese losses were not known but were believed very high.

missed you."

The astronauts and their families remained in the space agency's lounge for some 40 minutes, then they emerged to join a motorcade for the trip to their homes.

The scene at the airport was fairly quiet—no bands, no flags.

By the time White reached home, his neighbors were out too.

How do you like all the sudden attention, someone asked?

"I rather go right back up," White said.

He shook hands with his neighbors, and asked, "Have you been keeping things orderly around here?"

White, a slight smear of lipstick on his lips, turned to his neighbors and said, "Come on over and I'll tell you some stories."

White and McDivitt flew here from Mayport, Fla., where they arrived this morning on the aircraft carrier Wasp.

Aby, appearing for the City of San Rafael, said it had no objection to the PT&T's Ignacio plan but objected to any plan of Western California which would increase service charges for San Rafael residential users.

William Ross Wright, vice president of Western California and manager of its Novato exchange, said the question most asked him in his 19 years with the company has been: "When will Novato get extended area service with San Rafael?"

Parking Changes Draw No Protests

There was no protest last night when the San Rafael Planning Commission held its first hearing on a change in off-street parking requirements which may create controversy.

Commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson predicted the proposed change "will be highly controversial," and urged the planning staff to notify all property owners involved.

The commission is considering a zoning ordinance amendment that would make off-street parking a requirement in all commercial and industrial zones.

It would not apply to Parking District 1 in downtown San Rafael, but would apply to commercial and industrial zones along Francisco Boulevard.

City Planner George H. Rodgers said it would take some time to get out notices to individual property owners, and the commission agreed to hold its second hearing on the ordinance amendment July 13.

The proposed amendment also would change the required dimensions for both residential garage space and parking space. Requirements now are garage space of 10 by 20 feet, and parking spaces 8 by 18 feet. The amendment calls for a single standard of 9 by 18 feet for both garage space and parking spaces.

Under the amendment, parking spaces and maneuvering areas would not be permitted in required front yards or street side yards.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Granted Loch Lomond Pharmacy a permit to operate at 648 Point San Pedro Road, but postponed for two weeks action on the firm's request for an illuminated identification sign. About 15 Loch Lomond residents appeared to protest the sign, and presented a petition with 29 signatures in opposition.

2. Postponed action for two weeks on a request by Charles Bell to rezone a parcel along Redwood Highway, between the Terra Linda Interchange and Professional Center Parkway, from administrative-professional to retail commercial. The vote was 3-1 with John A. Miskimen dissenting.

3. Postponed action for two weeks on a tentative map of Dollar View Estates, 34 lots on 20 acres between Coleman Drive and Mountain Park Reservation on San Rafael hill, submitted by Wallace W. Knox, owner and subdivider. Commissioners requested the plan be changed to provide access to a five-acre parcel that would be landlocked by the plan submitted.

4. Approved a lot split on the west side of West Seaview Avenue, north of Mission Avenue, requested by Harold Schioldager.

5. Postponed action until June 22 on a request by George Dray and Peter Van Soest for a change of conditions attached to approval of division of two lots into three between Terrace and Greenfield avenues. Commissioners advised the applicants to seek the original conditions that were once approved by the commission.

6. Granted Allen Oddie a permit for a six-foot wall at 1420 Grand Avenue. The vote was 3-1 with Hendrickson dissenting because the wall was already constructed without a permit.

7. Denied Alllen Oddie's request for a variance to permit a swimming pool which would encroach eight feet into the front yard setback at 1420 Grand Avenue. The vote was 3-1 with V. Judson Klein dissenting.

8. Granted Texaco Inc. a permit for a service station at Second and Shaver streets, but postponed architectural approval for two weeks.

9. Approved a revolving, illuminated sign, seven feet wide by three and one-half feet high, in the form of a cake, requested by Anton Bakery, 515 Third Street. The vote was 2-1 with Klein dissenting and Hendrickson abstaining.

10. Granted Merritt W. Pollock architectural approval for an office complex on the north side of Fourth Street, between Irwin Street and Grand Avenue.

11. Approved an illuminated sign, partially flashing, at McKee's Restaurant, 721 Lincoln Avenue, with Klein dissenting.

12. Set for June 22 and July 13 hearings on rezoning a parcel at 6 H Street from multiple family to general commercial as requested by Philip S. Bundschu.

13. Set the same dates for hearings on rezoning a one-acre parcel on Bayo Vista Way from single family residential to garden apartments, requested by Paul Sade.

14. Adjourned until next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for hearings on slope policy amendment to the subdivision ordinance and an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow cluster developments in a planned unit development by use permit.

Commissioners Fred C. Robbins Jr., Carl S. Brown and Pat Hetherton were absent.

Marines Want Help On History

Marin County's Marines are seeking information and old photographs of the Marine Reserves in Marin County, particularly before 1940.

Maj. James T. Bowen, inspector-instructor of M Company, Third Battalion, 23rd Marine Regiment, at the Marine Reserve training center at 153 Madison Avenue, Santa Venetia, is compiling a history of Marin's participation in the reserve program.

The first unit was formed in 1932, it is believed. The reserves have had headquarters in Kentfield, San Anselmo, San Rafael, and Santa Venetia at various times. Anyone with information may notify Major Bowen.

Russ Space Shot Will Miss Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Luna 6 unmanned moon spaceship suffered a malfunction during a corrective maneuver and will miss the moon by 99,000 miles, Tass said today.

The Soviet news agency gave this report:

"During a correction maneuver on June 9 (yesterday), an engine was successfully launched (turned on). But it was not possible to switch it off. As a result the flight's trajectory deviated from the planned course."

Spring Concert Set At College

Spring concert of the College of Marin Community Orchestra, conducted by John Myers, will start at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the college gymnasium.

Guest soloist will be bassoonist Cyrle Perry of the Oakland Symphony Orchestra, who will perform a bassoon concerto by Antonio Vivaldi. Aaron Copeland's "Quiet City" will feature horn player Virginia Jones and trumpet player Robert Steele.

Other numbers on the program will be by Beethoven, Brahms, Moussorsky and Samuel Barber.

San Rafael Scouts Set Court Of Honor

San Rafael Boy Scout Troop 10 will hold a Court of Honor at 7:15 p.m. Monday at Scout Hall, Second and A streets, San Rafael.

One Scout will be advanced to first class and nine scouts to second class.

Freitas Holdings May Seek Cluster Housing

San Rafael planning commissioners got an indication last night they will be asked to consider planned community district zoning for 302 acres of Freitas family property in Terra Linda.

Walter Freitas, representing the Freitas estate, brought up planned community zoning during the commission's first hearing on rezoning the land.

The city proposes to zone the land, now unclassified, for single family residences with minimum lot size of 7,500 square feet.

"I don't know yet what we'll ask," Freitas said. "I think it should be zoned planned community."

He submitted a report from his planning consultants, Welton Becket and Associates of San Francisco. He suggested that 1,064 dwellings could be developed with planned community zoning, and 393 dwellings with single family residential zoning.

The Freitas property was listed in three separate areas, 20 acres west of Hartzell School, 26 acres between Trellis Drive and Nova Albion Way, and north of Esmeyer Drive, and 256 acres generally between Devon Drive and the southwestern San Rafael city line.

When most of the Las Gallinas valleys within the city were rezoned to single-family residential in January, the Freitas land was left unzoned at Freitas's request.

Freitas said a cluster plan including duplexes, triplexes, and quadruplexes was suggested by the consultant firm.

Robert F. Loberg, representing the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Assn., asked where these units would be. Freitas said they are "diversified."

Freitas said he was willing to meet with the property owner group to discuss Welton and Beckett's study.

The commission will hold a second hearing on rezoning for single-family on June 22 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Stinson-Bolinas Annual Published

"Surf and Sand," a yearbook, has been issued for the first time by pupils of Bolinas-Stinson School District.

Thirty-four pages, it includes "Assignments," a section which for the previous two years was produced by itself, and which includes poems, creative writing and essays on such questions as "Is Our Constitution a Perfect Document?" The first half of the yearbook includes pictures of pupils and faculty.

The book was produced as a voluntary after-school program and during lunch hours. Editor was Chris Harris. The book is dedicated to Mrs. Rose Pfefferkorn, first grade teacher at Stinson Beach School.

Tiburon Woman Again On Jobs Committee

Mrs. Kaye U. Patterson of 1840 Vistazo West, Tiburon, has been re-appointed to the statewide women's advisory council of the state Fair Employment Practice Commission.

She has served on the council since its formation in February, 1964. The group works to make the public more aware of the laws which created the FEPC and to promote equal opportunity for all racial or religious groups.

Methodists Hear Catholic View On Unity

STOCKTON (AP) — "Brotherhood must have priority in the world today," said Catholic Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco before the annual California - Nevada conference of the Methodist Church.

Archbishop McGucken, who had been presented by Presiding Bishop Donald H. Tippett of Berkeley, was the first Catholic bishop to speak before a Methodist annual conference in America.

Archbishop McGucken observed last night, that many peoples who shared years of post-war suffering had begun to realize that had Christians stood better together, some of the evils of war might have been averted.

He added, "It would be a tragedy if through it all men remained spiritual strangers."

Discussing the accomplishments of the Second Vatican Council Archbishop McGucken pointed out the order putting the Catholic liturgy into vernacular languages, the decree on the means of social communication, the statement on the Jews, and the constitution of the Church.

The Protestant world was most interested in the constitution, he said.

Protestant observers at the council had considerable influence on the statements on ecumenicity, he added, and the document was drawn partly from the ecomenical experience of Protestantism.

The way to Christian unity, the archbishop said, "Is not by soft pedaling our differences and emphasizing the things we have in common. Our approach must be made through brotherhood, communication, and dialogue — not diatribe."

Stork On Set Of This Movie

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — A Hollywood movie crew was all set to film the first scene of "And Now Miguel" at an old ranch near here.

The cast included 1,228 sheep hired for the picture. Three ewes gave birth during the first scene, forcing a retake and raising the rental price of the herd by three head.

Robbers' Target Is Set Ablaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bowery drifter was doused with turpentine and set aflame last night by four men after they turned his pockets inside out and found nothing, police said.

William Smith, 59, was reported in critical condition at Bellevue Hospital with second-and third-degree burns about the body.

Police said they found him rolling on the sidewalk trying to put out the flames.

Salary Debate Slated

Employees' salaries and capital improvement projects will be discussed at an 8 p.m. budget meeting today of the Mill Valley City Council in City Hall. The Mill Valley Employees Assn. has requested a 12 and one-half per cent across-the-board pay increase.

Shaggy Dog Sentenced To Life In Hoosegow

CHICAGO (AP) — Bernardo St. Bernard has begun his life term in prison with a splash.

St. Bernard at 15 months became the youngest convict of Cook County Jail yesterday. He was given the routine prisoner treatment of mug shots and a physical examination and was assigned No. 000-065.

St. Bernard also was paw printed and given a bath.

That was before he held a news conference in a mud puddle.

St. Bernard is a dog sentenced to life in prison by Judge Daniel J. Ryan of Circuit Court on a charge of mopery with intent to gawk.

He began his life with the jail's 1,630 prisoners by emerging from a puddle and, with a swing of his shaggy tail, muddily doused the crowd. That really put BSB in the doghouse.

"The dog stands at least 6 feet tall on his hind legs," Warden Jack Johnson said. "And the part of him we could get on the scale weighed 150 pounds."

The dog, named for James Bernardo, jury supervisor for the criminal division of Circuit Court, became the prisoners' mascot because of domestic problems.

Henry Szura, owner of the Lazy H Ranch in suburban Fox Lake, told an assistant warden the St. Bernard and his dog-housemate, a Great Dane, couldn't get along.

Bernardo got the gate.

Warden Johnson agreed to take him as a personal pet, but decided that Bernardo's size ruled that out. Johnson also might have considered the large amount of meat and table scraps Bernardo requires daily.

Thus big Bernardo — who had been described as a gentle mope — was charged, tried, convicted and sentenced to a life of contentment.

Bacteria Blamed For Epidemic, Pair Of Deaths

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Authorities blame the deaths of an infant and a teen-age girl on an epidemic caused by toxic bacteria in the city water system.

Announcement of the deaths was made yesterday by Dr. Henry Renteln, head of a federal - state investigating team. He said a 5-day-old girl died June 1 at March Air Force Base and Linda Unger, 17, of Riverside, died the following day.

Health authorities reported that the epidemic, which started two weeks ago, is not waning. It was caused by salmonella typhuriurum, a bacteria which induces vomiting and diarrhea.

Chemicals have been added to the water supply and it is now regarded as safe. Investigators have yet to reach a conclusion on how the bacteria got into the water.

Both Drivers Get Tickets In Crash

Two drivers were ticketed by highway patrolmen today after their cars collided on Highway 101 near Sweetzer Avenue in Novato, injuring one of them.

Virginia E. Chase, 48, of San Francisco, was taken to Novato General Hospital for treatment of head and face injuries. She was charged with speeding 50 miles an hour in the 35-mile-an-hour zone.

The car driven by Mrs. Chase hit the rear of one driven by McKay Bastian, 50, of Santa Rosa at 6:45 a.m. when McKay changed lanes northbound, the California Highway Patrol reported. Bastian was cited for an unsafe lane change.

Sir Robert Parke brought dandelions to America for his herb garden in 1930, according to the Park-Parke-Parks-Parkes Society of North Stonington, Conn.

Crippled Airplane Reaches Safety

POINT MUGU (AP)—A crippled Navy plane with 16 aboard landed here safely today after limping the last 800 miles from Honolulu with two faulty engines.

A Coast Guard amphibian escorted the four-engine C121 Super Constellation during the final 90 minutes.

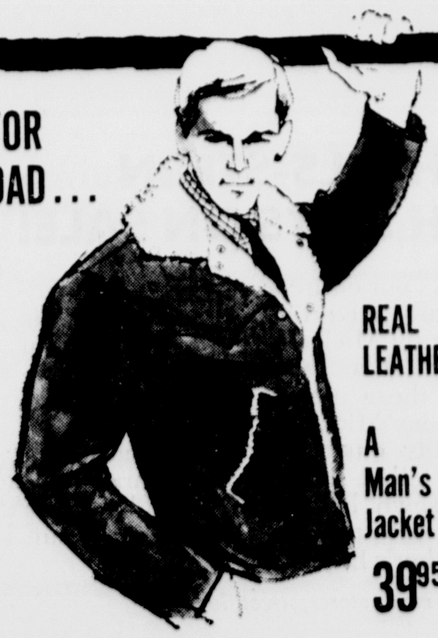

The Coast Guard said one of the balky engines, which stopped and restarted several times, revived again just before the 9:29 a.m. landing.

Copies Of Paper Stolen In Sausalito

Acting Postmaster William D. McDonald Jr. reported to Sausalito police yesterday afternoon that 3,800 copies of the Ross Valley Times and 1,000 copies of an eight-page advertiser for Goodman Lumber Co. in Mill Valley were stolen from a garage at 30 Caledonia Street.

The newspaper and advertising sections had been printed by the Marin Guide at 37 Caledonia. Theft was discovered when the publications were delivered to the post office for mailing. It was not disclosed whether the garaged was locked.

Rufus De Vane King, elected Vice President in 1852 under Franklin Pierce, took the oath of office in Havana, the only Vice President to do so in a foreign country.

Rec Advisory Group Picked In Twin City

Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst last night appointed a committee of all council members, plus Curtis Kamai of the Larkspur School District board and James McClintock of the Larkspur-Corte Madera joint recreation commission, to review town recreation needs.

Councilman Albert E. Kogler was named to head the group for the study, which was asked to present a recommendation before July 15.

The council made some minor changes in the town budget, which still has a small deficit. Councilmen approved $920 as the town share of fencing the Corte Madera Low Canal from the Park Madera shopping center to Neil Cummins School. The school district will share the cost.

Jack Hauser, 2 Cheyenne Way, was appointed to the planning commission to replace William T. Sheehan, who has moved from Corte Madera.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton was absent.

Flying Pope Pays Visit To Pisans

PISA, Italy (UPI) — Pope Paul VI arrived today on his sixth trip outside Rome since he was elected pontiff. He planned a major speech in the shadow of the famous leaning tower.

Although the city of Pisa votes heavily Communist in elections this was not impairing the welcome. More than 300,000 Italians and tourists gathered in the streets and the square where the 68-year-old pontiff will say Mass.

This more than tripled the population of Pisa.

Redwood Empire's Ready For Tourists

MYERS FLAT, Humboldt County (UPI) — Grim reminders of last December's savage flood in Northern California will compete with giant redwood trees as the area's major tourist attraction this summer.

Residents of Humboldt County, center of the massive flooding, expect a booming ourist season this year—with one big "if."

"People may stay away because they think roads are still out and we have a shortage of accommodations," said Dr. Walter W. Dolfini, president of the county Chamber of Commerce. "That's not true. They'll find that our highways are in good shape and most hotels and motels suffered no damage at all."

Last Christmas, rampaging floodwaters carrying thousands of logs and boulders poured over riverbanks and knocked out bridges, washed away roads and the railway, and carried off homes and businesses. The flood caused $300 million damage and killed 11 persons.

"I don't think tourists this summer are going to realize what kind of a flood we had," said state Highway Engineer C. P. Sweet Jr. "All of our state highways are passable now and tourists are going to find only a few short delays."

But many signs of the disaster still line the roads, especially along the "Avenue of the Giants" on the banks of the Eel River south of Eureka.

In Myers Flat a new home stands where its owner left it, filled with four feed of dried mud. An encyclopedia sits in a bookcase, and a plate glass window miraculously remains unbroken.

At the site of Weott all that remains are the shells of a gas station, dance hall and restaurant. Down the road a broken neon sign and a half-buried car mark the site of a motel.

In the redwood parks, at Burlington Camp Ground and Founders Grove, mud marks on the trees reach as high as 20 feet above the ground (at the height of that flood the Eel carried as much water as the Mississippi River). Down at the riverbank a few redwoods, whose roots were undermined by the swirling waters, lie where they fell.

A layer of fine dirt covers the bank and picnic areas, and park officials ironically are worrying about a laek of water this summer rather than too much.

Farther downriver only a hand-painted sign on a gift shop marks the site of Pepperwood, where five persons died. Off to the right of the highway, the shattered homes and piles of silt which were left have been bulldozed into a neatly leveled field at the edge of the river.

A few motels were destroyed in the flood, but only a slight shortage of rooms is forecast in the county this summer. Out of an estimated 8,000 hotel and motel rooms in Humboldt County, only 200-300 were lost.

Although about 50 state park campsites were washed away, the total number in the county this year is greater than ever, because new ones were built to replace them.

The fishing—for trout, steelhead and salmon—is as good as ever, said Earl Gibbs, fishery biologist for the state Department of Fish and Game. But he added:

"Any time a guy doesn't catch a fish now, he's got something to blame it on."

AFTER THE FLOOD — Carpenters are busily rebuilding tourist facilities in Humboldt Redwoods State Park today, getting ready for hoped-for influx of tourists this summer. Officials say that despite last December's tremendous killer floods, travel is easy and facilities plentiful in the Redwood Empire this summer. (UPI Telephoto)

Bolinas School Due Kindergarten

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board last night voted to establish a kindergarten in September, and hired Mrs. Grace Abbott of Mendocino at $6,950 to teach it.

The kindergarten will be the first in the district in five years. The board plans to locate it at Bolinas School.

Trustees agreed that the kinder garten will be dropped if enrollment falls below 15. Twenty-two children are assured for next fall.

Bolinas-Stinson trustees decided to try to set up a joint meeting with the West Marin School District board to discuss mutual interests.

Mexico Planning Anti-Rabies Drive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Rafael Moreno Valle, Mexico's secretary of health and welfare, says about one million dogs in his country's border states are slated for vaccination in a massive campaign against rabies.

Moreno Valle, here for the 23rd conference of the U. S.-Mexican Border Public Health Association, said yesterday the program would start soon.

He added that his government also plans to start destroying wild animals known to carry rabies. The program will be carried on in the six Mexican states nearest the U. S. border.

Bomb Victim Tells Viet Nam's Woes

By BETTY FROST

The 1963 Vietnamese uprising which deposed the Diem regime was a true revolution, believes Ernest Howell, Asia Foundation representative who spoke yesterday afternoon at Whitaker Hall, Belvedere, under sponsorship of St. Stephen's Guild.

Howell was injured in the bombing of the United States embassy in Saigon in March. He was conferring with the labor attache at the embassy when the bomb struck. His injuries were so serious, including loss of an eye, that "I feel lucky to be alive," he told the audience of more than 100. He is now recuperating at the home of a friend in Stinson Beach.

Howell urged "more American sensitivity for the needs of the government representing the principal groups" of Viet Nam. "But more attention is needed at the policy level."

Howell's duties as resident representative of the Asia Foundation for 18 months in Viet Nam included meeting with the Vietnamese people to learn their cultural, educational and economic needs.

Besieged from without by the communist Viet Cong, and from within by dissensions which are religious, regional and economic, Viet Nam presents such a tangled skein of problems that the American insistance on a stable government immediately is not realistic, he asserted.

Religious disagreements, principally between the 10 per cent of the country that is Catholic and the Buddhists, are intensified by the fact that most villages are organized on relibious lines, Howell said.

The people in the villages feel very little identification with either Hanoi or Saigon, he reported. They wish to be left alone to till their fields.

Unrest is furthered by the huge number of refugees seeking asylum in the small nation. Regionalism complicates the picture, with differing characteristics and needs in the north, central and southern sections.

Twenty government students from Redwood High School attended the lecture.

Retired Officers Due At Barbecue

About 500 persons are expected to attend a barbecue sponsored by the Marin County Chapter, Retired Officers Assn., at the Italian Swiss Colony winery at Asti, Sonoma County, at noon July 18.

Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-Crescent City will speak at the barbecue, if his legislative schedule permits, reported Col. Arthur A. Watson, chapter president.

The Marin chapter will be host to chapters from San Francisco, Vallejo and Santa Rosa.

Canvass Due Today

The Independent-Journal yesterday incorrectly reported that the Tuesday bond vote would be canvassed next Tuesday. Canvassing the ballots was set before the board of supervisors for 1 p.m. today.

Government Takes Over Drake's Beach

The federal government formally took possession today of Drake's Beach, where the English explorer Sir Francis Drake landed on his round-the-world voyage in the 1570s.

The 60-acre beach property has been operated as a park by Marin County. The federal government, by agreement with the county, formally condemned and took possession after proceedings late yesterday before U. S. Dist. Judge Stanley A. Weigel.

The county was given $1 as a nominal payment for the land, which had been presented years ago by "The Pirates," a Marin County businessman's organization.

The National Park Service announced that bids will be opened June 29 on an improvement package for the park. The park will be administered as part of the Point Reyes National Seashore Park.

Included in the improvements will be reconstruction o fthe 1½ mile road into the park from the county highway between Inverness and Point Reyes Lighthouse.

Two reservoirs will be built to supply picnickers.

The first regularly scheduled passenger train service in this country using a steam locomotive started at Charleston in 1830 on the South Carolina Railroad.

Hospitalized Tiburon Resident Home Burglarized

Burglary of the home of a hospitalized Tiburon resident, involving loss of three furs and jewelry, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said the residence of Helen Lehman, 120 Trinidad Drive, Paradise Cay, was entered sometime during the weekend by opening a patio door. Intruders looted bedrooms of a mink stole, a fur scarf and a grey muskrat coat, officers said.

In addition, jewelry including two bracelets, a gold wristwatch and two rings was taken, along with $60 cash.

The burglary was discovered by a friend, Betricia Fay Potter, who went to the house to feed the victim's cat. Officers said Helen Lehman was to return home from the San Francisco hospital today.

Ward Costello, Peter Ames in "The Secret Storm," made his Broadway debut in "The Parisienne," starring Faye Emerson.

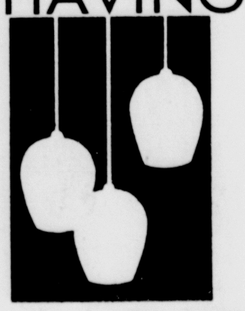

More Air Exchange For Russ, Britain

LONDON (AP) — Sir Hugh Greene, director-general of the British Broadcasting Corp. said on return from a trip to Moscow and Leningrad that there are to be more exchanges of radio and television programs between Britian and Russia in the future.

The greatest interchange, he said, would be in the field of science and education.

In Moscow he had talks with the heads of the Russian Broadcasting Services.

FOUR-CAR PILE-UP; ONE INJURY

Ambulance attendants wheel Robert P. Sunberg, 22, of Petaluma from his smashed car after four-car collision at 2:30 p.m. yesterday on Highway 101 north of Alto overpass. The California Highway Patrol reported Sundberg changed lanes northbound and his car collided with one driven by Salvador W. Sodaro, 436 Calle de la Mesa, Novato. The Sodaro car hit one driven by Hyman G. Cook, 446 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, then skidded along 50 feet of wire fencing in the median strip. Meanwhile a car driven by John R. Van Horne, 503 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, hit the Sundberg car. Sundberg suffered a shoulder dislocation, for which he underwent surgery today at San Rafael General Hospital. He also got a ticket for an unsafe lane change. (Independent-Journal photo)

Musician's Kin Lose Damage Suit Over Air Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has tossed out a $924,396 damage award to the widow and two children of concert pianist William Kapell, killed in a 1953 plane crash near San Francisco.

A federal court jury had ruled in 1961 that the defendant, British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines, Ltd., was innocent of willful misconduct in the crash. No award was given to the Kapells.

Two years later, the trial judge reversed the finding in favor of Mrs. Kapell and her children, and ordered another jury trial to fix damages.

The appeals court's 20-page opinion yesterday held that the trial judge had no valid reason to upset the original jury's verdict.

Fairfax Trustees Approve State Fund Application

Fairfax School District trustees last night approved an application for state school building funds for construction of a new intermediate school on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The district is asking approval of $519,353.54 for the project, and will contribute $131,201 of that amount. The state will provide the difference, if the application is approved.

Land for the new school—20 acres of the former Smith Ranch property—cost an additional $285,800, including appraisal, escrow, surveys and other expenses. Trustees last night authorized placing $280,000 (cost of the land only) in escrow.

The $519,353.54 estimated cost of construction is based on maximum amounts for the various items involved, to assure enough money being available to complete the project. Supt. Homer Sisk said today he believed the actual total cost would be considerably under that figure.

Driving Lesson Causes Troubles

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Police said Harold Flowers was operating the accelerator and brakes but a 12-year-old daughter, Susan, was steering when the Flowers car jumped a curb, glanced off one house and banged into another.

Flowers, who is 39, was charged yesterday with reckless driving and destruction of property. Damage to the second house was estimated at $2,000.

Officers quoted Susan as saying her father grabbed the wheel when she turned a corner.

Amusement Park Death Curtails Graduation Fete

DENVER (UPI)— A 16-year-old girl was killed early today and seven other young people were injued in a miniature train accident at a Denver amusement park, where they were celebrating high school graduation.

The small train was rounding a curve when the last car ran off the tracks and overturned. The accident occurred about 2:25 a.m. during an all-night party at Elitch Gardens.

The victim was Gloria K. Kosciw of Denver, a student at George Washington High School. She suffered head injuries and died a few minutes after the crash.

The other seven all were 17- and 18-year-olds. Five ambulances were sent to the park, and the injured were taken to Denver General Hospital.

Only 11 Citizens Show For Session On Budget

By JEFF GREER

Last night's much-advertised public hearing on Marin County's $24 million annual budget produced an audience of 11 citizens, numerous philosophical statements about government and supervisorial salary discussion—and nary a word about any specific budget item.

When the hearing opened with an audience of five, Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker called it "a real indictment of the taxpayer." Within half an hour, the audience swelled to 11, but he seemed no better satisfied with the public response.

"I don't identify myself as a taxpayer," protested Ann McCorry of Greenbrae Boardwalk.

She argued that instead of conducting a wide-open hearing on thev ague outlines of the budget, the board should set topical discussions, and should try to do something about the overlapping and inefficiency of multiple jurisdictions; also, that possibly the supervisors' salary of $800 a month wasn't enough to compensate for the work the public wants of them.

"You and I are both stockholders," she told the board, "but my fundamental stock is in government. I see salaries of $150,000 to $200,000 paid private industry on my stocks. I have no troubles seeing, in light of the virtues gained," higher salaries for public officials.

Former Larkspur Mayor Lesly A. Daveler said he had no specific budget comments, but pointed out that the public has difficulty attending hearings at which their views have results.

Eric Lane of 85 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, reacted to supervisorial discussions of local agency elimination—even perhaps a County and City of Marin—by questioning whether this would not still further remove the public from government. He also wanted to know whether the supervisors' consciences would permit them to accept raises in light of pensioners' leaving the county due to high taxes.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said elimination of small district boards would give the public better contact with government, and larger administrations could provide better results.

To the salary question, Chairman Peter H. Behr replied that a raise would trouble his conscience "not one iota" because it would allow him to spend more time serving the county, including activities in Sacramento to improve overall governmental efficiency.

Leydecker called for more study of "generic" government agencies, such as regional pollution control boards, as one answer to overlapping small agencies and inefficiency.

BODY IN POOL IS THE SON OF RESCUER

CHICAGO (AP) — Volunteer firemen were called to a home in suburban Chicago Ridge yesterday after receiving a report that a boy's body had been seen in a private swimming pool.

Donald Andrasco, 35, a captain in the volunteer force, recovered the body in eight feet of water in the deep end of a 16-by-40-foot pool in the back yard of Alfred Homerding. Andrasco collapsed when he realized the body was his son, Scott Andrasco, 6.

Firemen administered oxygen to the boy and took him to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Vets Memorial Fund Loan To Aid Tidelands Purchase

The Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously last night to borrow money from the veterans memorial building fund to help purchase 11.18 acres of Harbor Cove tidelands to preserve them from development.

The money will be put back in the fund when Strawberry Recreation District and the City of Tiburon pay their shares of the $57,500 purchase price to the county. Under the arrangement agreed upon earlier, county, city and district will each pay one-third of the cost.

Under the plan approved last night, proposed by board chairman Peter H. Behr, the county will pay for its share with $6,389 from the county parks land acquisition fund and $12,777.67 from its contingency reserve. To complete the purchase from Harbor Cove, Inc., it will borrow $38,333.33 from the veterans memorial fund.

The Strawberry Recreation District and City of Tiburon will repay the county over a three-year period.

Federal open lands preservation funds may become available to repay all three agencies up to 30 per cent of the cost, Behr said.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who had urged delay on the Harbor Cove decision until after Tuesday's Civic Center bond issue election, moved approval of the purchase.

Anti-Castro Trio Freed On U.N. Bazooka Shot Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice has dismissed indictments against three anti-Castro Cubans charged with firing a bazooka at the United Nations. He ruled the indictments contained insufficient evidence after the exclusion of confessions.

Justice J. Irwin Shapiro, who quashed the indictments Wednesday, ruled June 2 that the defendants' confessions were inadmissible because they were not allowed to consult with their attorney. He held this as a denial of the defendants' constitutional right to counsel.

Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor said Wednesday that a notice of appeal would be filed but that his office had "reservations" about pursuing the case further.

The three men are Ignacio Novo, 27, of Manhattan; Julio Carlos Perez, 30, also of Manhattan; and Guillermo Novo, 26, of North Bergen, N.J., Ignacio's brother.

In court, a detective was asked about Perez' claim that he worked for the Central Intelligence Agency in Cuba. The detective said a police check had proved the claim to be true.

A shell was fired from the Queens shore into the East River last Dec. 11 as Maj. Ernesto Guevara, a chief aide of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, was making a speech to the United Nations General Assembly.

The shell fell 100 yards short of the United Nations building.

Film Star Faces Risk Of Rabies

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Actor Sal Mineo is among 11 people awaiting the results of laboratory tests on the body of a pet ocelot.

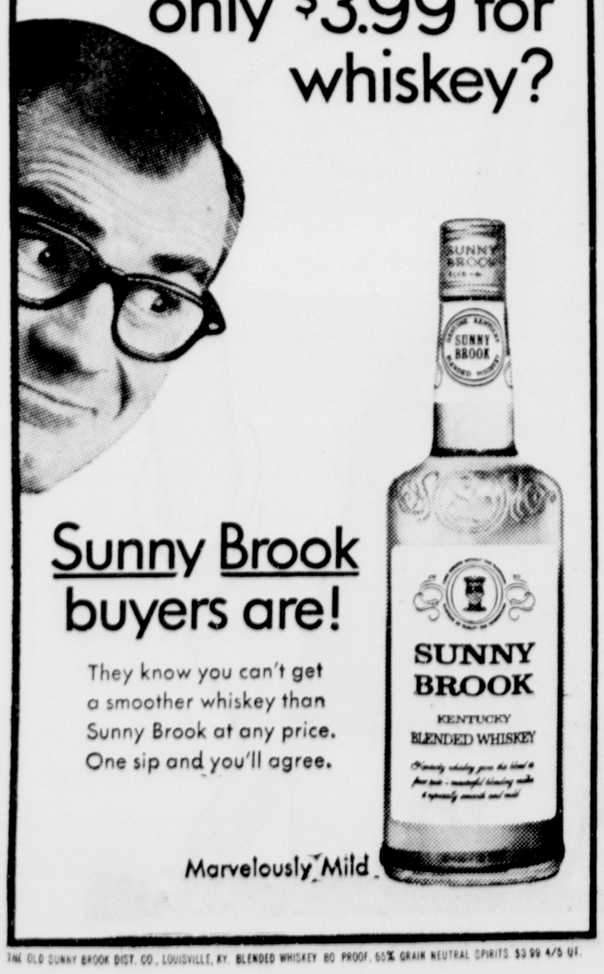

All were bitten or scratched by the animal, which later died in convulsions.

A finding the ocelot had rabies would mean anti-rabies shots for all of them.

Mineo, 26, said he played with the animal Monday night at a Beverly Hills dinner party. The ocelot died Tuesday.

"I don't think my skin was broken," Mineo said. "We all played with the animal a bit, and he's the kind who meets you with outstretched claws."

Supervisors Strive To Keep Welfare Payment In Budget

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors yesterday failed to vault one of the biggest problems in the 25 million dollar budget for fiscal 1966 —supplemental pay for welfare recipients.

Supervisors agreed to take another run at it a week from today. They appeared determined to continue supplemental pay.

Deliberations began with the news that the county's total proposed budget was up $630,000 from the original estimate of $24,448,061.

Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell said this was due mostly to increases in estimates for operational costs. Though much of the increase will be met by other than local taxes, Mitchell still had to revise his tax rate estimates.

Instead of $2.289 per $100 of assessed value, Mitchell said $2.295 would be needed if no cuts are made. Present rate is $2.30, but supervisors have pledged to cut this by one to five cents.

At the end of the day yesterday, they had only squeezed one mill out of the rate, dropping Mitchell's prediction to a tax rate of $2.294.

This was achieved by reducing the services and supplies account in the welfare budget from $213,332 to $203,332 and the fixed asset budget in welfare from $12,290 to $11.088.

These decisions were achieved only after supervisors:

1. Held a lengthy argument on how to proceed in the budget discussion.

2. Struggled to find $162,606 in the budget to continue the supplemental payments. Adding this would mean a four-cent increase in the tax rate.

3. Questioned the increases in welfare case loads, which are up 25 per cent in some categories over last year.

"How can we have increases of 25 per cent year after year when we know the population is only going up about five per cent a year?" Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker asked.

Betty L. Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services (welfare), said increases are larger in the young and very old age levels and the case load increases cannot be tied to general population growth.

Leydecker, unsatisfied, cited a jump from 70 employees in fiscal 1963 to 143.5 employees recommended in the proposed budget.

"That's more than double," he said. "I don't like to talk about it."

On the question of supplemental pay, the board heard first from Administrator Alan Bruce, who said that he had revised his earlier recommendation for cutting out supplemental payments in all categories.

He said the county would have to add to the maximum allowed by state and federal grants in cases involving boarding and foster homes for children, otherwise it would be impossible to find such facilities in Marin. This would mean putting $81,000 back in the budget.

But Bruce stuck by his recommendation to cut the $162,606 needed to make up the difference between grants and estimated budget needs for families with dependent children and for general relief.

Rev. Donald H. Schilling of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Marin City urged that supplemental payments be retained.

Board Chairman Peter H. Behr later said that was definitely his intention. Supervisors Thomas E. Storer and William A. Gnoss agreed.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he was sympathetically inclined to continue the payments on some basis, but criticized Behr for making up his mind prior to hearing all the testimony.

Leydecker had earlier said supplemental cuts were probably not the best way to reduce the budget.

Kettenhofen said that he did not intend to approve any of the salary range increases recommended by Bruce and Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott.

Supervisors approved other phases of the welfare program with little discussion.

The total welfare program for fiscal 1966 will require $7,116,425, with $5,479,119 from state and federal grants and $1,637,234 in local money. Supplemental payments would increase the local tax burden by $162,606.

Strawberry Grower Will Destroy Crop

WATSONVILLE (UPI) — Joe Tomasello, a small scale strawberry grower, said yesterday he was plowing under 43 acres of berries because he did not have enough help to weed and pick them when it was needed.

Tomasello blamed the U. S. Department of Labor for his troubles. Tomasello said his total strawberry crop was about 100 acres.

Assembly's Senate Remap Proposal Has Few Surprises

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate reapportionment plan only slightly different from a Senate-passed proposal was ready for its first Assembly committee test today.

It contained few surprises.

The plan was unveiled by Assemblyman Don A. Allen Sr., D-Los Angeles, chairman of the lower chamber Elections and Reapportionment Committee. He called it an effort to achieve "near equality" of population.

As expected, the remapping altered the Senate's version of 12 new districts for Los Angeles County and drew district lines in five other metropolitan counties, each with two senators.

But it had some interesting wrinkles.

In populous Orange County, with two senators, one district would contain the homes of Assemblymen William E. Dannemeyer, D-Fullerton; Robert E. Badham, R-Costa Mesa, and James E. Whetmore, D-Los Alamitos, and Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin. No incumbent lawmakers live in the other district.

Two San Francisco freshmen Democrats—Assemblymen Willie L. Brown Jr. and John L. Burton—live in one of two districts. The remanning four members of the San Francisco delegation including Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, reside in the other.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, and Allen are in the same senate district. Neither has indicated any interest in a Senate seat.

Sen. Thomas M. Rees, D-Los Angeles, now the lone senator from the state's most populous county, would be crowded into a district with three Assemblymen — Anthony C. Beilenson, Lester A. McMillan and Robert S. Stevens.

Negro Assemblyman Mervyn Dymally and F. Douglas Ferrell were put in a Los Angeles County district also containing the homes of Assemblymen Clayton Dills, D-Gardena, and Carley V. Porter, D-Compton.

The home of incumbent Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, was in a district with a Democratic registration edge but by moving a short distance he would be in a Republican district.

Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, head of a GOP reapportionment task force, said he did not feel his party would be hurt by the plan.

He calculated that the minority party, now a 26-13 underdog in the senate, would be assured of 12 Senate seats under the proposal and probably would win 3 more for a total of 15. He said the Democrats could be certain of 20 seats and probably would win 5 others for a total of 25.

But he described the proposal as "neither fish nor fowl" because it failed to meet the U.S. Supreme Court's mandate of reapportioning the upper chamber strictly along population lines.

Senate leaders were silent on the bill. They withheld any comment publicly until they had studied the plan more fully.

But Assembly liberals, backed by some Republicans, were expected to make an effort to get the plan defeated and replace it with an almost-new proposal.

Sources said this plan would reapportion the Senate simply by combining two Assembly Districts into one senate district. There are 80 assembly districts. They were drawn almost strictly on a population basis by the 1961 legislature.

Allen plans to take the proposal—in the form of amendments to the Senate-passed remapping bill—before the Elections and Reapportionment Committee tonight and press for adoption. If he succeeds, he expects to call the bill up for a floor vote Friday.

Farm Labor Records Face Falsity Inquiry

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has adopted a resolution calling for a probe of alleged farm labor record falsifications.

The proposal, approved 25-2 yesterday, would require investigation of reported padding in state labor placement reports. A report would be made to the legislature.

Youngsters Can't Play Unless Sack Returns

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Neal Nalley of Olathe, Kan., has issued a plea for the return of a paper sack which disappeared from a lunch counter Tuesday while she and her 6-year-old son son, Terry, were eating at a downtown store in Kansas City.

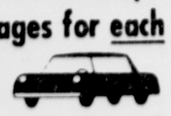

The sack contained Terry's baseball glove and his artificial hand.

CONSUMER PROTECTION BILL GAINS

SACRAMENTO (AP)— A consumer protection bill backed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to inform buyers on credit of the interest rate they're charged has moved to the Senate from the Assembly.

The bill by Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, would require retailers who sell items on credit to inform purchasers of the interest rate.

It also would require such merchants to state to the buyer the state limit on credit interest.

It won unanimous lower house approval yesterday.

Welfare Burden Bill Loses In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A plan to share the burden of rising welfare costs among the state's counties has been defeated in the Assembly.

The plan by Assemblyman Jack T. Casey, D-Bakersfield, called for an $8 million dollar state contribution to counties with large welfare rolls.

Textbook Measure Moves To Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Controversial, major changes in California school textbook selection and printing, and requirements for elementary school teachers have moved without debate to the Senate from the Assembly.

However, the lower house Education Committee chairman sharply criticized his colleagues for unnoticed passage of the bill dealing with training needed to teach in elementary grades.

Assemblyman Charles Garrigus, D-Reedley, contended a major change in state education policy slipped through in the confusion and rush of the last hours yesterday in which the Assembly could pass its own bills.

The bill he referred to went out 66 to 0 without debate and with some opponents recorded as favorable votes. Sponsored by Assemblyman George Milias, R-Gilroy, it deletes the rule that an elementary school teacher must have an academic major in college to get a teaching credential.

Garrigus noted it was part of sweeping changes adopted in 1961 that required more academic courses and less how-to-teach subjects for California teachers. He called it a "caricature of legislative responsibility and a mockery of the democratic process" that the tougher rule should be swept away in one perfunctory, uncontested roll call."

But he predicted Senate defeat for the bill, which was the fate of a similar Milias measure loosening academic requirements for administrators.

The second measure has long been a subject of controversy and hard lobbying on both sides. A constitutional amendment, it would give school districts the right to choose their own elementary textbooks from a list of three to five basic course books adopted by the State Board of Education.

It also allows local districts to buy books from private publishing firms. At present, the state prints all school books.

To become effective, the amendment by Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, would have to win two-thirds Senate approval and a majority of the voters at next year's election.

Who says there's no difference in margarines?

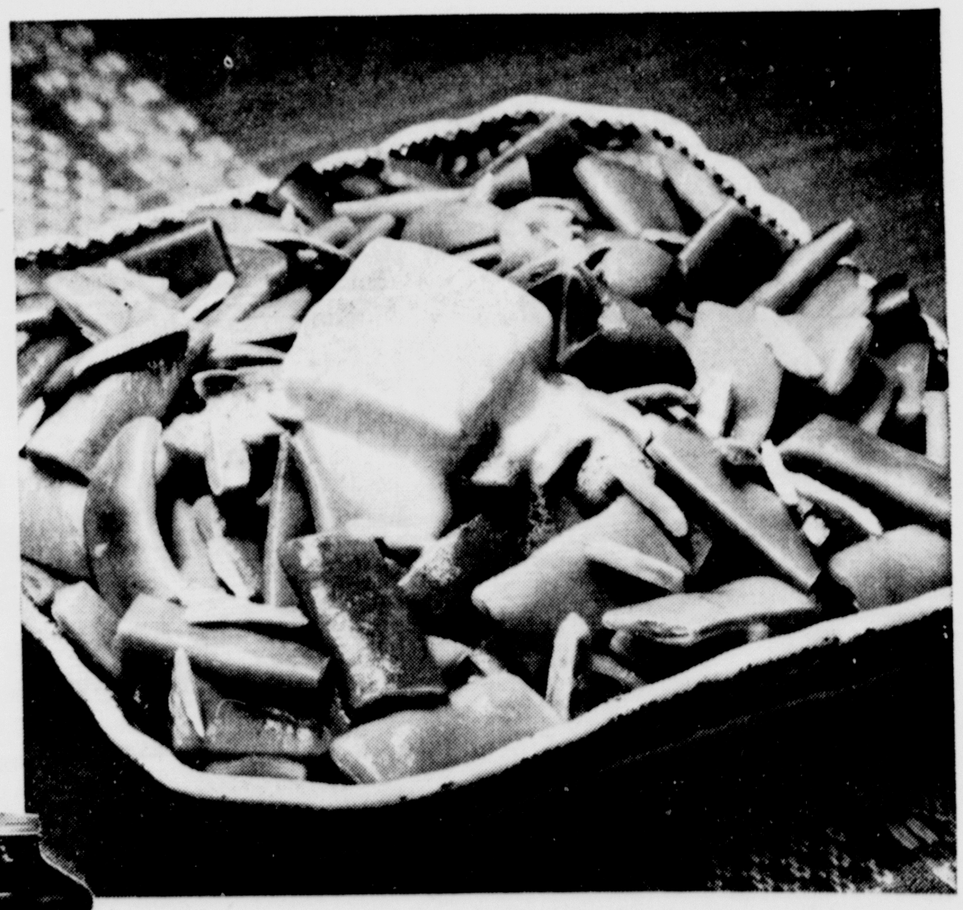

BRANDS TESTED	% POLY-UNSATURATES
Saffola	42.4%
Mazola	38.2%
Fleischmann's	35.8%
Imperial	33.3%
Kraft CORN OIL MARGARINE	27.4%

Percentage figures above are averages of total samples of each brand.

If you buy margarine for poly-unsaturation – as well as for flavor and quality – the results of a new laboratory test by the Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute are important to you!

In recent tests by America's leading independent testing laboratory, margarine samples were picked at random from grocers' shelves all across the country. These tests revealed an important difference: Saffola has more poly-unsaturates than Fleischmann's, Mazola, Imperial, Kraft and other national brands—and by a considerable margin. At the same time, the tests show that Saffola has 14% less saturated fats than any of the other brands above.

Why is Saffola both highest in poly-unsaturates and lowest in saturated fats? The answer is on every package you buy. Light, golden Safflower Oil is the principal ingredient that goes into Saffola margarine. And Safflower Oil is 36% higher in poly-unsaturates than Corn Oil—principal ingredient of the other margarines.

Saffola® SUPER MARGARINE

A flavor every other margarine would like to have!

Whether you use Saffola as a spread—or in cooking—its light, golden flavor will surprise even the most loyal dairy product user. For taste, and for superior quality, Saffola gives you more reasons to buy margarine than you've ever had before.

OVERTIME HOWL

Lawmakers Have Their Little Joke

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It took almost 38 hours, but Tuesday finally ended late yesterday in the Assembly chamber.

By legislative rules, the lower house had to finish action on its own members' bills by midnight Tuesday. But the crush of legislation was so great that the chamber clock was stopped at 11:05 p.m. Tuesday and all day yesterday the assemblymen technically regarded as Tuesday.

This gave them a last chance to move their bills to the Senate — legally or illegally, depending on your view.

Almost 300 measures were passed in the off-and-on session lasting from 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to about 11:30 p.m. yesterday.

Humor was high during the marathon session. At one point a lawmaker brought up a bill dealing with dog control and naturally his colleagues set up a howl that sounded like a kennel at suppertime.

When he complained his limited time for presentation hadn't started, Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, wryly remarked, "It started in January" — when the legislature convened.

When Assemblyman Charles Meyers, D-San Francisco, took up numerous bills last night including one boosting overtime pay for state workers, Bee quipped:

"Do you have a bill for overtime for legislators?"

But to cheers, the gavel came down shortly before 11:30 p.m. and Tuesday went out just before Thursday came in.

Highway Commission Plans Die

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Without a vote, major legislation revising the administration and powers of the State Highway Commission has died in the Assembly.

The two bills were part of a 14-measure package by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, aiming to cut down the great authority of the commission and give communities a better break in the selection of freeway routes.

Most of the other bills passed to the Senate.

But Z'berg wasn't present last night on his last chance to bring up the final two items and they quietly expired.

They would have:

Removed the administrator of the Highway Agency as head of the commission, replacing him with a member of the group.

Required that the commission hold a hearing on a local freeway route when five per cent of registered voters in an area demand.

Civil Service Jobless Proposition Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A plan to provide most state employees with unemployment insurance coverage has been defeated in the Assembly.

The measure, defeated yesterday, would have founded a pilot two-year $9 million unemployment coverage plan for all state employes other than those working at the University of California and the state colleges.

Farm Worker Jobless Benefits Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Farm workers could receive unemployment insurance coverage under a proposal approved by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

The plan by Assemblyman John Veneman, R-Modesto, would provide benefits for farm laborers — but only if Congress approves a measure pending that would provide 80 per cent federal financing of the state program. Veneman said $6 million would be required from California farm employers by his plan.

District Streamlining Bill Nears Passage

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has approved a plan aiming to reduce the state's 3,000 special governmental districts.

The proposal providing rules for calling for annexations, dissolutions and consolidations of the district, was approved 29-3 yesterday. It went back to the Assembly for final action.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

THE GOVERNOR

Bill signed:

Psychiatrists — AB737 Bielenson, removes $35 a day limit on fees paid to psychiatrists appointed by court to examine defendant who pleads innocent by reason of insanity.

Salaries — AB840 Symons and Chappie, increases salaries of auditor and supervisors of Inyo County.

Communications—SB605 Grunsky, makes communications between psychiatrists and patients privileged until Jan. 1, 1967.

THE SENATE

Measures approved:

Districts — "District reorganization law of 1965" which sets out uniform procedures for several thousand special service districts (AB592 Knox).

Committee and other actions:

Budget — Finance Committee amends its version of a $4 billion budget for fiscal 1965-66 into Assembly-passed bill and schedules it for floor action tomorrow.

Meetings — Local government committee kills bill to extend "open meeting" provisions of Brown Act to cover "committees" of local legislative bodies.

THE ASSEMBLY

Measures approved:

Reapportionment — 66-0, resolution asking governor to call special legislative session if necessary to deal with congressional reapportionment (ACR151 Allen).

Telephone—57-2, experimental emergency telephone system for Los Angeles County (AB2324 Kennick).

Farm—49-3, unemployment insurance for farm workers. (AB2740 Veneman).

Fight—66-0, asks attorney general to hold up Clay-Liston television closed circuit revenue (HR549 Pattee).

Criminal — 15-13, forbids release of prison convicts who have mental disorders and may be dangerous (AB1652 Deukmejian).

Divorce—54-1, authorizes state to keep better statistics on divorce. (AB337 Young).

Crime—46-4, establishes state commission to study new scientific methods of fighting crime (AB1650 Deukmejian).

Divorce—54-9, increase marriage license and application for divorce fees to help pay for anti-divorce projects (AB2946 Young).

Poverty—46-9, establishes state office to administer federal war on poverty. (AB1166 Dymally).

Measures rejected:

State workers — 18-23, would have provided unemployment insurance for state workers (AB 1808 Waldie).

New Car Dealer Board Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A plan to establish a New Car Dealers Policy and Appeals Board within the Motor Vehicle Department has been approved by the Assembly.

The proposal by Assemblyman Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, who also is a new car dealer, would create a nine-man board, six of them car dealers, to be filled by governor's appointments.

The board would police the new car business.

Stocks Close With Loss After Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a loss today after erasing an early advance. Trading was very heavy.

It was an up-and-down market but the final tally was on the minus side.

Down about 2 points were such stocks as United Air Lines, Union Carbide, Polaroid and DuPont.

Off a point or so were Pennsylvania Railroad, General Electric, Phelps Dodge and Douglas Aircraft.

Gains of around a point were held in late trading by American Telephone and American Smelting, while Chrysler clung to a fractional plus.

Control Data was off a fraction after transfer of a huge block of 104,800 shares.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.2 million shares compared with 7.11 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Losses of most key stocks ran from fractions to a point or more.

DuPont — heavily influential in the stock averages—plunged more than 4 points.

Down well over a point were Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, American Brake Shoe, Jewel Tea and Louisville & Nashville.

IBM fell 5 points, Xerox more than 2.

Down about a point were American Airlines, Pan American World Airways and Allied Chemical.

American Telephone held a fractional recovery but General Motors, Jersey Standard, American Tobacco, Boeing and other market wheelhorses were fractional losers.

American Telephone looked like the market leader. Chrysler, up a small fraction, was just behind it in turnover.

Stocks rallied in early trading but purely on a technical basis, analysts said. Traders took advantage of the rebound to unload stocks at somewhat better prices than have prevailed this week, so the rally soon lost its steam.

The list was ragged on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in quiet trading.

Brazil wants to hold back two-million bags of coffee this year in order to stabilize prices.

Kentfield Man Promoted To Major Post

SAN FRANCISCO — The appointment of Richard C. Nelson of Kentfield as assistant vice president and director of industrial relations of Crown Zellerbach Corp. has been announced by Peter T. Sinclair, president of the company.

Nelson will succeed Frank G. Armstrong, who has resigned in order to join a private industrial relations research organization in New York.

Nelson moves into his new assignment with the company after several years of experience in all aspects of corporate legal affairs. He joined the Crown Zellerbach legal staff in late 1958, following earlier legal positions with Fibreboard Paper Products Corp. and Tidewater Oil Co.

Castle, Cook Hire New Controller

HONOLULU — Stanley Rosch, long associated with the accounting firm of Haskins and Sells, has been elected controller of Castle and Cooke, Inc., effective July 26, it has been announced by Malcolm MacNaughton, president.

Rosch was the principal auditor for Castle and Cooke while a partner in the Haskins and Sells office in Honolulu. For the past four years he has been assigned to the firm's Los Angeles office.

Howard Hubbard, presently vice president and controller of Castle and Cooke, will assume new executive liaison responsibilities between Castle and Cooke and its divisions and subsidiaries and will also assume responsibility for the company's expanding overseas operations.

LBJ Hits Talk About Gloom, Doom

NEW YORK (UPI)—A good word from the Johnson administration helped to steam another rout on the stock market today.

Prices stared out strong but reached their peak, settled back and began to plunge sharply around the fourth hour just before President Johnson reported after a conference with his economic advisors that there was nothing on the economic horizon to justify talk of "gloom or doom."

Wall Street's reaction was slow and cautious at first but gradually picked up steam.

Brokers said bargain hunters were mainly responsible for the early support but they became discouraged and turned into sellers when no report of the White House economic meeting seemed forthcoming.

Dividend Declared

NEW YORK — The board of directors of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. has declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share of common stock, payable July 15 to stockholders of record at the close of business on June 18.

EARLY CALIFORNIA THEME — These newly constructed Essex Buildings on the Miracle Mile, San Anselmo, are tied together as a single unit built around a central courtyard with a swimming pool. The development is owned jointly by the builder Bruce Wolper and Phyllis Steckel, a real estate broker. (Independent-Journal photo)

'My Game And The Hell With Palmer's'

FLINT, Mich.—It was in the middle of the Buick Open that I caught Arnold Palmer looking at me as if I were a four-foot putt he needed to win the tournament.

"What," he asked menacingly, "do you mean by knocking my golf book?"

"Mr. Palmer," I told him, hoping somebody would mark where I was on the green in case he knocked me into a sand trap, "I didn't knock your golf book, I knocked all golf books." He looked unconvinced.

"See," I told him. "Your book, 'My Game and Yours,' has a lot to do with your game but very little to do with mine."

"What," he asked, hitching up his pants and selecting the right club to split the fairway with me, "would you write?"

It was a good question. And I am herewith offering the Old Pro's handy hints to better golf, to be titled "My Game and the Hell with Palmer's."

In the first place, all the pros can teach you how to hit the "intentional slice." It's the unintentional slice we have to work on. There are several things you have to look for to tell you when you are going to hit the unintentional slice. It is often the result of too much right hand—at the bar before the match.

Other tell-tale signs include sweating in the palms just before the shot and a slight tremor in the knees. If you just bet a dollar on the hole, it is a sure sign the unintentional slice is coming up. You don't have to check the wind condition, the distance to the hole, the curvature of the earth or the time of day. Just stand at right angles to the hole. Pray, if you want. And let fly. With a little luck, the ball will banana right into center fairway and leave you with only seven easy shots to the green.

Now, I am the world's foremost master at the topped shot. Not everyone can learn to play this delicate little line drive around the green with finesse. The important thing to remember on this shot is not to keep your head down. You'll louse up the shot if you do. The preferred position for the head at the finish of the swing is looking right up into the sun. This way you'll not only not hit the ball square, you'll not even know where it went. The shot calls for you to inquire anxiously, "Did you see it?" the minute the ball leaves the blade. Never have any more conversation with your caddy than that. Never let him tell you anything more than how deep the hole is and what time it is.

The sand trap shot is the easiest shot in golf in my game. Remember, you do not hit the ball, just the sand. Right? Okay, so hit the sand. What's so tough about that?

There is entirely too much emphasis on par in golf. Forget par. I have a friend, Myron Cope, who once took four fans—complete misses—on a par 3 tee. He bogeyed the hole before he left the tee. This is the right mental attitude to have. Having gone over par before he even struck the ball, he could now settle down and play up to his capabilities—an 11. The secret of golf is relaxation, but does Arnold Palmer's book tell you to relax any better than that?

On the 40-yard chip to the green I can shave five strokes off your game if you will remember one important thing: Don't concentrate. Think of the mortgage, the fight you had with your wife last night, the fact the boss thinks you're in the office. Try to remember if you shut off the bathtub water before you left home.

It is imperative you bend your elbow on this shot. And, at impact, look up. The only fun in the game, Jackie Burke says, is watching the ball fly through the air. Yours, of course, will only fly through the grass, but remember, nobody's perfect. Even the pros miss one now and again. Your shot will come off beautifully if you remember those five checkpoints: no concentration, head up, elbow bent, teeth chattering and tongue out.

The pros tell you to keep your

Mays Beats Mets; Juan Goes Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has beaten the New York Mets two straight games for the San Francisco Giants with a two-run double, a two-run homer and an RBI single, but the star center fielder doesn't feel a hitting streak coming on.

"I can't feel a streak," he said after his three RBI gave the Giants a 4-2 victory over the Mets last night. "I only know I felt strong and I could see the ball better. But hitting in two games doesn't mean that much."

When Mays and the Giants came to town, Willie was 0-for-18 and hadn't hit a homer in 16 games. The first time up last night he hit his 18th homer, tops in the majors, with one on.

He didn't connect his next two times at bat. But in the eighth with two on, two out and the score tied 2-2 on Charlie Smith's fourth inning homer for the Mets, he singled pitcher Gaylord Perry home from second base with the tie-breaking run.

Mays has been suffering from a cold for several days. "That is still my biggest problem," he said. "Playing when I don't feel like it. Still the people pay to see me play and I feel the responsiblity."

Maybe Willie doesn't feel a streak" but he said that Tuesday's first inning double, "even though it wasn't well hit, sometimes lifts a player and starts him on a streak."

Playing against the Mets helps Willie, too. In 59 games against the New Yorkers, he has hit 20 homers and driven in 54 runs.

Mays will get one more shot at the Mets tonight, the last of the Mets-Giants series.

Gary Kroll (3-3) takes the mound for the Mets in the night game and Juan Marichal (8-5) was slated to start for the Giants.

The Giants fly to Pittsburgh after tonight's game for a three-game stand, beginning with a night game tomorrow.

WHAT'S THIS, A HOLDUP?

It looked like a holdup was taking place at second base yesterday during the Los Angeles Dodgers-Philadelphia Phillie game. Willie Davis of the Dodgers had just made it back safely on an attempted pickoff play and was calling time so he could go back for his cap. Umpire Al Forman agrees on the time out as Phils shortstop Ruben Amaro (partially blocked by the ump) looks on. (UPI Telephoto)

Mill Valley Net Action Underway

The seeded players were still around in the men's 35 National hardcourt championships being played at the Mill Valley Tennis Club, but unranked Emery Neale of Portland looked like the man to beat.

The former Stanford netter and Northwest titlist was unseeded because he has played only a few tournaments this year. But he won two matches yesterday, losing only six games.

He sidelined Rich Stampley of Orinda, 6-0, 6-2, and Manny Taboado of San Lorenzo, 6-3, 6-1.

Top-ranked Hugh Stewart of San Marino defeated Bob Tout of Stockton, 6-4, 6-3, and second-seeded Don Gale of Mountain View got past Don Lawrie of Berkeley, 6-2, 6-0.

Braves Would Give 500 G's To Move; Officials Say No

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, high in the standings but low at the gate, may have to dig a lot deeper than a half million dollars if they want to flee to Atlanta this year.

The Braves offered a cool $500,000 for release from their Milwaukee contract at mid-season yesterday, but the proposal received chilly, although somewhat mixed, reaction from county officials.

"To hell with 'em," snapped Milwaukee county board chairman Eugene H. Grobschmidt, a leader in legal action which forced the Braves last fall to fulfill their contract here before going to Atlanta in 1966.

Two of Grobschmidt's colleagues on the board, however, said they might entertain thoughts of letting the Braves leave — at a bigger price.

Supervisor Ted E. Wedemeyer predicted board members might be more receptive to an offer in the vicinity of three quarters of a million dollars. Supervisor Donald F. Weber set a price tag of $1.5 million.

Although the Braves' hopes of an early migration to the south have been well known, a formal offer was withheld until yesterday. Bill Bartholomay, the club's board chairman, made the proposal in six-page telegrams to Grobschmidt, county executive John Doyne and Teams, Inc., a civic group seeking another major league franchise for Milwaukee.

Bartholomay offered Milwaukee County $400,000 and Teams, Inc., $100,000 to sever contractual ties and permit the Braves to move to Atlanta after July 10. The offer carried a deadline of midnight June 21, but from initial reaction it might just as well be Dec. 31.

Bartholomay said that on the basis of projected figures the Braves' Milwaukee attendance this year will be "at best 400,000 some 1,200,000 below" the 12-year average. He admitted the Braves face "a substantial operating loss," but said the county will realize less than $90,000.

"Acceptance of this offer will insure the taxpayers of Milwaukee over $300,000 more than they can reasonably expect under the terms of the lease for Milwaukee County Stadium," he said.

"It will also insure Teams, Inc., $100,000 to be used for the promotion of future major league baseball."

Grobschmidt disputed Bartholomay's projected figures and said a strong showing by the Braves would attact fans in the summer months.

"All of a sudden, Mr. Bartholomay is thinking about the Milwaukee taxpayers," Grobschmidt added. "That's a quick pitch. He has had no concern for

Frenchman Sets New Mile Record

RENNES, France (AP) — France's Michel Jazy, who apparently runs his best against the clock rather than against tough opposition, today had the world's fastest time of 3:53.6 for the mile and solid confidence he'll break the 5,000-meter mark tomorrow.

The 29-year-old veteran, a disappointment in the 1964 Olympics, Tuesday night bettered the world record of 3:54.1 set by New Zealand's Peter Snell. This brought the blue ribbon mile mark to France for the first time since 1931 when Jules Ladoumegue was clocked in 4:08.2.

Ironically, Jazy does not think of the mile as his best distance. He prefers the 5,000 meters. But he said outright before the race that he was going for a world record, and he made it. He then gave warning that he was going to shoot for a sensational exploit in the 5,000 meters tomorrow night in Paris.

In the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome, Jazy finished a badly beaten second in the 1,500 meters. For the 1964 Games, he decided to switch to the 5,000 meters.

But in Tokyo, he was bothered by the pace and used up his energy passing other runners,

Mantle, 2 Other Yankees Pay $250 For 'Whistling'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The New York Yankees, who last year gave up on harmonicas, have taken up whistling.

And the price still is the same —$250 fines.

The Yankees, mired in eighth place and apparently whistling in the dark in the American League pennant raae, announced yesterday that three players had been fined $250 each for breaking training.

The Yankees refused to divulge the names of the players and the nature of the incidents that brought about the fines.

But reporters traveling with the club said the fines were levied for, among other things, whistling at waitresses in a restaurant.

The same newsmen also reported that two of the fined players were $100,000-a-year outfielder Mickey Mantle and relief pitcher Hal Reniff.

The fines were announced at a hastily called press conference by General Manager Ralph Houk, who flew to Kansas City after the baseball draft ended in New York.

"A few people broke training," Houk said. "Three players were fined $250 apiece. A few others were talked to."

Houk said he would not divulge the names of the players involved but was announcing the fines because "we didn't like it to go unnoticed. It got out of hand. It was a public show. If somebody wants to carry on, there's a place for it. That was not the place."

The incidents took place Sunday after the Yankees doubleheader in New York. The team had about three hours to spare before catching a plane and went to dine. When they eventually reached the airport, there was a 2½-hour delay and the Yankees again went to a restaurant.

Manager Johnny Keane, who resigned his job with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals to move over the the American League champion Yankees, called Houk about the incidents Monday, then met with the club Monday night and settled the issue.

Brothers Repeat Pelican Triumph

Brothers Fred and Don Smith of Samish Island, Washington, won the annual eight-and-one-half mile Pelican Class Trans-Bay Yacht Race Saturday in the time of 2 hours, 7 minutes. It was their second straight championship in the race from Sausalito to San Francisco and back.

Jerry Merril of Corte Madera placed second in 2:10 and William Bakker of Boonville third in 2:14.

Thirty-five boats participated.

Palmer, Lema Top Cleveland Field

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The weatherman promised hot, humid but sunny condition for the start today of the Cleveland Open golf tournament, the second-richest event on this year's tour.

The total purse if $125,000, including a $25,000 winner's share. An additional $10,000 was offered for yesterday's pro-amateur event.

Only the $200,000 Claring Open is richer.

This is the third annual Cleveland Open and everyone is wondering if it is going to have the same kind of ending as the first two.

Arnold Palmer won the inaugural in 1963 in an 18-hole playoff with Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron. Lema came back last year to show Palmer a thing or two and won the tourney in a single hole sudden death finish.

Palmer, nursing a heavy cold, flew to his home at Ligonier, Pa., last night to see his physician, but planned to be back for his scheduled tee time.

Lema, whose victory Sunday in the Buick Open was his first win this year, is here to defend his title.

A field of 144 golfers teed off on the 6,821 yard Highland Park course today. The municipally-owned course, celebrating its 50th anniversary, is a par 36-35—71 and not particularly difficult. Lema and Palmer tied at 270 last year.

Missing from the lineup is Ohioan Jack Nicklaus, who changed his mind about entering to concentrate on sharpening up for the U.S. Open in St. Louis next week.

French Runner Snaps Mile Record: 3:53.6

then was passed himself. When he saw he could not win, or even take second, he faded back to fifth and said that the only thing he really cared for was the gold medal.

That setback has rankled him since Tokyo. It took Jazy almost three years to get back his confidence after he was beaten by 30 meters by Herb Elliott of Australia in the 1,500 meters in Rome.

Jazy's mile record capped an amazing series of races in the space of one week. On June 2, he ran the fastest mile by a European with a time of 3:55.5 at Saint Maur, a Paris suburb. On June 6, at Lorient, he erased the old European record for the 5,000 meters with a time of 13:34.4.

In Paris he will be aiming for the 13:25.8 record for 5,000 meters set by Ron Clarke of Australia last week in Los Angeles.

Immediately after his mile victory, he was asked about the possibility of a fast race Friday night.

He said "Don't worry about this 5,000 meters, I have full confidence in myself. Right now everything comes easy and there is no reason why that shouldn't continue."

The fractional times for Jazy's record-breaking mile were announced at the stadium for 400 meters distances. The Paris sports newspaper L'Equipe gave these breakdowns for the quarter-miles, compared to those of Snell's record:

Jazy, 440 yards in :57.3; 880 in 1:56.5 (59.2), three-quarters in 2:57.4 (60.9), and mile in 3:56.3 (56.2).

Snell, 440 yards in :56.0; 880 in 1:54 (58.0); three-quarters in 2:54 (60.0) and the mile in 3:54.1 (60.1).

Jazy had the aid of pacesetters who took relays in the lead, trying to pull him to a record. He ran third, or second, during most of the race and went into the lead about 20 meters before the three-quarter mark. He then rapidly pulled away from the nine-man field. Gerard Vervoort, who set the pace in the third quarter, finished second in 3:59.9.

Seals Draft Two Players But Lose Goalie Perreault

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals, attempting to gain between-season ground after last season's lackluster fifth place Western Hockey League finish, drafted two players yesterday.

At the same time they lost goalie Bob Perreault, who was picked up in the draft by Rochester of the American Hockey League.

The draftees are right defenseman John Griavel, 22, and Harry Sinden, 27, both of Minneapolis of the Central Professional Hockey League.

Seal Coach Bud Poile termed Griavel "a good catch." Griavel scored 13 goals and made 25 assists in 68 games last season.

Perreault is the property of the Boston Bruins, who placed him in the draft.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Salmon Fishing Rates From Fair To Good; Bass Run Not Yet Here

STEVENS

The phone rang. I lifted the receiver. "How come you aren't out after salmon? I heard that just about everybody caught limits of big salmon on Monday!" said a voice which I later identified as that of a close friend and neighbor.

I didn't inquire about who caught the fish in order to verify the report, but I did immediately contact Hal Boenner's shop in Oakland from which more than a dozen sport-fishing boats work. Either the various skippers hadn't gone out or they failed to register their results. I then called Sid McMullen of Caruso's Sausalito Harbor.

"Yes, Ralph, our boats did fairly well on Monday, not limits, but an average of between one-and-a-half to two-fish per rod. Fish ran to good size—quite a few 12-pounders, a few that went from that to 18 and to a top of 20 pounds."

So that's the lowdown on what happened on Monday. Probably the best take for some time, but really not red hot.

Talking to Sid McMullen, I learned that the deep sea rock-fishing boat, the Kihaku, skippered by Ray Batho, and working from Caruso's place, took limits of rock cod and 32 lings to 37 pounds on Saturday, but stayed in the harbor on Sunday through lack of customers. Some day when you feel you'd like a mess of the swell eating rock-fish, plan a trip aboard the Kihaku. You'll probably bring home enough fishfood to throw a fish-feast for your club or your friends.

Regarding the hoped for appearance of striped bass, some fairly good luck has been had by plug casters from shore near the south tower of the G. G. Bridge, but most certainly the hoped-for runs of bass have not happened as yet. A few bass have been taken with Rebel Lures in the Alameda Estuary, but nothing to write home about.

There is one fish, however, that will give you quite a battle at present, and that is the shark. I just received a note from a south county angler which reads: "On Saturday, June 5, I arranged with Captain Jack Guthmiller to take four of us out to catch sharks. Our party consisted of Bruno Martinelli, Earl Smith, Bob Justice and myself. Our objective was to catch as many sharks as we could so the kids fishing along the shore would have a better chance to catch a bass. We caught 35 sharks, measuring from one foot to five feet in length. We had a swell time casting and fighting the pests. I wish to add that I highly recommend Skipper Jack Guthmiller, owner of the boat Jay-Dee II, berthed at the Oakland Yacht Club Harbor."

Murray And His Golf Game

weight on the right foot going back and left foot coming down. Hogwash. Don't keep your weight on either foot. On the 39-foot topped chip shot, it's even better if you fall down. Miss just one of these handy Murray reminders and the first thing you know you will hit a perfect 9-iron shot and it will fly over the green, over the trees and out onto the parking lot and you will have to drop another ball. The beauty of the Murray system is you can see 30 feet in any direction, your ball will never leave your sight.

If your caddy coaches you on the tee, "Hit it down the left side with a little draw," ignore him. All you do on the tee is try not to hit the caddy.

The fairway wood shot is fairly simple. The object here is to move the ball 11 feet, hopefully forward. Again, you begin by collapsing your left arm. If you can't collapse your left arm, you can't play the shot. Just remember, Nicklaus would be sure to louse up this shot. But not you.

Ball-marking for fun and profit would be another immortal chapter in the Murray book. Say you have a 40-foot putt. You can eliminate at least the first two feet of this by artfully ball-marking. The preferred method is to have a pocket full of coins which fall out in a shower as you bend over to mark your spot. Pick all of them up except the one nearest the hole. You can cut off the last six feet of the putt by inquiring innocently after your third putt, "Gimme that?" Argue that it's inside the leather even if it's barely inside the green. You've got to be tough in this game.

If you're three-and-a-half feet from the hole and playing with dopes who don't consider that a tap-in, remember to hit it firm. Never up, never in. You will end up 20 feet from the hole on the other side but it will help to keep you from crying if you yell "Bite!" or "Sit!" or "Hit something!" as it slithers past. On the way back, try to stub the putter in the grass and you can keep your poise by shouting "Legs. Get legs." Try not to take more than four putts.

There are any number of artificial aids you can buy but remember that liquor is the best. It can't help your game but if you play the way I am telling you, it can't hurt it either. Also, you won't give a damn. I would never recommend gloves, unless, of course, it's cold.

On the matter of practice, I would never even take a practice swing except in the deep rough. Not to smooth your swing but to smooth the grass. In the deep rough, your best bet is green tees and nearsighted partners.

Think positively. Set your goals high. Say to yourself you are going to break 105 and then go do it. You can cheat two holes a side if you set your mind to it. Never play with guys who can add.

Okay. Now that you've read this, go out and get Arnie's "Your Game and Mine" and ask yourself who's giving you the best advice on how to master this stinking game, me or him.

Pirates Keep Up Red-Hot Pace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's just a matter of hitting the ball better and coming to life.

That's Manager Harry Walker's capsule explanation fo his streaking Pittsburgh Pirates, who have won five games in a row and posted 17 triumphs in the last 19 games to reach the .500 mark after a dismal slump.

"(Bill) Mazeroski, (Donn) Clendenon, (Willie) Stargell and (Roberto) Clemente are hitting the ball just right and everybody's picking everybody up," Walker said last night.

The Pirates erupted for 19 hits and whipped the Houston Astros 11-3. Adding luster to the victory was the pitching of Vernon Law, who scattered eight hits in winning his fourth game in a row.

"He looked fine until the sixth or seventh inning," Walker said of the right-hander who gave up a run for the first time in 28 innings when the Astros scored in the sixth.

"His control wasn't as sharp," Walker said. "But he came back when he had to."

Walker attributed the Pirates' surge that includes a 12-game winning streak in large measure to the return of Mazeroski to the line-up and Clemente's hitting.

"When your two big men are out of the line-up, you feel it," Walker said, commenting on an injury that sidelined Mazeroski for several weeks and a winter illness that slowed Clemente. "It throws a big load on the rest of the team."

"No doubt Mazeroski's coming back helped," he said. Asked if he thought Clemente had regained his 1964 National League batting champion style, Walker, who is in his first year as Pirate manager, said "That I do not know. But he's hitting the ball now."

OTHER GAMES

Ernie Banks rapped a three-run homer, lifting the Chicago Cubs past Milwaukee 4-2 in an afternoon game and boosting his RBI lead to 48. Philadelphia knocked off the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-3, San Francisco topped New York 4-2 and St. Louis beat Cincinnati 6-4 in other National League night games.

Banks powered Chicago from behind with a first-pitch homer off Wade Blasingame in the seventh after two-out singles by Billy Williams and Ron Santo. The Cubs, blanked by Blasingame over the first six innings, then padded the lead on a run-scoring double by pinch hitter Harry Bright.

Tony Taylor's three-run homer in the third inning led Philadelphia past the first-place Dodgers and ruined the major league debut of Los Angeles southpaw Mike Kekich. The 20-year-old rookie lasted 3 1-3 innings, giving up two hits and five walks.

Left-hander Chris Short ended a five-game losing string with his first victory since May 2.

The Cardinals struck for five runs, including Bill White's three-run homer and a solo shot by Ken Boyer, in the fourth inning, then held off Cincinnati behind left-hander Curt Simmons and reliever Tracy Stallard.

Don Pavletich and Deron Johnson hit solo homers for the Reds.

Young Swimmer Wins 4 Events

Carolyn Hill, swimming in the 10 and under girls' division, won four first places to lead the Marin Pirates Swim Team at the Class B meet last weekend at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The Pirates won a total of 57 places from first to sixth. Other club winners were Jackie Shaw, Regan Wader, Troy Dunham, Scott Warner, Vickie Vidak, Liz Locati, Tacy Dunham and Nancy Gilboy.

COLLEGE 'SERIES'

Arizona Staters Keep Winning

OMAHA (AP) — The prime question of the College World Series is "who's going to stop Arizona State?"

John Marcum, cool St. Louis left-hander, will face the ASU sluggers tonight. Major league scouts at the 19th NCAA Tournament give Marcum the best chance against the Sun Devils of any Series pitcher.

Arizona State has been the class of the tournament through three rounds. The Sun Devils are unbeaten in the double-elimination tourney. They handed Ohio State's Big Ten champs their first Series defeat last night 9-4 with highly touted Rick Monday smashing a home run, double and single.

Earlier, the Western Athletic Conference champs clipped St. Louis 13-3 and Lafayette 14-1. This is an over-all score of 36-8 for three games. They have a team batting average of .329, with seven doubles, one triple and four homers.

Third baseman Sal Bando, one of four Ohio natives on the club, leads Series hitters with .571, including three doubles and a homer. His nine runs batted in is just one short of the Series record.

Monday, sophomore outfielder who was chosen No. 1 in baseball's first free agent draft, is batting .417 in the series. Outfielder Glen Smith is at .417.

Bobby Winkles likely will start John (The Robot) Pavlik, a right-hander, with two days rest. He stands 11-0. Marcum is 9-1 with a 1.15 earned run average.

Washington State, which ousted Connecticut 3-2, faces Ohio State at 9:30, with the loser eliminated.

Ohio State Coach Marty Karow may again go with his ace, Steve Arlin, fireball right-hander, who is 12-2. Arlin started against ASU with one day's rest and retired only one man. The Buckeyes made four errors behind him. He was tagged for four solid hits and left behind 6-0.

Washington State, beaten 14-1 by Ohio State in the second round, may start Doug Lukens, 3-1, a right-hander. Catcher John Olerud got a tie-breaking seventh inning triple against unexpectedly tough Connecticut.

A two-run triple by .417-hitting Tom Daly in the seventh was the winning blow for St. Louis, which eliminated Florida State 5-3. Marcum came in to get the last three outs.

'Illegal,' Cry The Baseball Draft Foes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball's moguls wound up their two-day talent hunt yesterday with cries of "illegal" and "socialistic"' echoing and college baseball officials moaning.

The 20 major league teams, armed with more information than comes out of the commissioner's office in a month, concluded the first free agent draft of its kind in baseball history. And when it was over, 826 youngsters had been picked and negotiations were already under way.

The draft was baseball's attempt to help its weaker teams and protect itself against the outlandish bonuses of recent years. The dollar escalation reached its peak last season when the Los Angeles Angels doled out an estimated $200,000 to Rick Reichhardt, an outfielder from the University of Wisconsin.

The draft system is similar to those used by pro football and pro basketball—to a point.

Once a club selects a player, it gains the exclusive right to negotiate with him. If, after six months he has not come to terms, his name goes back into the hopper for a new draft in six months.

This aspect does not occur in other professional sports.

The effect could be that youngsters suddenly left without the ability to weigh different offers may sign with the teams that pick them originally.

An attractive enough offer to a college freshman, for instance, would compel him to leave school and fulfill his baseball contract.

College coaches and administrators haven't been heard from as a group so far, but how can they be anything but furious?

U.S. NETTERS ADVANCE IN TOURNAMENT

BRISTOL, England (AP) — America's top-ranked Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., advanced to the quarterfinals of the West of England Tennis Championships today.

Ralston, priming for the Wimbledon tournament, started slowly but finished strong in a 7-5, 6-0 victory over John Sharpe, one of the lower ranked Australians. Dell had a struggle in eliminating Dmitri Sturdza of Switzerland 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

The other two U.S. men in the tourney, Herbert Fitz-Gibbon of Garden City, N.Y., and Allen Fox of Los Angeles, were eliminated.

KAAT NEEDS A SEAMSTRESS

Twins Lose In 9th Inning

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If there's one thing Jim Kaat needs, it's a seamstress.

Kaat, the Minnesota Twins ace left-hander, found out about a stitch in time saving two runs last night when he was ordered to make some alterations on his sweat shirt during the ninth inning and wound up losing to Cleveland 2-1.

The incident occurred with Kaat working on a three-hitter in the ninth and trying to protect a 1-0 lead over the Indians.

With a 2-1 count on Rocky Colavito, Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts complained to plate umpire Bill Haller that Kaat had a hole in the left sleeve of his sweat shirt. The umpire ordered Kaat to the dugout to have both sleeves shortened, eliminating the hole and keeping the sleeves the same length.

When Kaat returned to the mound he proceeded to walk Colavito on two more pitches and then was tagged for a game-winning homer by Max Alvis.

It was the second time this season Tebbetts had complained about Kaat's tailoring. On April 28 at Cleveland, Tebbetts complained in the first inning that one of Kaat's sleeves was longer than the other. The two sleeves were evened out in the dugout.

When Kaat returned that time, Alvis was the batter. Right. Alvis hit a homer.

Despite the loss, the American League leading Twins remained 2½ games in front of the Chicago White Sox, who lost to Boston 4-2. Elsewhere, Detroit downed the Los Angeles Angels 4-2, Washington edged Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings and the New York Yankees whipped Kansas City 5-1.

Kaat, now 5-6, was involved in a scoreless duel with the Indians' Ralph Terry until the Twins pushed across a run in the eighth on a double by Jerry Kindall, Kaat's bunt and a wild throw by catcher Joe Azcue on the play and a sacrifice fly by Zoilo Versalles.

Tebbetts then took a hand, apparently shaking up Kaat, and Terry finally posted the 100th victory of his career. Terry, now 5-3, had taken seven shots at No. 100.

Tony Horton, playing his second game since being recalled from Toronto, stroked three hits and drove in three runs for the Red Sox while Earl Wilson checked the White Sox on five hits.

Horton singled in two runs in a three-run third inning uprising against starter Bruce Howard and hit a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning following Tony Conigliaro's triple.

Willie Horton drove in two runs for the Tigers with a double and Al Kaline hit a two-run homer, his 12th, in support of Hank Aguirre's five-hit pitching. Kaline finished the three-game series against the Angels with seven hits in nine at-bats, including three homers.

Aguirre, now 6-2, was tagged for homers by Lou Clinton and Paul Schaal.

The Senators won in the 10th when Jim King hit the first pitch thrown by Oriole reliever Stu Miller over the center field fence. King's eighth homer ended Miller's string of consecutive scoreless innings at 31 compiled in 17 appearances.

Ed Brinkman's two-run homer had given Washington an early lead but the Orioles tied it with a ninth inning run on singles by Brooks Robinson and Jerry Adair around a sacrifice by Boog Powell.

Joe Pepitone and Tom Tresh each smashed two-run homers for the Yankees while Mel Stottlemyre stopped the A's on six hits and struck out 11.

Stottlemyre, now 7-2, lost his shutout in the ninth when Nelson Mathews doubled and Mike Hershberger singled.

them for the past two years."

The county board chairman said that "we would be going back on the public" by accepting Bartholomay's offer.

"We fought to make them play here in 1965," he declared. "Now why should we turn around and accept this offer? It would make us look like chumps in the antitrust action."

The county board has authorized corporation counsel to prepare a suit to have baseball declared a business under federal antitrust laws. In approving the action, the board said the suit should "recover damages which may have been sustained by Milwaukee County and-or injunctive relief by reason of violation of the federal antitrust act."

Grobschmidt, reached while vacationing, said he would submit the Braves' offer at the county board's regular meeting next Wednesday. However, he said he believes the majority of the board shares his feelings and the public would be "99 to 1 against it."

However, Wedemeyer said, "as long as they want to go, let them go, but make them pay."

"That's their first offer," he added. "If the Braves want to go, they'll come up."

Yanks Score Upsets In British Golf

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP)—Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, a Walker Cup veteran, and Jack Miles, a New York businessman, scored stunning upsets and with two other Americans gained the round of 16 today in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Other victories were racked up by Bob Gardner of Essex Fells, N.J., and Hunter McDonald, a Scot now living in Detroit, at the start of a double round of eliminations which will reduce the field to the quarterfinals.

Three Americans were beaten. They were John Penrose of Philadelphia and Jim Campbell and John Thornton, both of Rochester, N.Y.

Hyndman defeated Ronnie Shade, Scotland's seeded Walker Cup player, 2 and 1, in one of the best matches of the tournament while Miles gained an overtime victory over Joe Carr of Ireland, the 1953 champion, on the 19th hole.

Gardner, shooting sub-par golf, ousted England's Alan Thirwell 4 and 3, and McDonald, 24, swamped Gordon Clay of Wales 6 and 4.

Malley Named Athletic Head At Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Pat Malley, former football star and more recently football coach at the University of Santa Clara, has been named athletic director at the school.

Malley, 34, a lineman when he was attending Santa Clara, takes over his new post Sept. 1.

President Patrick A. Donohoe announced Tuesday that Malley will succeed the Rev. James E. Sweeters, who will go to Rome to study for his doctorate at Gregorian University.

The announcement said Carroll Williams, Santa Clara minor sports director and assistant basketball coach, will become assistant athletic director and S. M. Sanfilippo will become business manager.

Water Safety Program Set

The Tamalpais Union High School District is taking applications for the 1965 Water Safety Program to be held at Drake and Tamalpais high schools starting June 21.

Pittsburgh Rights Trouble Flares; Slain Negro Deputy Rites Held

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A civil rights demonstration at Pittsburgh flared into minor violence yesterday. Two persons were injured.

Fourteen demonstrators, protesting alleged discriminatory hiring practices by Allegheny (Pittsburgh) County, locked arms and formed a blockade around the office of county Commissioner William D. McClelland.

Allegheny County police Supt. Walter J. Ketchell ordered the office door cleared and a melee broke out. Lucy Strong, a demonstrator, was given hospital treatment for an arm injury and patrolman Charles Stuart was treated at another hospital.

The demonstrators left after the scuffle, but promised to return today.

At Cairo, Ill., more than 20 demonstrators picketed the city-county building in protest against "police brutality" and the removal of three families from emergency aid rolls.

The group belonged to the Cairo Freedom House, a biracial organization which charged that a demonstrator was hospitalized with a facial cut after he allegedly was struck with a night stick by an officer Tuesday.

Negro Deputy Sheriff O'Neal Moore, shot to death by night-riders near Bogalusa, La., last week, was buried yesterday in a quiet ceremony guarded by Louisiana state police.

The biggest floral display was from Gov. John J. McKeithen who has vowed that Moore's slayers will be brought to justice. Moore was killed an another Negro deputy wounded by gunfire from a truck which passed their patrol car on a highway.

Hamilton Man Held On Morals Charge

S/Sgt. Paul Lawrence Napier, 47, of 1172 Ransome Drive, Raphael Village, last night was booked into Marin County Jail for investigation of child molesting with bail set at $1,100.

Novato police charged him with an offense involving a 7-year-old girl.

Novato Church Gifts Of $250 Cash Stolen

More than $250 was stolen from the office of the rectory of Our Lady of Loretto Church at 1806 Novato Boulevard, Rev. Charles Farrell reported yesterday to Novato police.

The money was contained in special donation envelopes and was in the unlocked office, according to police. The only time the office was left unattended was between 3 and 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Father Farrell told police.

Marinites Due Sonoma Degrees

Nine Marin County residents will be among 106 candidates for bachelor of arts degrees at Sonoma State College commencement exercises, set for 10 a.m. Saturday on the Rohnert Park campus.

Among them is Tomales rancher Robert de la Vergne, the school's first graduate in French, who is one of four students to be graduated "with distinction."

Others are Michael Mangini and Bernice Schuler of San Rafael; Alice Sabory Donero, Paul I. Jones and James Mason Kimberlin of Kentfield; Ima Goad McNeil of Hamilton Air Force Base, Paul Eric Eiserich of Fairfax, and Donald E. Metzler and Ruth Anne Lee of Novato.

Meeting To Move

Meeting of the Marin Junior College District board, set for 8 p.m. today, has been moved from room 24 of Harlan Hall to room 61 of the art building because a large audience is expected.

New County Publicity Plan Just Might Be A Winner

Marin must attract tourism and desirable light industry to help broaden the tax base.

This theme has been repeated so often, both countywide and in individual communities, that the statement is getting to be a cliche.

Everyone agrees we need more visitors and more light industry to boost our economy, but no one has yet come up with a fully effective method to go about getting desired results.

Too often, promoters push fancy plans, couched in generalities and euphonious phrases. The completed report turns out to be full of background statistical matter, gilded with a few glimpses into the future, but little "meat" around which a practical program can be built immediately.

The latest proposal to attract visitors and light industry comes from two Marin publicists, who specialize in government-community relations.

Edward J. Slevin and Peter L. Goldstein have come up with what they call the "Marin County-Community Progress Plan."

The general idea is to channel the present publicity efforts of individual cities and chambers of commerce into a single coordinated countywide drive, thus eliminating duplication and wasted effort.

The idea is good, but what makes this plan any better than various other plans that have been advanced in the past? At this point, we can't say for sure. But there is an encouraging aspect in the Goldstein-Slevin proposal. They do get down to some specifics, which can be pinned down.

They offer a plan to improve government-community relations by providing guidelines for development and by such materials as a county-community annual report.

They promise "a detailed, countywide program to attract visitors and light industry to Marin."

To stimulate interest in Marin, they propose an advertising campaign, climaxed by a community event such as an industrial fair.

They hope to complete their project in three months so that an event like the industrial fair may be planned for the spring of 1966.

If the Goldstein-Slevin proposal is one that can be translated into a specific plan of action, which it appears to be, then the $9,000 cost may be well worth the price.

We need practical and specific guidelines for development, not just another "report" which will gather dust in some obscure county filing cabinet.

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE OF EDUCATION

College education will be endangered by a severe shortage of competent faculty members in the next five years, according to the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Reasons for the crisis were cited by John W. Gardner, foundation president:

1. Traditional supply lines for college faculties will contribute only a fraction of the 37,500 teachers with doctorates who will be needed. Only 20,000 are expected to get such degrees, and fewer than half of this number will actually go on to teach.

2. Research, while beneficial in most respects, is reducing the number of hours per week the average faculty member teaches.

The future of the nation and world depends largely on the quality of education—at every level. Do your best, as a follower of the Lord, to encourage capable young people to go into teaching.

Continue to support them by word and deed once they have done so.

"You are the light of the world."
(Matthew 5:14)

Give me an appreciation of true wisdom, O Holy Spirit, and inspire me to spread it.

Big Wheels Turning Toward Social Insurance Decisions

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — With the June 18 adjournment of the 1965 sesson of the California Legislature just around the corner, the big wheels are turning toward some decisions on the state's social insurance programs—unemployment and disability insurance and workmen's compensation.

The Legislature has been in session more than 20 weeks but not a significant insurance bill has been enacted, but this is par for the course. Such things usually are decided in the closing days of a session.

THE THREE insurance programs are quite separate — unemployment insurance provides benefits for workers who can't find jobs; disability insurance provides benefits for those who are off work because of illness or non-job-connected injuries, and workmen's compensation provides benefits for on-the-job injuries or disabilities.

But more often than not there's a connection between the three programs when a final solution, or package, is agreed upon by the lawmakers.

Action got under way early this year on the disability insurance program because the fund was going broke rapidly and needed refinancing. Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, authored A. B. 241 to increase worker taxes from the present 1 per cent of the first $5,600 to 1.1 per cent of the first $7,500.

THE BILL cleared the Assembly but underwent a major face-lifting in the Senate. Senate amendments provided the rate would remain at 1 per cent, and on only the first $6,900 of wages but eliminated some workers from benefits and reduced other benefits.

A compromise committee appointed to work out the differences has been meeting since April 5, with no success. Meanwhile, the fund ran out of money and Gov. Edmund G. Brown directed that the $12 daily hospital benefits be cut from the program until a refinancing bill is approved.

On the unemployment insurance front, a bill making major reforms in the program, A. B. 518-Zenovich, has cleared committee and was expected to be approved by the Assembly. The measure has a price tag for employers, who pay all unemployment benefits, of about $13 million. This is considerably less than the $130 million annual increase proposed by Governor Brown and organized labor.

THE BILL reportedly would disqualify some 60,000 claimants from unemployment insurance, although nearly half of these might be returned later. The measure provides that persons disqualified for benefits because they quit their jobs without good cause or were discharged for misconduct would have to return to work, and earn five times the weekly benefit, before they could receive benefits.

Under the present law, persons who quit their jobs without good cause or are discharged for misconduct must only wait five weeks and then are eligible for benefits.

Letter Is Found To Be For Birds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Carl Hepp wrote a very interesting ornithological treatise for your letter column. It brought to mind another fascinating bird found in a habitat nearly overlapping the one she mentioned. It is a species of quail named the Biased Hepplwhite. It is distinguishable from the one she wrote of only by the small but prominent color bars on its throbbing breast. These bars are white on whiter. From a distance the feet are said to resemble dainty tennis shoes, most distinctly in the female.

For some strange purpose this bird spends much effort to keep the other type bird in a single large pen, but because of peripheral blindness, generally finds itself caged instead and dependent on a keeper for release, for it has not learned, and probably cannot, that which will set it free.

The call of this bird has overwrought undertones. It is a high-pitched, "Never, never, never!" The mating call is, "Pure white! Pure white! Heppl-white is pure white!" The number of this type bird is large enough.

Reed District Problems Cited

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Within the last two years, the Reed School District has committed itself to team teaching, non-gradedness, acceleration, a gifted student program, programmed texts, i.t.a. reading, listening centers, and, it seems, a closed circuit video system, etc.

The emphasis has been upon method. Of necessity the curriculum has been altered to fit the mechanical limitations of these systems. . . .

The present Reed program is seriously weak in history, geography, grammar, written expression, spelling and science. The libraries are inadequate and the reference materials almost non-existent.

The high juvenile delinquency rate and discipline problems well reflect the extreme pressures upon the children of this area. . . .

It will be interesting to see how long the board and the administration can avoid coming to grips with these problems. . . .

Religion Refreshing On Editorial Pages

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am taking this opportunity to express a "vote for" continuance of the Christian direction of your Saturday editorial page. I would be greatly disappointed if, for any reason, it was discontinued.

Too little emphasis on the word of God is to be found in public expression these days and it is refreshing to be able to turn to this page for inspiration rather than a complete diet of politics, crime and wars.

Religious Cartoon Get High Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am one of many who feel differently than a reader who recently wrote criticizing the religious cartoons in the Independent - Journal on Saturdays. For those of us who do, please continue these cartoons for we appreciate them. Thank you.

Here Are Some Highlights Of Supreme Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court handed down some historic decisions in the 1964-65 term ending Monday but escaped the torrential abuse of other years for a simple reason.

It did not poke around much in the highly sensitive fields of religion and politics. Thus, with no new logs on the fire, all the talk of curbing the court or undoing its decisions once more got nowhere.

AGAIN THIS court, as it has since Chief Justice Earl Warren took his seat in 1954, continued to broaden its protection of individual rights and liberties. Yet, the range of its work was wide.

Here were some of its most memorable actions:

In the first test of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the court upheld the public-accommodations section requiring restaurants and motels to serve all races if the restaurants' customers or food move in interstate commerce.

Two years ago the court, extending constitutional protections to state criminal trials, said a defendant had a right to an attorney in all key stages of the proceedings.

THIS YEAR the court extended this by ruling a defendant in such a trial had a right to face and question witnesses against him.

The court barred state judges and prosecutors from commenting to juries if a defendant — exercising his constitutional right to say nothing — refused to take the stand in his own defense.

But the court also decided a defendant's constitutional right to trial by jury does not include the right to demand a trial without jury in a criminal case when either the prosecutor or judge does not agree.

ONE OF THE most sensational decisions came Monday when the court threw out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes on a Texas swindling charge because his trial was televised.

"A defendant on trial for a specific crime," the court said, "is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium or a city or a nation-wide arena. Trial by television is therefore foreign to our system."

But some justices indicated this is not the last word on televised trials.

And the court in effect upheld the California Supreme Court in overturning the conviction of a convict, who stabbed a fellow-prisoner to death, because the confession used against him was taken by officers who did not advise him of his right to an attorney and his right to stay silent.

IN 1962 and 1964 the court created a political revolution by its reapportionment decisions, which said election to the U. S. House of Representatives and both houses in a state legislature must be made more democratic by giving all voters an equal voice. The court did not add to them this year. It just stood pat.

In 1962 and 1963 the court brought the roof down by barring official prayers in public schools and of a pledge of allegiance containing the words "under God."

And the court upheld the State Department in refusing a ski resort operator a passport to Cuba. He said his only reason for going was to be informed. The department says only those can go whose travel might serve this country's interest.

THE COURT, voiding a Louisiana requirement that would-be voters must satisfactorily interpret the U. S. or state constitutions, said this test was part of a plan to deprive Negroes of their right to vote. Louisiana has abandoned this requirement but other states have similar ones.

In the labor field the court said an employer may shut down his business for any reason—he might not want to deal with a union—but he may not shut down just a part of it to avoid dealing.

Yet, the court agreed unanimously that when an employer reaches a dead-end in negotiations with a union for a new contract, he can lock out the employees temporarily to put economic pressure on the union.

State Department Plans Super-Banks

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The day-to-day military and political fireworks in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic are overshadowing an emerging shift of immense significance in U. S. foreign policy.

Involved is a major decision by President Lyndon B. Johnson and his policy-makers to throw their full weight behind the development of super-regional economic - military-political organizations in Asia, Latin America and Africa.

THIS BOLD master plan, drafted in the State Department, provides for the creation of three multi - billion - dollar regional banks to finance the social-economic-political development of the three continents.

Under the unannounced proposal, the super-banks will be financed mainly by the U. S. Treasury and gradually take over control and administration of the U. S. programs in these undeveloped countries.

Significantly, the super-banks will be controlled by African, Asian and Latin American nations, with limited U. S. representatives, although this country will put up most of the money.

While President Johnson alluded to the establishment of a regional Asian fund in his Baltimore speech, the first hard information on the super-regional organization will be announced at the conference of American foreign ministers to be held in Rio de Janeiro in August.

ACCORDING TO highly reliable congressional sources, U. S. diplomats are working closely with officials in Chile, Mexico and Venezuela on plans to revamp the Organization of American States and make it the base for the new super-organization.

Once the Latin American experiment is launched, U. S. support for similar regional bodies in Asia and Africa will be officially announced by President Johnson, unless unforeseen opposition develops in Congress and among the voters.

This strategy of revealing the administration's plans "piece-meal" was decided on by Secretary of State Dean Rusk; McGeorge Bundy, the president's influential foreign policy adviser; Llewellyn Thompson, chief expert on Russia, and Thomas Mann, undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

THEY RULED out any single announcement of their "grand design policy" on the ground the opponents might rally a majority of Congress against the controversial plan because of the tremendous cost and the fact that socialist and Communist nations would be permitted to join.

According to one suppressed State Department estimate, development of the three regional organizations would cost the U. S. from $3 to $5 billion a year. Some officials believe these figures are on the conservative side.

The administration wants to avoid a clear-cut vote in Congress on U. S. support for these super-regional bodies. Instead, the president will seek congressional approval by the back door.

Rights Workers Prepare Summer —This Reporter Going To South

Marin County will be sending more than its share of civil rights workers south this summer. The recruiting and screening program for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee was headed by David Fogel, Marin County probation office director of institutions.

But the San Anselmo Theological Seminary has been doing its own recruiting, and some may be going to Louisiana for the Congress on Racial Equality project there.

AS IN THE PAST, the bulk of the workers will be recruited from college campuses, because usually these persons can easily "waste" a summer at some unremunerative activity like a trip to Europe or civil rights work or camp counseling.

But the screening process this year has been a little tougher, with psychiatrists, psychologists and psychiatric social workers interviewing all applicants to weed out persons who might be more trouble than they are worth.

ALSO, SUMMER workers this year will be expected to supply their own money to live on, a requirement which is weeding still more young people out.

The result of the new procedure was evident this past weekend at a meeting of persons who plan to head south soon. The meeting included potential workers from throughout the Bay Area.

Almost all were white. While most were student age, a surprisingly large number were older, ranging into the 40s.

BUT EVEN THOSE who might be considered best informed seemed shocked when they were given information on what to expect. Either there is something close to a fascist state in southern United States, or there are a lot of paranoid workers.

Mail is opened before being delivered in Mississippi, they were told. Telephones definitely will be tapped. A person can expect to be jailed on a minor traffic violation, and teaching in a freedom school may be considered "contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

IF A WORKER is lost in a strange town, the last person he approaches to ask questions is a police officer.

Checks usually cannot be cashed, so money must be sent ir by postal money order, and then by registered letter with return receipt requested.

Interior lights of cars should be removed. Passengers are targets when doors open. People should sleep away from windows.

From the description, one gains the impression that police, newspapers, banks and businessmen are all on the same side of the law as the gangsters, either through fear or apathy or inclination. The situation is a jungle for those not of the "power structure."

FOGEL, TALKING to the group, said that when he was in the war, troops were told before battle that a certain percentage would be killed, and another percentage would be injured, but that each individual was sure he was not in either group.

"Actually, probably few of you will be jailed, and even fewer beat up," he said. "But you should be prepared for it."

A Negro who came from Mississippi added: "If you're not scared, you shouldn't be here."

This reporter will take three months off work, starting tomorrow evening, to go to Mississippi or southern Arkansas or both, to find out.

Scholarship To San Rafael Coed

Marilyn Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Howe of 95 Brodea Way, San Rafael, has been awarded a $2,000 federal scholarship to study speech therapy.

The scholarship was presented through the division of handicapped children and youth, U.S. Office of Education. She will study for a master's degree at University of Oregon.

Miss Howe is a 1961 graduate of San Rafael High School and received a bachelor of arts degree from University of Oregon this year.

How Do You Tell Clergy To Keep Noses Out Of Affairs Of State?

NOT UNEXPECTEDLY, the preponderance of my recent mail deals with my comments on the entrance of pulpiteers into the political arena—which I regard as trespass. And, for what the figures are worth, some 80 per cent of the writers—laity and clergy alike—agree with me.

The dissenters range all the way from extremists who say I aim to destroy all reverence for God's shepherds to moderates who deem me well-intentioned but misled by propaganda and who would set the record straight for me.

It is to the latter I am indebted for some brochures, notably a Presbyterian survey and a Lutheran report, in defense of the National Council of Churches. According to these, the NCC never actually urged the recognition of Red China. But "in 1958, one of the council's program units convened a study conference on world order. In the concluding statement of the findings, the delegates said the world would never know peace or undertake any serious steps to universal disarmament without the 600 million Chinese. Thus, they felt, steps might be taken to recognize the Chinese regime—hated though it be—so that discussion of armament might seriously be opened. Nobody of this conference spoke for anyone but himself, not even for the NCC."

AS FOR THE council itself, "it makes no pretense that it speaks for the 40 million individuals of its 31 member churches or indeed for those churches themselves. Statements are issued from time to time on the council's own authority in the hope they will be helpful as guides and aids to the churches, the nation and the world in finding God's will and doing it."

Even if I accept these denials at face value, they hardly answer the basic thrust of my argument. The fine print may say the program unit spoke only for itself, but the findings were given wide coverage in the press as the solemn conclusions of the NCC, which did not then deny its imprimatur. Further, the report was lavishly distributed throughout the affiliated churches and many sermons were preached in favor of it.

ALL OF WHICH created a furor which has not yet died out completely—or why the defense brochures? Dr. Daniel Poling, a distinguished minister not previously suspected of opposing God's will, was aroused enough to send a questionnaire to a large group of the clergy and found them overwhelmingly against the recognition of Red China. And it was on this issue that a number of communicants dropped out of their churches and a number of churches quit the NCC.

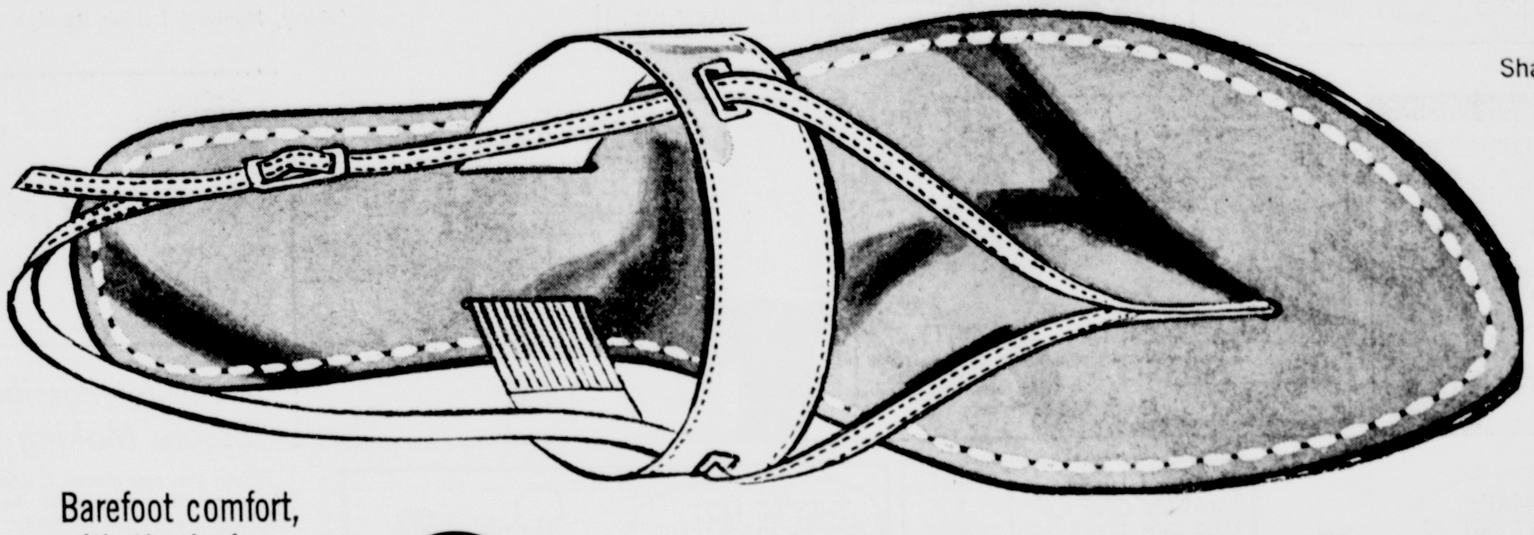

Similarly, I am assured by some of my own co-religionists that when the Board of Rabbis of Southern California, acting as a body, endorsed a candidate in a local election, they meant to speak only for themselves. In that case, why the imprimatur of the board—and the obvious implications thereof?

In both instances, the NCC and the board, there was a clear if unspoken intimation that spiritual advice had come from above. Perhaps the next revelations will disclose to us the Lord's will on such puzzling questions as the price of gold, urban renewal and whether or not that town in Texas really needs that new bridge.

But in such matters I am strictly from Missouri. It is my quaint notion that the Lord's telephone number is unlisted and that neither the learned men of the church nor the rabbis of the board know it any more than the rest of us.

IN SHORT, how do you say "Baloney!" to members of the cloth?

Today is Thursday, June 10, the 161st day of 1965 with 204 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, was born on this day in 1921.

On this day in history:

In 1898, the U.S. Marines began the invasion of Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1940, Italian Dictator Benito Mussolini declared war on France and Britain.

In 1942, the German Gestapo burned the tiny village of Lidice in Czechoslovakia after shooting 173 male inhabitants of the town and deporting the women and children to concentration camps.

In 1958, a House committee made public records showing Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine paid over $1,500 in hotel bills for presidential assistant Sherman Adams. In the ensuing scandal, Adams was ousted.

A thought for the day—Henry David Thoreau said: "It takes two to speak the truth—one to speak and the other to hear."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Consider Possibilities Before Making Choice

Before you can choose a line of play you must first be aware that you have a choice.

Most bridge players would not see that two lines of play are possible in the sort of hand shown today.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

When this hand was played South took the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps and led out the ace of spades as a safety measure.

REMAIN STUBBORN

When the queen of spades remained stubbornly out, South led a club to dummy's ace and returned a spade to try a finesse with the jack.

West took the queen of spades and a diamond trick, and South complained about his horrible luck. It never occurred to South that he had misplayed the hand.

South need not stake the slam on a finesse in spades. It would be equally sound to lead a club toward dummy and try a finesse with the queen.

COULD DISCARD

If this worked, South could discard a diamond on the ace of clubs and concede a spade.

In other words, South has a choice of finesses. He must guess whether the spade finesse or the club finesse will work, and he must take that finesse.

The question is: How does South tell without peeking which finesse will work?

NO ANSWER

There is no answer to the question. As the cards lie, both finesses will lose—but South is far from helpless. South should play to drop the missing honor in one of the black suits and keep in reserve a finesse in the other suit.

In this case South should lead out the ace and king of spades to see if the queen drops. When the queen does drop, South has no further problem.

If the queen did not drop, South would try the club finesse, thus getting two bites out of the apple instead of just one.

DAILY QUESTION

IMPORTANT NOTICE

TAXPAYERS who have disposed of property since March 2, 1964, may find their names listed for the reason that present owners have failed to pay taxes and according to law the name appearing on the current roll must be published.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that unless the total amount due for taxes, assessments and other charges levied in the year 1964 for the fiscal year 1964-65 on any property, shown on the list below in dollars and cents opposite the description of the property, is paid before 5:00 P.M., June 30, 1965, the real property on which such amounts are a lien (except real property previously sold to the State and not redeemed) will by operation of law be sold to the State of California at such time in the office of the Tax Collector at the Civic Center, San Rafael, County of Marin.

Attention is hereby directed to the Addenda to this published delinquent list. Property listed in this Addenda and heretofore sold to the State will, on the 1st day of July, 1965, at 10:00 A.M., in the office of the Tax Collector, San Rafael, County of Marin, California, be deeded to the State unless sooner redeemed or deeding is postponed as provided by law.

PARCEL NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLANATION:

"The Assessor's map parcel number when used to describe property in this list, refers to the assessor's map book, the map page or block number in the book and the individual parcel number on the map page or within the block. A parcel number as for example, '3-36-9' would mean Book 3 of the Assessor's Maps, Map page 36, and Parcel 9 on that map. A Parcel number as for example '3-363-5' would mean Book 3 of the Assessor's Maps, Block 363 (Map 36, Block 3) and Parcel 5 within that block. The maps referred to are available for inspection in the office of the Assessor."

Legal Notices

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE OF SCHOOL DISTRICT BONDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, at the office of the County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors in the Civic Center, City of San Rafael, in said County, California, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of June, 1965, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A.M., for the purchase of bonds of REED UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MARIN COUNTY, State of California, more particularly described below:

ISSUE: $7,000.00, 1963 School Bonds, Series D, consisting of 7 bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered D-1 to D-7, inclusive, all dated June 15th, 1965. Said bonds are part of an authorized issue in the aggregate principal amount of $550,000.00, of which $145,000.00, designated Series A have heretofore been issued and $145,000.00 are now outstanding; $165,000.00, designated Series B, have heretofore been issued and $165,000.00 are now outstanding; $233,000.00, designated Series C, have heretofore been issued and $233,000.00 are now outstanding.

INTEREST RATE: Maximum five (5) per cent per annum, payable on June 15, 1966. Bidders must specify the rate of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. The interest rate stated in the bid must be in a multiple of one-eighth or one-twentieth of one per cent per annum, payable as aforesaid. Each bond must bear interest from its date to its fixed maturity date at the rate specified in the bid.

MATURITIES: Said bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order from lower to higher (without option of prior redemption) as follows:

Principal Amount	1963 Series D Bond Numbers	Maturity Date June 15
$7,000.00	1-7	1966

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest payable in lawful money of the United States at the San Francisco Main Office of Bank of America, National Trust and Savings Association in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, or at the option of the holder at the respective offices of the paying agents of said County in the City of New York, State of New York, or in the City of Chicago, State of Illinois.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said School District. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds were authorized by more than two-thirds of the voters voting at an election held in said District on January 22, 1963 and will be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for authorized school purposes.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of said School District, and said Board of Supervisors has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said School District, subject to taxation by said School District (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates), without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private nolders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case, the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of the following firm, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge: Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe of San Francisco, California. A copy of the legal opinion certified by the official in whose office the original is filed will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; provided that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given the Board of Supervisors notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event, the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of REED UNION School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $200.00, drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

Round Of Social Activities Planned For Debs, Bride-Elect

By MOLLY MARIN

A round of activities for the debutantes to bow at the Hamilton Air Force Base Debutante Ball on June 26 have been planned by the Officers' Wives Club.

On June 25, a tea at the Officers' Club will honor the debs. Mrs. Joseph Willson, president of the OWC, will be in the receiving line with the debutantes. Mrs. Gregory Hobbs is chairman of the event assisted by wives of the officers of the 28th Air Division.

TWO LUNCHEONS have also been scheduled at the Officers' Club, Mrs. Harry J. Williams will honor her daughter, Derene, and other debs at 1 p.m. on June 19. Mrs. Gus Petris of Oakland, Derene's aunt, will be co-hostess. A special guest will be the Rev. Spencer Rice of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Palo Alto.

DEBUTANTES Jeanne Di Bianco, Patricia Hohn and Edie Livingstone will be honored when Mrs. Wallace Frank and her daughter, Jean, hold a luncheon at the Officers' Club at noon on June 21. All the Hamilton debs will be guests.

THE TOWER on Treasure Island was the setting for the party given last night by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow of San Anselmo for Heidi Hickingbotham and her fiance, Robert Todd Cary, who will exchange vows on June 30 in San Rafael. The gathering was a surprise shower and cocktail party with the members of the wedding party as guests.

MRS. LEWIS A. CLAPP of Greenbrae has returned home following a 32-day trip to Portugal, Spain, and North Africa. She will leave today for Los Angeles, where she will attend the graduation of her two granddaughters, Katherine and Karen Riegle.

RETURNED FROM three weeks of travel in Europe are the Louis G. Hardings of Mill Valley, who enjoyed excellent weather during their tour in France, Switzerland and Scandinavia. First they stayed with Mrs. Harding's parents, who are spending several months in Europe and have taken a home near Geneva and then went on to Oslo for a visit with her sister and her family, who live there.

EDIE LIVINGSTONE

DERENE WILLIAMS

A COMBINATION CHRISTENING, wedding anniversary and birthday party was held at the Terra Linda home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zink on Sunday afternoon. Buffet and cocktails were served to 40 friends and relatives of the couple whose new daughter, Robin Margaret, was christened at St. Isabella's Church. The occasion also honored the 30th wedding anniversary of his parents, the Harold Zinks of San Quentin. Matt Zink celebrated his fifth birthday on that day and Fred Voight of San Francisco was a birthday celebrant also. A large decorated white cake containing all the names of the honorees was served.

Daly-Deckert Marriage Is Solemnized At St. Anselm's

On May 30 at St. Anselm's Church in Ross the marriage of Marion Tamera Deckert and Michael Francis Daly was solemnized in a Catholic ceremony by the Rev. John Cunningham.

The two College of Marin students were married in a civil ceremony in Santa Rosa in March. Marion is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Englehardt Deckert of Bremen, Germany and Cannes, France. Her younger sister, Laila, attends school in Bremen.

She attended classes at the Sorbonne in Paris and traveled extensively in Europe before moving to Mill Valley where she has lived with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bert D. Deckert, for two years.

Michael attended Marin Catholic High School and served aboard the aircraft carrier Oriskany in the Orient for two years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Daly of Strawberry. His younger brother, Marc, attends Alto Junior High School.

Attendants for the ceremony were the bride's parents who are visiting in the United States for one month.

The new couple are residing in Fairfax until the fall when they will move to San Francisco where both will attend San Francisco State College. Michael will continue work toward a master's degree in international relations and Marion will study both the English and German languages.

SWINGING FINALE

Marin Women

LYNN CIPOLAT AND Wilson (Toby) Carlyle Hayes of Kentfield exchanged nuptial vows at Ss. Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco on Sunday and were feted at a reception at the Fairmont Hotel afterward. Toby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan C. Hayes of Kent Woodlands. The couple will live in Santa Barbara for the summer and then will make their home in Palo Alto, while they continue their studies at Stanford University and San Jose State College.

Chapter To Hold Summer Fantasy

Summer fantasy is the theme of the fashion show and luncheon to be sponsored by Alpha Tau Chapter of Kappa Phi Sigma sorority on Tuesday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. preceded by cocktails at 11:30 a.m., announced Mrs. Harold Dunham, chairman.

Marin Mannequin League members will model the fashions including Mesdames Joseph Clyde, Les Vogel Jr., Henry C. Mullowoney, G. Stuart Spence, Robert Bernheim, Charles Francis and Dorothy Wagner and Gail Hurd.

Mrs. Dunham will be assisted by Mesdames Richard Kahler, Stanley Cazneaux and Robert Corbett, decorations; J. Edward Thompson and Thomas Dent, awards; George Schilling, tickets, and Leo Horton and Kahler, publicity.

Mrs. James Lazor will make the introductions and Mrs. Cazneaux is reservations chairman.

The sheltered workshop group at Sonoma State Hospital will receive a part of the proceeds.

Scott Wrights To Present Skits At Newcomers Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wright, well-known for their performances in various shows in the Novato area will present comedy skits and songs at the Novato Newcomers Club luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Redwood Sky Lounge Restaurant in San Rafael. An 11 a.m. social hour will precede the luncheon at noon. Bridge and Mah Jong will be played later in the afternoon, with Mrs. Allen Wood as bridge reservation chairman and Mrs. Robert Roberts as Mah Jong chairman.

Chairman for luncheon reservations are Mesdames Edward Ross and Richard Meeres and transportation chairman is Mrs. Earle Gildersleeve.

New members who have recently joined the club are Mrs. Rich Bovaird, Harold Camcicia, Kaye Dorsett, Georgia Garloff, Robert Hahn, Ronald Kenney, Victor Maas and Harry McWilliams.

G-2: Second multiple residence regulations.
G-3: Third multiple residence regulations.
G-4: Fourth multiple residence regulations.

SECTION 2: Section 22.46.010 of the Marin County Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

"22.46.010. Regulations for B districts. In any district with which is combined any B district, the following regulations as specified for the respective B district shall apply in lieu of the respective regulations as to building site areas and average widths, depths of front and side yards, which are hereinbefore specified for such district with which is combined such B district and shall be the minimum requirements in each case:

"B-1 districts: Building site area, six thousand square feet; building site average width, fifty feet; front yard depth, twenty - five feet; side yard widths, five feet.

"B-2 districts: Building site area, ten thousand square feet; building site average width, seventy-five feet; front yard depth, twenty-five feet; side yard widths, ten feet.

"B-3 districts: Building site area, twenty thousand square feet; building site average width, one hundred feet; front yard depth, thirty feet; side yard widths, fifteen feet.

"B-4 districts: Building site area, one acre; building site average width, one hundred fifty feet; front yard depth, thirty feet; side yard widths, twenty feet.

"B-5 districts: Building site area, two acres; building site average width, one hundred fifty feet; front, rear, and street side yard depth—thirty feet; interior side yard width—twenty feet.

"B-6 districts: Building site area, three acres; building site average width, one hundred seventy-five feet; front, rear, and street side yard depth—thirty feet; interior side yard width—twenty feet.

"B-7 districts: Building site area, five acres; building site average width, two hundred feet; front, rear, and street side yard depth—thirty feet; interior side yard width—twenty feet.

"B-8 districts: Building site area, ten acres, building site average width, two hundred feet; all yards must have a minimum dimension of thirty feet.

"B-D districts: As specified on the sectional districts map designating any such districts.

SECTION 3: Chapter 22.61 is hereby added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

Chapter 22.61
D-DISTRICTS
DENSITY REGULATIONS

22.61.010. Application.

a. It is hereby found that in some areas of the County of Marin it is desirable to control residential density for purposes that do not necessarily relate to size of building site. The zone for those areas may, when appropriate, be combined with a "D" District in order to allow alternative methods of development when used in conjunction with a subdivision.

b. "D" regulations may, when considered appropriate, be combined with any district having a minimum lot size requirement of at least 10,000 square feet. In such case the resulting "—D" District shall be governed by the regulations of the district with which the "D" regulations are combined and by the regulations of this section; provided, however, that if any of the regulations specified in this section differ from or conflict with any of the corresponding regulations specified for the district with which the "D" regulations are combined, then the regulations for this section shall apply.

c. The provisions of this chapter shall apply only to those building sites created and shown on a subdivision map recorded in the manner prescribed by law, covering land in a "D" District, which map at the time of tentative and final approval thereof was in compliance with the regulations of this section.

22.61.020. Average building site area.

The building site area in a "D" district may vary provided the minimum building site area is maintained and provided that the "average building site area" shall be not less than that required as a minimum building site area in the district with which the "D" regulations are combined.

1. The "average building site area" shall be computed by dividing the total area shown on a proposed final subdivision map, excluding street areas but including any common, open, recreation or park areas designated on such map, by the total number of building sites shown thereon.

22.61.030. Minimum building site area.

In any "D" District the minimum building site area shall be six thousand five hundred (6,500) square feet; the minimum building site average width, fifty-five (55) feet; the minimum front yard depth twenty (20) feet; and minimum side yard widths, six (6) feet.

22.61.040. Subdivision maps.

Once a subdivision map has been recorded utilizing the provisions of this section then thereafter the minimum building site area for each building site shown thereon shall be the same as that designated within the lot lines of each site respectively on such recorded map.

22.61.050. Cluster subdivision.

If the provisions of this section are utilized by creating a "cluster" subdivision, wherein certain areas within the subdivision are designated on the map as being a common, recreation, park, open or other area acceptable to the Planning Commission, then such area shall be identified or encumbered in a manner suitable to the Planning Commission to assure that such area will in some manner be beneficial to the owners of building sites shown on such map and said area will not be available for development in any manner inconsistent with the intent of this section.

SECTION 4. Section 22.08.010 of the Marin County Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

"22.08.010. Districts designated. The districts established by this title are as follows:

NON-URBAN GROUP
A-1 Districts: The open rural areas of the county.
A-2 Districts: Limited agricultural districts.
R-A Districts: Suburban agricultural districts.
H-1 Districts: Limited roadside business districts.
O-A Districts: Open area districts.
R-C-R District: Resort and commercial recreation district.
COMMUNITY GROUP
R-R Districts: Restricted residential districts.
R-E Districts: Residential estates districts.
R-1 Districts: One-family residence districts.
R-2 Districts: Two-family residence districts.
R-3 Districts: Multiple residence districts.
R-3-A Districts: Multiple residence districts with area regulations.
C-1 Districts: Retail business districts.
C-2 Districts: General commercial districts.
A-P Districts: Administrative and professional districts.
M-1 Districts: Light industrial districts.
M-2 Districts: Heavy industrial districts.
PLANNED GROUP
P-C Districts: Planned community districts.
M-3 Districts: Planned industrial districts.
C-P Districts: Planned commercial districts.
R-P Districts: Planned residential districts.
R-P-1 Districts: Planned residential, one - family districts.
R-P-2 Districts: Planned residential, two - family districts.

SECTION 5. Section 22.02.760 is hereby added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

"22.02.760. Marina: A small craft harbor which may include mooring and launching facilities and accessory facilities for boat servicing."

SECTION 6. Section 22.02.770 is hereby added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

"22.02770. Resort: An establishment comprised of permanent structures offering meals and lodging facilities for temporary or seasonal occupancy and having recreational facilities for one or more activities such as water sports, tennis, golf, riding, hiking, hunting, fishing, or similar uses."

SECTION 7. Chapter 22.59 is hereby added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

Chapter 22.59
R-C-R DISTRICTS
RESORT AND COMMERCIAL RECREATION DISTRICTS

22.59.010 Purpose.

1. To recognize that "resort areas" constitute important social, recreational and/or economic assets; to create and protect resort facilities in pleasing and harmonious surroundings for accommodation of the needs and desires primarily of visitors, tourists and guests; to control density and development plans to assure that each project promotes the purposes of the district.

22.59.020. Application.

This district shall be applied only if the Planning Commission finds that the area is of sufficient size, type, location and having such special features as to make it a desirable resort area.

The regulations of this section shall apply in all R-C-R Districts and shall be subject to the provisions of Chapters 22.68, 22.70, and 22.72 (except sections 22.68.030(b), 22.68.030(d), 22.68.050, 22.68.070, 22.70.010, 22.70.060, 22.72.060, and 22.72.070), but shall not be subject to the provisions of Chapter 22.88 of this Code except in lieu thereof the procedure for issuing a Use Permit shall be the same as that specified in Chapter 22.86 of this Code for issuing an adjustment or variance; also the necessary findings set forth in Chapter 22.88 must also be made on any Use Permit approved under this Section.

22.59.030. Uses Permitted.

(a) Any one of the following uses is permitted on a parcel of land in one ownership within which is contained an area of ten (10) acres having an average minimum dimension of five hundred (500) feet which parcel fronts on a publicly maintained street, and when a parcel is used under this provision it shall not be reduced to below these requirements until or unless a use permit is issued therefor:

(1) Resort.
(2) Marina.
(3) Recreation Club (yacht, boat, beach, swim, tennis, riding, fishing, golf club or course, country club and others determined by the Planning Commission to be similar to the above which are not detrimental to the enjoyment of near-by uses).
(4) The following accessory uses when integrated with, subordinate to, and constructed with or following one of the above uses: Restaurant; cocktail lounge, nightclub or bar; auto or marine service station; personal service shop (barber, beauty, etc.); novelty or tourist service or necessity shops; sale, rental or repair of recreation equipment including boats; single family dwellings; normal accessory uses.

(b) Dairying, animal grazing, boarding and riding stables if located on a parcel of land in one ownership and having an area of at least fifty acres. These establishments may also have two (2) single family dwellings as accessory uses separated by at least fifty (50) feet.

(c) Signs on a building or on site in connection with any permitted use are permitted only as shown on plans approved by "Plan Approval", provided that the otherwise permissive action under Plan Approval is limited to that which would be available under the provisions of Chapters 22.68, 22.70 and 22.72 of this Code. This regulation is intended to assure that signs in a resort area possess architectural integrity compatible with the uses to which they relate. It is further provided that signs for uses in (b) above may be permitted and regulated under the provisions of said Chapters.

(d) Night lighting of activities other than normal safety lighting is not considered an accessory use and night lighting of activities is permitted only as approved by "Plan Approval".

22.59.040. Uses permitted by use permit.

The following uses upon the securing of a use permit therefor which permit may be issued only after the additional finding has been made that such use will not be contrary to the purposes of the R-C-R District.

(1) An additional main use (set forth in Section 22.59.030).
(2) Any main use in Section 22.59.030 on a parcel of land meeting minimum requirements but not meeting those in said section.
(3) Hunting lodge, gun club, archery range or course, golf driving range without lights, stable or riding academy but not pony rides, animal grazing, hotel, motel or boatel complex with normal accessory uses, youth camp, plant nursery, child care center, accessory dwelling units, boat launching facilities with necessary parking, repair, rental or sale of recreational equipment, personal service uses when in conjunction with some main use.
(4) Other uses which the Planning Commission finds desirable or which are found to be necessary for public service, utility service or for servicing the recreation industry, in a specific R-C-R District. In making this finding the Planning Commission shall consider the locational, availability and trade area aspects of regular commercial districts and service areas outside the R-C-R District and shall not permit such use if it properly belongs in one of the regular commercial districts.

22.59.050. Required building site area and width.

Each use unless otherwise restricted shall be located on a parcel of land in one ownership having at least a forty foot frontage on a street and large enough to contain an area of two (2) acres having an average minimum dimension of two hundred (200) feet, except that any use permit or plan approval may specify a larger area which must be maintained for any given use.

22.59.060. Required yards.

Each building site shall have and maintain front, side and rear yards each having a minimum dimension of 100 feet except that any use permit and/or plan approval may reduce this dimension when found necessary, justifiable and not detrimental to the purposes of the specific R-C-R District after considering the feasibility of alternate plans, the character of the general area, street widening needs, depth of usable land, necessity or desirability for filling and any other related matter; and may increase such requirement when found necessary to promote the purposes of the R-C-R District and to assure compatibility with surrounding anticipated or existing uses.

22.59.070. Height limit of buildings.

No building shall have more than two (2) stories except that plan approval may permit a greater height if a specific finding is made specifying that such additional height is not detrimental to the puposes of the district.

22.59.080. Plan approval.

With the exception of Section 22.59.030(5) above no use may be established and no development or improvement or change in land form or clearing of trees may be started until or unless plans for such action are first approved.

22.59.090. Application for plan approval.

Application for such "Plan Approval" shall be on a form approved by the Planning Commission and shall be accompanied by the following:

(A) Site plans to appropriate sale showing:

(1) Existing: location, size, boundary dimensions and topography of property; structures, improvements, uses, major physical features, roads, channels, access and other matters as necessary to give a complete understanding of the property in its existing condition.

(2) Proposed: boundaries, new streets, channels or roads, widening and/or realignment of existing roads; activity areas, structures, fencing, planting and other improvements; filling, earth movement, tree removal (if any); signs (if not part of buildings).

(B) Plans and elevations of proposed buildings, signs and other structures, including exterior material and colors.

(C) Information and a statement of standards to be employed necessary to assure that drainage, flood control, tidal action, sewage disposal, utilities, roads, access, safety, parking, maintenance and other similar matters have been considered and proper provision for each has been made.

(D) An application for "Plan Approval" may be combined with an application for a Use Permit as one application with one filing fee.

(E) An application for "Plan Approval" shall be deemed to satisfy the requirement for an application which would otherwise be required under the provisions of Chapter 22.82 of this Code.

(F) A filing fee of twenty (20) dollars.

22.59.100. Action by Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission may approve, conditionally approve or deny any application for "Plan Approval". In considering an application it is paramount that the Planning Commission keep in mind the purposes of the district and to this end shall endeavor to provide that all buildings, structures and other improvements shall be so designed, sited and constructed and uses so arranged that they will not hinder the orderly and harmonious development of surrounding and related areas, and with other uses in the district will combine to promote the health, safety, peace, morals, comfort, economic stability, convenience and general welfare of the district and related areas.

The Planning Commission's action shall set forth any mandatory findings and may specify any condition which can reasonably be shown to relate to the above considerations and to the purposes of the district.

SECTION 8: Effective date. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days from and after the date of its adoption and shall be published at least once within fifteen (15) days after its adoption, in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published within the County.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Sweat Glands Work Day, Night As Cooling System For Body

VAN DELLEN

Sweat glands work day and night. The amount of water lost through the skin depends upon atmospheric temperature and humidity, mental and physical activity, clothing and diet. Some individuals perspire more than others. At normal temperatures sweating may not be noticeable because it evaporates immediately. The glands really go to work when the skin temperature reaches 90 degrees F.

Perspiration increases when the thermometer rises, and evaporates more quickly when the air is dry. This is why high temperatures are better tolerated when the moisture content of the air is low. In contrast, evaporation is curtailed when humidity is high. The sweat remains and the skin feels sticky and clammy. This is minimized by wearing clothing that absorbs perspiration and is porous, airy, and light.

SWEAT IS A WEAK solution of sodium chloride (ordinary salt) and water, with urea and traces of calcium, iron, potassium, and lactic acid. The loss of these chemicals is not important unless perspiration is profuse or strenuous work is performed for a long period of time in a torrid clime. Acclimatization is important because the loss of chemicals in sweat is reduced considerably among those accustomed to working in hot areas.

Daily water loss from the body may vary from three to 10 quarts under extreme conditions. Salt deficiency leads to muscle cramps in the legs and abdomen, and dehydration or heat exhaustion may be the aftermath of excessive fluid loss. The deficit is made up by drinking more fluids and consuming additional salt.

THOSE USING diuretic tablets, such as a chlorothiazide, should be on the alert in hot weather, especially when sweating is profuse. These tablets encourage the kidneys to excrete more sodium and signs of salt deficiency occur more quickly when the renal loss is added to that in perspiration.

These persons are advised to increase their salt intake in summer while using a diuretic.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ROUGHAGE

M. F. writes: What foods are classified as roughage?

REPLY

Foods with a high fiber content such as bran, corn, dried beans, nuts, raisins, and fruits with small seeds and skins. The list should include those edibles that are overfried or overcooked to the extent of becoming potential mechanical irritants.

SECOND SIGHT

N. C. writes: I'm 76 and have worn bifocals for years. Now I don't need glasses for reading. Should I consult an eye specialist?

REPLY

There is no hurry so long as you are content with your vision at this time. Second sight at your age may be an early sign of cataract.

PROSTATIC STONES

U. V. writes: Do stones in the prostate call for removal of the organ?

REPLY

If stones are small and not causing trouble, the physician usually advises letting well enough alone. If large stones are bothersome, surgery may be required and occasionally the prostate must be removed.

PILONIDAL CYST

H. E. E. writes: Could you please tell me something about a cyst that forms at the base of the spine? I think it begins with a "p."

REPLY

Pilonidal cyst. This stems from faulty development of the skin in this area prior to birth. It is not troublesome unless the lesion becomes infected.

FACIAL DEVELOPMENT

A.G.J. writes: At what age do the nose and chin attain full development?

REPLY

When the body is fully grown; approximately age 20 in males and somewhat earlier in females.

RECONSTRUCTION

W.K. writes: What is a GU plastic? If it is done, will this permanently eliminate the problem of stricture in the urethra at the neck of the bladder?

REPLY

This is a reconstruction job on the genitourinary tract. If successful, it should eliminate the narrowed segment near the opening of the bladder.

STRAINED MUSCLES

A. E. C. writes: I ski and ice skate a lot. I get terrible leg cramps, especially when I'm in bed and stretch my legs. Sometimes the pain is so severe I cannot stand. Should a person take extra salt in the diet to eliminate this condition?

REPLY

The muscles are strained during vigorous skiing and skating. They are irritated by the end of the day and cramp when overstretched. Extra salt is not needed unless sweating is profuse.

PARROT FEVER

L. B. writes: Could sleeping in a room with a parrot cause emphysema? The bird has been in the family more than 30 years.

REPLY

Parrot fever (psittacosis) is an infectious form of pneumonia caused by inhaling dust containing the droppings of infected birds. There is no need for concern unless the bird is ill. I assume the emphysema was not preceded by asthma. This could stem from an allergy to feathers.

THE NOSE AND MODELING

N. G. writes: I have all the qualifications for a model but my nose is too wide. Would you advise plastic surgery?

REPLY

When the occupation or career is jeopardized by a defect of this kind, plastic surgery should be considered.

Axle Is Blamed For Derailment

BARSTOW (AP)— A broken axle is blamed for the derailment of 34 cars of an 86-car Santa Fe freight train on the desert 40 miles east of here.

Four of the cars burst into flames after the derailment yesterday and toxic fumes spread out across the desert for several hours.

Santa Fe officials said the broken axle derailed the westbound train's second car as it neared Pisgah Siding. This car dragged the other 33 off the rails.

Novato Sanitary Annexes Get Nod

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission today approved two annexations, totaling 43 acres, to the Novato Sanitary District.

Both the 35-acre Vineyard Road annexation, on both sides of Vineyard Road west of Wilson Avenue, and the eight-acre Robert Wisgerhof annexation, near the east end of McClay Circle, are outside the Novato city boundaries.

Commission members Bert W. Broemmel and Byron W. Leydecker were absent.

Humphrey To Talk On Fair Employment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the scheduled speaking guest tonight at a Western Plans for Progress conference in San Francisco.

The vice president's talk was to be a concluding feature of an all-day conference of the Northwest Plans for Progress conference on equal employment.

Becomes Ensign

Edward L. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morgan of 97 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, was commissioned ensign in the Navy last Saturday and graduated Sunday from Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind., receiving his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering.

Bike Rider Bruised

Jack Ambrose, 12, of 2500 Opalstone Drive, Marinwood, was bruised on his mouth and hands at 6:26 p.m. yesterday when he fell off his bicycle at 2594 Las Gallinas Avenue. The Marinwood Fire Department gave first aid.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Alabama Show Good As Far As It Goes

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"ABC Scope" focused on the University of Alabama last night for a brief examination of some attitudes toward integration and segregation there.

One half-hour program. "Southern Campus: The Quiet Revolution," offered the impression that some, and even much, progress has been made in coming to grips with the problem. Yet it was difficult for the distant viewer to determine whether those students who spoke on the broadcast — most of all of them seeming to have a generally moderate view — were typical, or even the majority spokesman, or what percentage of those on campus they represented. "ABC Scope" would have done much better to have tried to pin down this point more exactly.

The attitude of the half-hour reflected pretty well the position of University of Alabama President Frank A. Rose, a native Mississippian who said he wouldn't tolerate violence at the school from extremists on either side. Another native Mississippian, Thomas Moore, president of ABC TV, recently made a commencement speech at the University of Alabama, advocating moderation and constructiveness, and part of this address was seen on last night's program.

The much-publicized Alabama Negro student, Vivian Malone, was interviewed on the broadcast. So was Rose. In addition, there were some moments from an "American studies seminar" at the university in which the integration issue was discussed, and it was here that the general impression of the program seemed to stand out. A talk with some art students furthered this impression. And so did a talk with a Negro law student. Again, though, it was difficult to feel that one knew for certain that the impression was typical of the overwhelming feeling. It may well be, but some hard reporting was in order. Nevertheless—a stimulating half-hour, as far as it went, and at least from one major point of view.

Police Criticise Hospital Care

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A police sergeant has told the city retirement board that injured fellow officers and firemen are not receiving proper emergency treatment at San Francisco General Hospital.

Sgt. Joseph Donegan said yesterday he was investigating recent incidents involving delay and lack of cooperation. He cited one instance in which an injured officer lay unattended for seven hours on a hospital guerney.

Supervisor Joseph E. Tinney, a board member, promised an investigation.

More Sit-Ins Stipulate Case

BERKELEY (AP)—A total of 188 defendants in the University of California sit-in trial agreed yesterday to submit their cases on the basis of testimony presented during the current mass trial of 155 sit-ins. A group toaling 122 made the same submission earlier in the month.

The defendants appeared before Municipal Court Judge Rupert Crittenden in assembly-line fashion in yesterday's mass submission. Judge Crittenden has predicted a verdict within two weeks.

There are 465 defendants in all.

S. Koreans Nab Red Smugglers

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The South Korean navy announced today that it seized two armed North Korean boats in South Korean territorial waters off the east coast last night.

The navy said 28 persons aboard the Communist boats were arrested and a variety of arms were taken.

The two boats apparently were smuggling Communist agents into South Korea, the navy said.

Train Victim's Mother Sues

OAKLAND (UPI)—The mother of a 6-year-old boy whose legs were severed when he was run over by a train filed suit yesterday for $1 million against the Santa Fe Railway.

Mrs. Pearl Holmes, in the suit filed in Alameda County Superior Court, charged that the railroad operates an "attractive nuisance" to children who are getting out of school at the time the freight passes the 56th Street and Lowell intersection where the accident occurred.

Her son, Monty Holmes, fell under a slow moving freight on June 2. A team of surgeons at Herrick Memorial Hospital sewed one of his severed legs back on and he remains in critical condition.

Junior College Pay Tops Trustee Agenda

Trustees og Marin Junior College District tonight are scheduled to spend most of their meeting again discussing salaries as part of the 1966 fiscal year budget. The meeting is to start at 8 p.m. in Room 24, Harlan Hall, on the College of Marin campus.

Other items on the agenda include review of plans to provide more parking space, and a report by planning and research coordinator James Duke on progress of construction on campus.

Larkspur Trustees To Order Furniture

The Larkspur School District board is scheduled to call for bids for new library furniture at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

The board will also receive a letter from the Corte Madera Town Council asking more financial support to community recreation programs. Reports will be made on summer school and on the enrichment program for seventh and eighth grades.

Student To Sell Note From JFK

FRESNO (AP) — A Fresno State College student is trying to sell a letter from the late President John F. Kennedy to get money for a summer to his native India.

Genesh Kamath, a graduate student in biology, said he received the letter from then Senator Kennedy in 1960 when he inquired about a scholarship. It is one of his most prized possessions.

He said the death of a brother has intensified his desire to go home for the summer.

Kamath is from Trichur, a village on India's eastern coast.

Rural Youngsters Chat With Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson played host to some 600 rural youngsters yesterday and told them they were "part of what I like to call the volunteer generation."

The President pointed to participation by young Americans in such activities as the Peace Corps, the anti-poverty campaign and Project Head Start to aid pre-school children from impoverished families.

Humphrey Tells Grads To Build For Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, addressing 1,500 graduates of Fordham University yesterday, compared the pursuit of peace to the building of a great cathedral, as "it is the work of generations."

Then he added, "I ask this graduating class to add its building blocks to the cathedral of peace."

Anti-Dirty Word Mail Banned By Officials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Postal authorities here have forbidden the San Diego-based Californians for Morality from mentioning even in protest, a four-letter sex word.

The anti-obscenity group's mailings contained the word in derisive quotes from the abortive dirty word movement at the University of California at Berkeley.

GOP Women Slated To Hear Christopher

Former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, mentioned as possible candidate for governor in 1966, is scheduled to speak to the Marin Federated Republican Women next Tuesday.

The women will meet at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the home of Mrs. Gerry Olinger, 207 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield. Only 40 prepaid reservations will be accepted, according to president Barbara Hennessy.

West End School's Favorite Factotum Will Retire Soon

Emile Larrouy 'Owns' Building In Pupils' Eyes

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Three first graders were talking in the hallway one recent day at San Rafael's West End School.

"Who do you think owns the school?" asked one boy.

"My dad," said the other, and this brought frowns of disbelief.

"I know," the third youngster announced, "Frenchy owns it." His two friends accepted this without further comment.

REAL NAME

"Frenchy," whose real name is Emile Larrouy, may not actually own the school, but in some ways he has come to know it better than anyone else in the last six years as he polished its desks, scrubbed its floors — and endeared himself to its pupils.

His 14-year carrer with San Rafael city schools will end, however, on the last day of this month.

Larrouy lives at 5 Dolores Street with his wife, Elise, and youngest daughter, Valerie, 20. He came to this country — and to San Rafael — in 1923, and has been here ever since, not even taking a trip back to his native France. He came here largely because his brother-in-law, Matt J. Hart (now retired as assistant fire chief) lived in San Rafael.

BAY AREA

After 19 years working for laundries in the Bay Area, including many in Marin, he went to work for the Elks Club as a custodian, the job he held nine years. Then he went to work for the city schools, starting at the old B Street School.

'SO LONG, MR. FRENCHY'—Two pupils at West End School, San Rafael, stop to chat with custodian Emile Larrouy, known to many youngsters and teachers as just plain "Frenchy." After endearing himself to the school's children for six years, Larrouy will bid them "adieu" when school ends next week. He is set to retire June 30. (Independent-Journal photo)

"I just change from one corner to the other," he explains in the accent all West End pupils and teachers know well.

He works at several different schools, finally settling at this one.

Once he did all the work; now "the heart is not so good" and someone else mows the lawn.

After not leaving the state of California in 42 years, Frenchy will fly to Montreal in July for a month's stay with a nephew. When he comes back, he will "work some at small jobs" to keep up the taxes on his home, but will relax some, too, admiring the watch given him as a retirement gift by the school employees association, and keeping in touch with his 73-year-old brother, Theophile, back in Bass-Pyrenees, France.

He will have more time to spend with his two other daughters, Mrs. Elena Neal of Richmond and Mrs. Lucy Pedroli of San Rafael, as well as his seven grandchildren. But he admits he will miss the children, who made their affection plain on May 6, his 65th birthday.

"When they see me, they say 'happy birthday, Mr. Frenchy!' And they give me a big stack of cards."

First graders next fall may have a hard time figuring who owns West End School. Frenchy won't be there.

Arraignment On Waldo Death Due

David Howard Morton, 36, San Francisco, was scheduled for arraignment this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor manslaughter charge in the Saturday traffic death of a pregnant Daly City mother.

Morton, employee of a San Rafael auto dealer, was arrested Tuesday night by California Highway Patrol and booked in county jail. He made $1,100 bail.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Donald E. Paterson said the complaint alleges manslaughter without gross negligence.

Simone Ann Smith, 25, a cocktail waitress and mother of a young daughter, died after the car in which she was riding was struck by an auto driven the wrong way down Highway 101's Waldo Grade by Morton, officers said.

Morton suffered a cut lip. The driver of the second vehicle, Douglas C. Smith, 20, San Francisco, was uninjured.

Marin Art Students' Works In Exhibition

Works by four Marin County students are on exhibit through June 17 at the San Francisco Art Institute.

On view are paintings by Mrs. Edwin F. Burmester of San Anselmo, sculpture by Barbara Cotterell of Novato, drawings by Guy Cavalli of San Rafael and by Robert Flowerman of Corte Madera. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

Carpenters Set New Journey Of Good Will

Two Marin County carpenters will leave for McComb, Miss., Friday to assist in a project to rebuild a burned church.

They are Alfred E. Lowry of Mill Valley and Arthur Wesley of San Anselmo. Driving with them in a pickup truck will be two San Francisco carpenters, Tom Yoneda and Lang Russell.

The four will haul along a trailer load of canned goods for distribution to the needy in McComb. They will work on rebuilding Mount Vernon Baptist Church.

The men are the latest to take part in the project sponsored by the Pacific Yearly Meeting of the Society of Friends and the Committee of Concern in Mississippi. Last year the two groups decided to work on rebuilding some 50 burned and bombed Negro churches. Thirty churches have been rebuilt to date.

The four men will spend two weeks on the project. Lowry also spent two weeks in Mississippi in April.

Edna Maguire Graduation Set For 343

Three hundred and 43 pupils are to be graduated from eighth grade of Mill Valley's Edna Maguire School on June 17 in the school annex. It is the largest class the school has graduated.

Rev. R. Y. Gerrard, pastor of Mill Valley Southern Baptist Church, will give the invocation at the program which starts at 11 A.M. There will be songs by the school's girls' chorus, a bassoon solo by Ann Brezina, and a violin solo by Kenneth Bott. Student speaker is John Bonhoff. Ellen Rosenthal, student body president, will welcome visitors.

Diplomas will be presented by G. R. McConnell, district superintendent, and Principal Dominic Bobbio. Mrs. Joyce Gross, school board trustee, will speak briefly.

Students will hold a dance from 8 to 11 P.M. on the same day at Park School.

SAFETY HINT—It's more fun to swim with a companion and safer, too. If you get in trouble, there's someone to help you out, or summon help. Always swim with a buddy, the Red Cross says.

Graduation For 105 Set At Fairfax

"A Better World Through Education" will be the theme when 105 Fairfax Central School graduates receive diplomas next Thursday. Commencement exercises, to be held at Manor School on Oak Manor Drive, will begin at 8 p.m.

Diplomas to the 53 boys and 52 girls will be awarded by Fairfax School trustees Ray Barnes and George Stone.

Student body president Fred Wescott will introduce student speakers Michael Levy, Rosana Orr, Katherine Brooke and Carolyn Pedersen.

Rev. James P. Sherman, pastor of the Fairfax Community Church, will offer the invocation and benediction.

Musical solos will be performed by trumpeter Daryl Lockman and soprano Terry Withers.

Camp Counselors

Homestead Valley Improvement Club directors Tuesday agreed to ask for volunteer student camp counselors to work in the summer recreation program Aug. 2-26 at Homestead School. Persons interested may get in touch with Mrs. Tama S. McNerny, 522 Pixie Trail, Mill Valley.

Public May Yet See JFK Film

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commercial distribution within the United states of a movie made to tell the world about the late President John F. Kennedy has been approved by the House.

The Senate still must act on the resolution, which was approved 311 to 75 in the House yesterday.

Republicans led the opposition on grounds commercial distribution might cheapen the 90-minute color film, entitled "John F. Kennedy, Years of Lighting, Day of Drums."

When the U. S. Information Agency was authorized to produce the film, it was prohibited by Congress from showing it within the country.

IT'S THE MOST VALUABLE PERFORMER OF 1965!

FRANKLY, IT'S A GIANT VALUE, HERMAN.

It may be early in the baseball season, but it's World Series time in automobiles and Coronet is leading its league!

Coronet is a brand new, hot new, gorgeous new Dodge at a new lower price. And it offers you more than any other car in its price range.

You're dubious? We're Dodge Boys. Read on.

Compared to other cars in its price class, Coronet gives you more in horsepower, wheelbase, overall length, and brake area. Plus definitely superior suspension. You get more for your dollar.

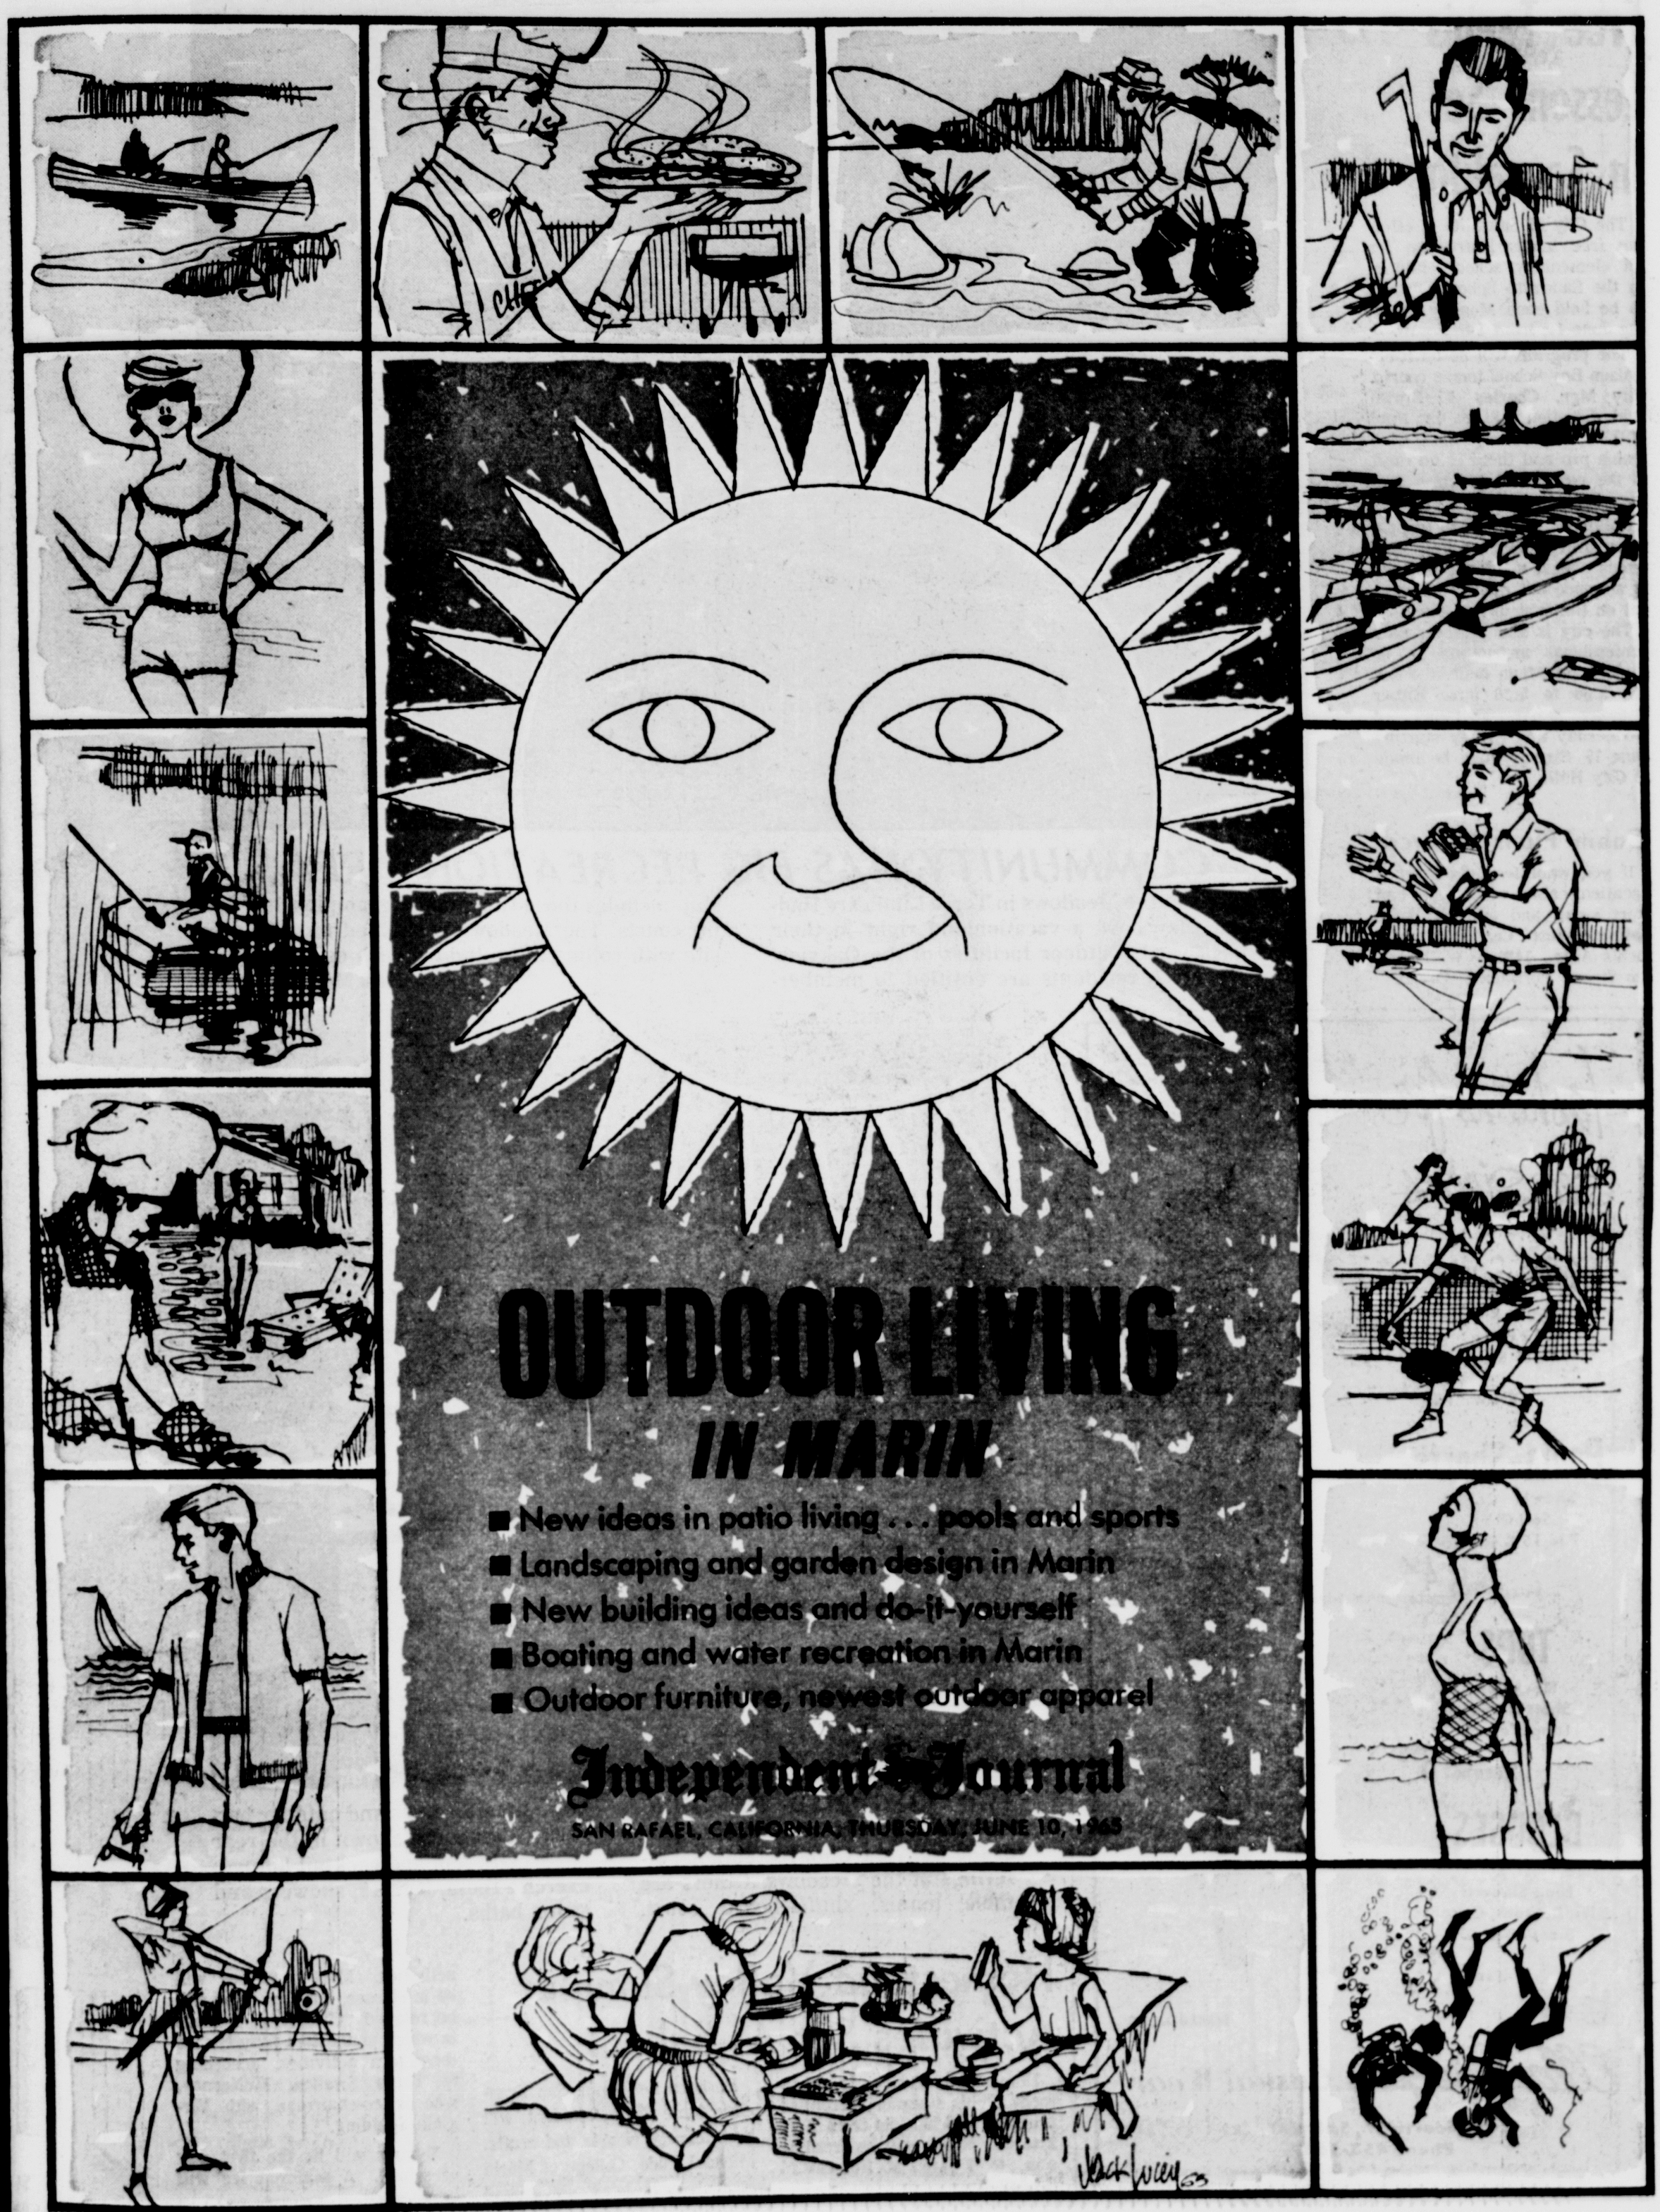

You can have a smartly-styled Coronet in any model with almost any kind of power you desire. Want a thrifty six? We got it. Want a medium-size V-8? Sure. Want a power plant that'll outrun antelopes, round up wild ponies and tame cats of any size? We've got a 4 barrel, V-8 that turns out 365 horsepower. Or—if you're really serious about this thing—a wild wedge so powerful you can only drive it on a drag strip! Any questions?

Like we said, Coronet is the performer of the year. A giant value, Herman. Frankly.

Go see the Dodge Boys — Wonderful guys to deal with!

Homestead Valley Summer Activities Set At School

Homestead Valley Improvement Club's summer recreation program will be held from Aug. 2 to 26. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Homestead School.

Barbara Benjamin, San Francisco State College student, will be in charge of arts and crafts. Michael Rude, College of Marin student, will head playground activities. Most activities will be in classes, but there also will be relaxed "clubhouse" periods in which youngsters may choose their own activities, according to Tama Swallow McNerney, who is co-chairman with Virginia Spalding.

Signups will be the first day of school. A minimal fee will be charged.

Portable Fence Gives Privacy To Sun Bathers

For a few dollars, backyard or rooftop sunbathers can avoid the gazes of neighbors, simply by building a portable privacy fence.

Made in the shape of an eight-foot square, the enclosure includes eight four-foot lengths of 2x4-inch lumber to which are fastened two-foot strips of weather-proof hardboard placed horizontally midway between the tops and bottoms of the lumber supports.

Long bolts and nuts may be used at the corners to hold the privacy fence together and simplify taking it down for storage. The weather - proof hardboard panels may be nailed to the posts.

For the best appearance, prime all parts, inside and out, and brush on two coats of exterior grade house paint.

Open design of the enclosure permits full exposure to the sun and entrance of breezes from above and below the hardboard panels, which are at just the right height to discourage curious neighbors.

UMBRELLA-LIKE TOP, RIGID SIDES. Paradome, backyard or vacation home folds up in accordion pleats, making a package small enough to be transported conveniently by car or station wagon. Roof and floor are nylon, sides are fiberglass. By removing panels, ventilation can be controlled to any degree.

Auto Is Your Key To Outdoor Joys

Americans in their millions are on the move again.

Each spring and summer a exodus to the outdoors takes place. The popularity of outdoor recreation is reaching staggering proportions, and at the center of this fast-growing recreation boom is the automobile.

For the majority of Americans their whole way of life revolves around the automobile. It is estimated that 90 per cent of adults engage in at least one outdoor recreational activity each year, and half the population take an annual vacation trip.

Increased leisure, increased spending money, and, of course, the car have made the outdoor recreation expansion possible. Whether camping, boating, hunting, or hiking, each season brings with it a new wave of enthusiasts.

Nearly 20 million acres of California land belong to the public for their recreational use. National, state, and local parks have tripled in recent years. Last season's number of outdoor enthusiasts reached record-breaking figures, with the probability of even more campers, picnickers, and sports enthusiasts swarming to the outdoors this season.

The road has become the gateway to pleasure. The car allows freedom to pick the spot on the map and the opportunity to pursue the individual interest, fishing, climbing, golfing, skiing, swimming, horseback riding.

Over 1,300 miles of California coastline await you, over a million acres of California land are yours to roam.

New Idea Offers Traveller A Portable 'Instant Cabin'

A rigid but portable outdoor cabin made of aluminum, plastic and nylon is the new product of a manufacturing firm in Guadalupe, Santa Barabara County.

"Paradome," a 12-sided house for beach, camping or backyard cabana, folds into a 90-pound package which can be carried in station wagon, car trunk or on top of the car. Two persons can set it up in 20 minutes.

Panels have sturdy lightweight aluminum frames and are covered with reinforced fiberglass. Roof and floor are reinforced nylon fabric. Side panels are so constructed that the vinyl sections may be removed, leaving screens for ventilation.

The house offers 123 square feet of floor space and full head room.

Donald R. Wilson, Kentfield manufacturer's representative, is agent for Paradome in Northern California. In Marin County, it is being sold at retail by Casper's, 60 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

PARADOME INTERIOR gives 123 square feet of floor space and full headroom. Rigid panels permit shelf or table attachments as shown here. It uses no poles and no interior obstructions are necessary to hold the enclosure in place. Paradome is now being shown at Casper's in San Anselmo.

Tips For Home, Travel Will Help 'See America First' Vacationers

In cooperation with President Lyndon B. Johnson's appeal urging Americans to "see the U.S.A." here are several valuable tips designed to help travelers stretch their motoring dollars, and get the most out of that long-awaited vacation.

Many Americans have been abroad, but still have not enjoyed all the highlights of their own country, through, perhaps, a sectional tour this summer.

Why not visit the Pacific Northwest? This area, comprising the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming is considered by many seasoned travelers to be the most beautiful in the U.S. From the mountain lakes and snow-capped peaks of Olympic National Park, Washington and the Grand Tetons of Wyoming, to the long stretches of sandy Oregon beach, tourists will delight in a variety of attractions and experiences.

In assisting tourists in getting the most out of motoring, NAC offers these helpful hints:

CHECKLIST

1. Stop newspaper and milk delivery.

2. Notify phone company (a reduced rate is offered if away from home a month or more).

3. Alert local police of your absence.

4. Leave vacation address and phone number with a neighbor.

CAR CARE

1. Give your automobile a physical. A checkup before your trip can save the expense and inconvenience of a breakdown while traveling. Special attention should be given tires and radiator.

2. Carry road flares, a flashlight and water bag.

PERSONAL COMFORT

1. Don't carry too much luggage.

2. Bring games and cards for the children.

3. Check weather conditions in the area to be visited, and pack only appropriate clothing.

4. Stop between 4 and 5 p.m. to make certain accommodations are available.

ROCK SALT USED IN CONCRETE DECKING

Known as the "Islander," this is the most popular model constructed by Blue Haven Pools. Rock salt mixed in concrete for the decking is dissolved, leaving a porous finish. Semi-rigid plastic dividers are used at expansion joints. The pool was built for Walter Early in Kent Woodlands.

Pool Gadgets Rank You In The Social Swim

You aren't in the social swim merely because you have a pool or two in your backyard. This year the question is: how are your swimming pool accessories?

There is nothing so bare looking as yesterday's plain pool, as many a pool owner will tell you. The thing that sets a pool apart from other swimming pools in the neighborhood, they say, are ingenious additions such as underwater lights and floating chaise lounges.

The lounges in tubular aluminum frames are considered the piece de resistance of pool buffs. And to be really with it, they should have seats and backs with receptacles in each arm for glasses.

If one gets bored just lying around on the water, there's a floating basketball game complete with a floating hoop and an inflatable ball. And you can have your libation while you are playing, with glasses floating on coasters that resemble miniture life rings. Or take your drinks from plastic containers that float, offering more safety than glass at the water.

Once out of the pool, dry off while you play a game of magnetic cards on a magnetic card tray guaranteed to defy winds up to 35 miles an hour.

Carts on wheels come in handy around a pool to haul food from one spot to another. One table 12 inches in diameter is a conversation piece housing a temperature and humidity indicator. There are grooved nonslip mats both decorative and serviceable.

Aluminum screen houses are still popular additions to any pool, a nice place to cool off, warm up or take telephone calls. Visitors who like poolside parties but don't swim need not fear practical jokers in the crowd with a new aqua aid that is worn on the wrist—a plastic box with compressed air that inflates a life-saving gizmo. It is said to be able to hold up a fully clothed person for hours.

Pools are color coordinated too, more than in recent years. Turquoise and white striped cabanas have replaced red and white in most areas.

"Everyone is so unihibited about color, though, that just about everything goes now," says industrial designer John Brice who decorated a couple of water spots at the famous Westbury Gardens on Long Island for an American Institute of Interior Designers show. "Orange and pink are more likely colors to be seen at pools than color combinations like red and white."

Brice suggests considering nature's colors that are most prominent at your pool before coming to a decision — green (grass) and turquoise (water) are the two colors to work with. They coordinate with lots of other colors so pick as many as you like, he says. He and his wife, Earline, with whom he does styling for towels and carpets, designed some pretty attractive towels for this display and then discovered there was no place to hang them. So they devised an interesting tier towel table for the purpose. They put it between two lounges where it also serves as a service table.

Another of their settings was a raft covered in acriland duck with a large umbrella in the center.

Talk about getting away from it all in comfort. It's easy if you own a swimming pool.

How To Liven Up Flat, Bleak Yards

Do you have a back yard that is as flat as the deck of an aircraft carrier? Then, my friend, you have trouble.

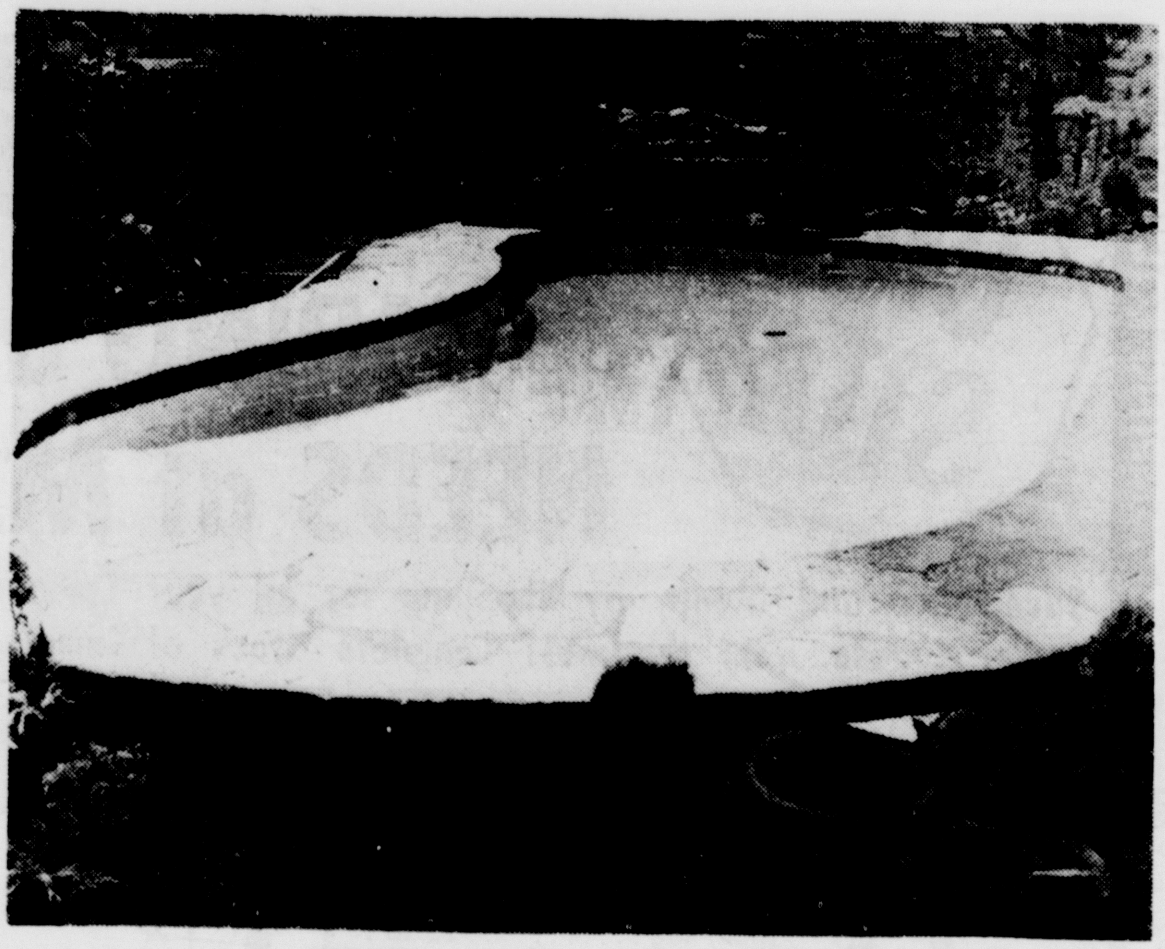

The dull, ballpark look of your back yard can easily be changed. All you have to do is break up the flat areas and install some structures that give a change in elevation.

There are several ways to do this. One of the most simple is to install some baffle screens, about eight feet long, which should be treated as sectionals. They are easy to build out of light weight lumber like western red cedar. Just build a frame, maybe six feet high, of sturdy 2 by 4s, set into 4 by 4 posts. On to this frame you can build almost any sort of fence. It can be louvered, it can be board-on-board, or it can be woven to get a pattern .

Now, you must figure out where you want these screens.

The best way is to use two or three in a sort of offset sequence, like a sawtooth. Leave spacing between each one. Then plant gardens in front of these screens, or even on both sides. This will create an interest area. You may even want to build more than one such installation.

Another good structure is a pergola, which can be built over a pathway. It can be used to hide a compost pile or other unsightly areas. The pergola should be designed by an architect or someone who has skill. The upright posts should be 4 by 4 inches square, and the framework can be 2 by 4s, with lattice work in 1 by 4s.

POOL HAS LAKE EFFECT

Outdoor Living Spaces Can Give Older House New Lease On Life

The living space of the average older house stopped at its walls, despite the fact that some of the most enjoyable space a house can provide is outdoors.

Today's houses are designed with this fact in mind but many millions of these older houses, although still solid and serviceable, are so introverted by inward-turning walls that they cannot adequately serve modern family living patterns.

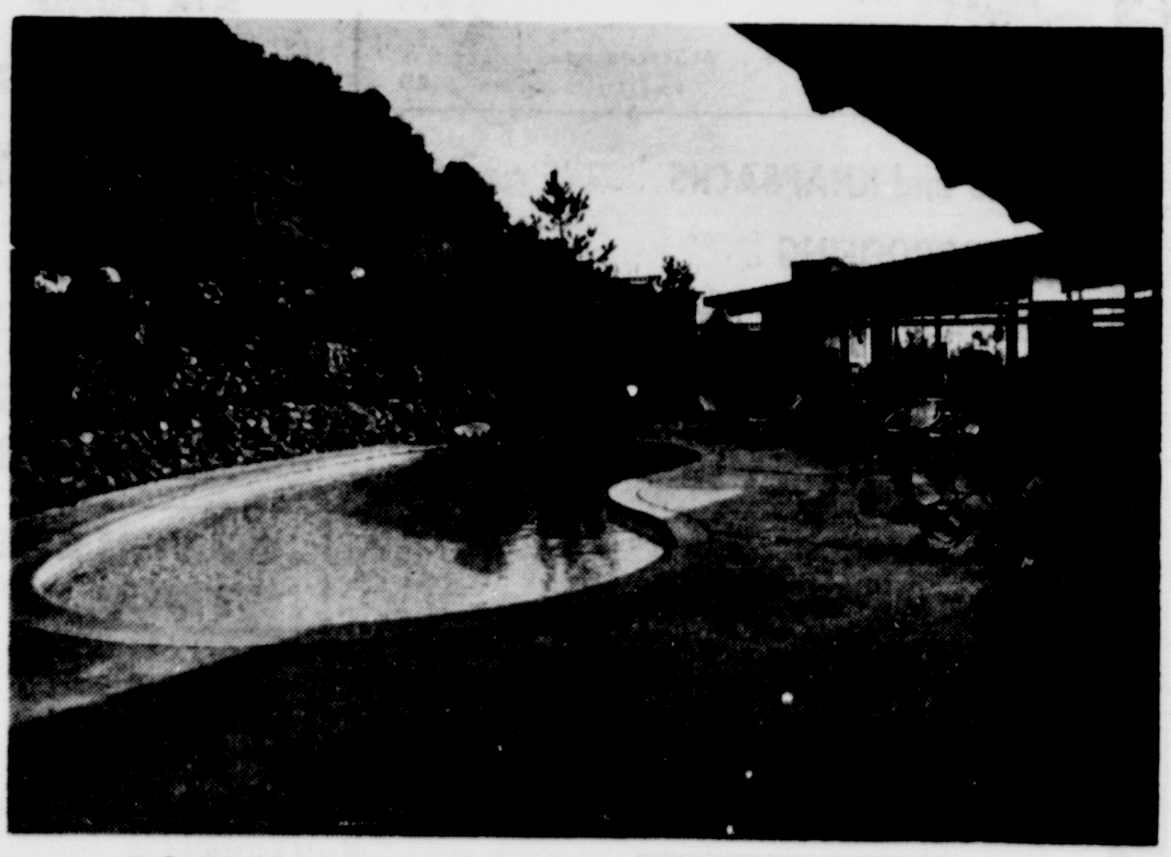

Countless stretches of pleasant lawn and old-fashioned gardens of great charm throughout the country are virtually unused or enjoyed for an occasional stroll because a focus of family interest and a means of easy access have not been provided.

Many of these houses can shed 30 years or more simply by the creation of outdoor living space. The construction of a patio or deck and the installation of a colorful, aluminum patio can achieve an amazing "modernized" effect. The key to success in such a conversion is to place the facility where the flow of traffic between indoors and out will be made easy.

A custom aluminum patio cover will provide shelter for all-weather dining and entertaining and at the same time help create the sense of privacy which all outdoor living space should have.

Further containment, which may be required if the patio is exposed to the street or the view of neighbors, can be accomplished by greenery, a wall or fence, or by using the recently - developed aluminum sun screen, which will also provide shade and a modern architectural effect.

If positioning your family recreation center properly should require a new entryway from the house, the widened door or glass panels will bring you a bonus by making the adjacent room lighter and more livable.

POOL HAS PROTECTION ON ALL SIDES

This 34-foot kidney shaped swimming pool at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Larry Garrett in Fairhills is enclosed skilfully from the wind by the hillside and by the L-shaped house designed and built by William H. McDevitt Co. Pink, black and white outdoor furniture and generous size terrace complete this outdoor entertainment center.

Boat, Photo Hobbies Good Pals

Camera fans have discovered the fun and adventure of boating with its pictorial ingredients of water, sky and action. But they also encounter problems in protecting equipment, preventing spoiled or overexposed films and out-guessing the unsteady balance of a boat.

For more effective marine pictures, here are some suggestions:

Cameras in 33mm or 2¼ x 2¼ size are more convenient to handle than larger cameras. A wide-angle lens is a great help in shooting in the confines of a boat and its greater depth of field is valuable when shooting other subjects with part of the boat included in the foreground.

A telephoto lens is useful to make distant subject matter more meaningful. Distances are deceptive on water: a far-away coast line or a boat looks good to the eye but is lost in a print.

Take all the film you are likely to need — and then some more. Camera stores are not as handy nor accessories as available as in your neighborhood store. Use film you are familiar with and shoot a lot. A picture record of all activities is a ship's log in photos.

Keep written records in a handy notebook of shooting conditions and exposures, dates, places and people. Collect maps, brochures and mementos to help identify pictures later and add useful information.

Keep extra film wrapped in a plastic envelope and store it in a cool or shaded spot. It may be kept in an icebox if there is one on the boat but when taken out for use it should be allowed to reach surrounding temperature first.

Camera and equipment must be protected from spray and from sun. Wipe off any salt spray with a cloth moistened with fresh water.

Keep a lens cap on camera between shooting sessions and use a lens shade while shooting. It keeps stray light from the lens and protects it too.

A shooting stance on a moving boat must allow for wave action, boat rolling or a sudden lurch. A camera close to the face can result in a skinned nose or a black eye. Keep feet wide apart, knees bent, arms flexible but firm. The body becomes a human tripod which absorbs shocks and compensates for the boat's motion.

Light-meter readings must be taken so as not to be influenced by expanse of sky or reflections on water to avoid underexposure. The exception, however, is when silhouette shots are wanted or mood pictures in which the shadow details are not needed.

To shoot another boat, travel alongside at the same speed and shoot at 1/25 second. The boat will be sharp but the slow shooting speed will result in a blur of water giving the impression of great speed.

Panning with the camera while shooting a fast-moving boat is another method of heightening the effect of speed. In this case the shooting speed should be at least 1/200 to get a sharp picture of the boat while all else is blurred. This technique is also good for water skiing, aquaplaning and other water sports.

Beware of horizon lines bisecting the photo or of not being level. Select a higher or lower viewpoint but keep the camera level. A boat may be tilted to suggest action if the horizon line doesn't show. Reflections in water make good pictures too.

Marine moods like mist, fog or storm make good pictures. Don't put the camera away—protect it, dress for the occasion and shoot. Look for authentic props, marine atmosphere and seafaring people to enhance boat pictures either as foreground interest or background atmosphere.

Trees Tell Stories

Scientists can tell by studying the rings of a tree all about the climate, whether there was drought or heavy rains, if fires struck the tree any time during its growth. The tree is an accurate historical barometer of a region's climate during its life, and some trees are 4,000 years old.

Fencing Can Enhance The Small Front Yard

On a smaller lot where space is at a premium, it's sometimes necessary to set the house as close to the street as zoning laws permit and add the extra space to the rear garden.

Such a plan may leave a narrow front, but if the situation's liabilities are exploited, there can be assets.

A good landscape architect will vote for a tall, handsome privacy fence to enclose the narrow front yard.

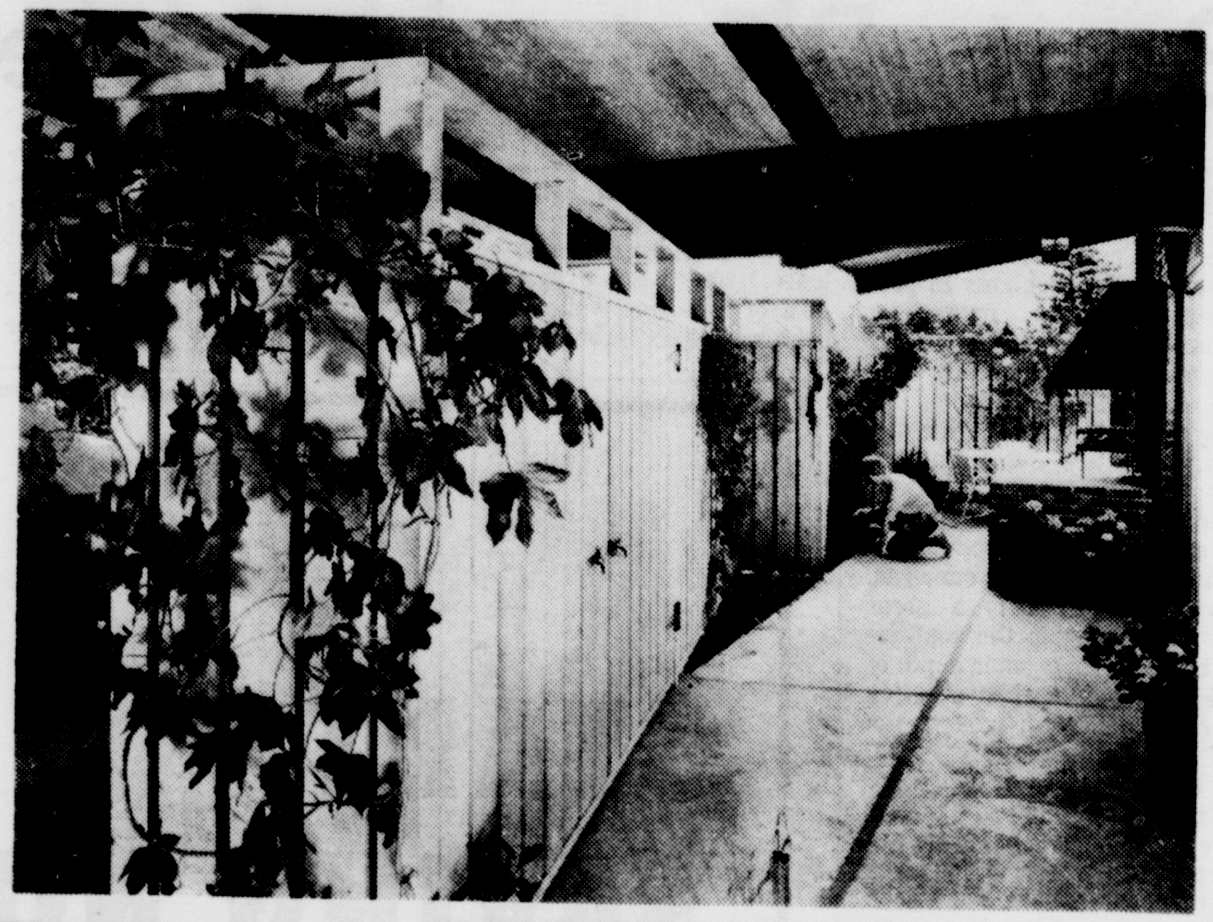

This plan can provide privacy, an intimate patio area, and work as a sound baffle to street noises.

Included in a fence can be a storage section tailored for the garden and other tools.

If a carport is set at the front of the house, a fence can be designed so a storage unit can utilize the shelter of the carport roof. Interior compartments will provide space for garden tools and barbecue equipment. Spare tires and other auto accessories and tools may be kept in this storage fence.

For different planting niches, the front yard fence can be in a sawtooth line. Triangular niches can then be filled with fluffy flowering shrubs or bushy vines.

Texture and simplicity are important to fence design. A board-on-board pattern is effective, executed in rough-sawn lumber and finished with exterior quality stain in a soft wood tone or desert sand.

NO PLACE FOR BARBECUE tools or fuel? A storage fence like this for garden tools, barbecue equipment and patio chairs can be incorporated into a tall privacy screen which jogs around the patio, creating triangular planting niches. Material is rough sawn lumber in board-on-board pattern.

Marinwood Offerings Run From Tennis To Tumbling

Tennis, tumbling and "tiny tots" lead the schedule of summer events at the Marinwood Community Center this year, with many of the events carrying over from the year-round program.

Children 3 to 5 will meet two hours daily, five days a week, in the tiny tots program. Swimming lessons also will be given the tots during the summer.

Athletics include tennis classes for all ages and degrees of skill, basic tumbling for youngsters 6 and over, swimming instruction for children and adults, a swim team for children 7 to 14 and adult softball.

Arts and crafts, offered for children 6 to 12, is one of several such classes. Others are a painting class for adults, meeting two hours each Monday, and sculpturing for all ages and skills.

Teen-agers meet at 7:30 p.m. on alternate Wednesdays for dancing, games or sports. Classes are given in ballroom and square dancing. Special events are offered on the Fourth of July and other holidays.

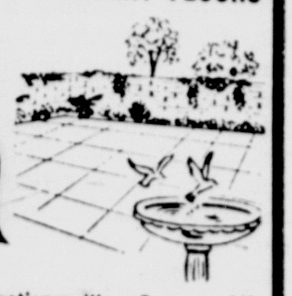

Flower Pots Make Anti-Insect Candles

Small clay flower pots make effective molds or containers for attractive do-it-yourself insect-repellent candles.

MEMORIES OF THE SPANISH MAIN

This swashbuckling jumpsuit is just the thing for on or off the water. The crisp, linen-type polyester and rayon have the stamina to stay pretty whether cavorting on the briny deep or reclining on a terrace. White shoe-string lacing adds the perfect nautical touch and gives bewitching glimpses of bareness to the wide leg trousers stemming from the sleeveless, easy lines of the bodice.

Westerners' Holiday Home Fancier Than It Used To Be

The second home at the mountain, along the seashore or in the country is becoming as much a part of family life in America today as the second and third car.

And, just as needs change, so do tastes.

The beach cabin of a decade ago was a pretty rough affair, with a sink in the corner served by a cold water tap, and a loft where all the kids slept in sleeping bags or on cots. The mountain home as likely as not had an outdoor toilet. The rural retreat for the families who could afford it generally wasn't much more than a shack or a modest cabin-cottage.

Away-from-home living was rough, and the families reveled in this return to nature.

Today's second home is still something on the rustic side, but it very definitely is not the jerry-built, roughly hewn, minimum standard shelter we knew as children.

Nobody has yet attempted to prove whether the beach, mountain or rural bound family has any more fun in their newer, slicker, better appointed second homes than we used to have. But, the fact remains that the face of rural America, at least as far as the second home is concerned, has changed.

The second home is a pretty chic affair, generally. It is emerging in several set patterns of design. Not in order of their numerical choice you can recognize the retreat when you spot an A frame; a single pitch roof cabin with full glass wall facing ocean, lake or mountain; a group of separate hip-roof buildings connected by fairly elaborate wood decks; a simple gable roof cabin; or, you may see one of the starter cabins with one section sitting rather forlornly on a large deck, which later will become the floor as more units are added.

The designs are different, but these second homes all have one thing in common, they are built almost completely of wood.

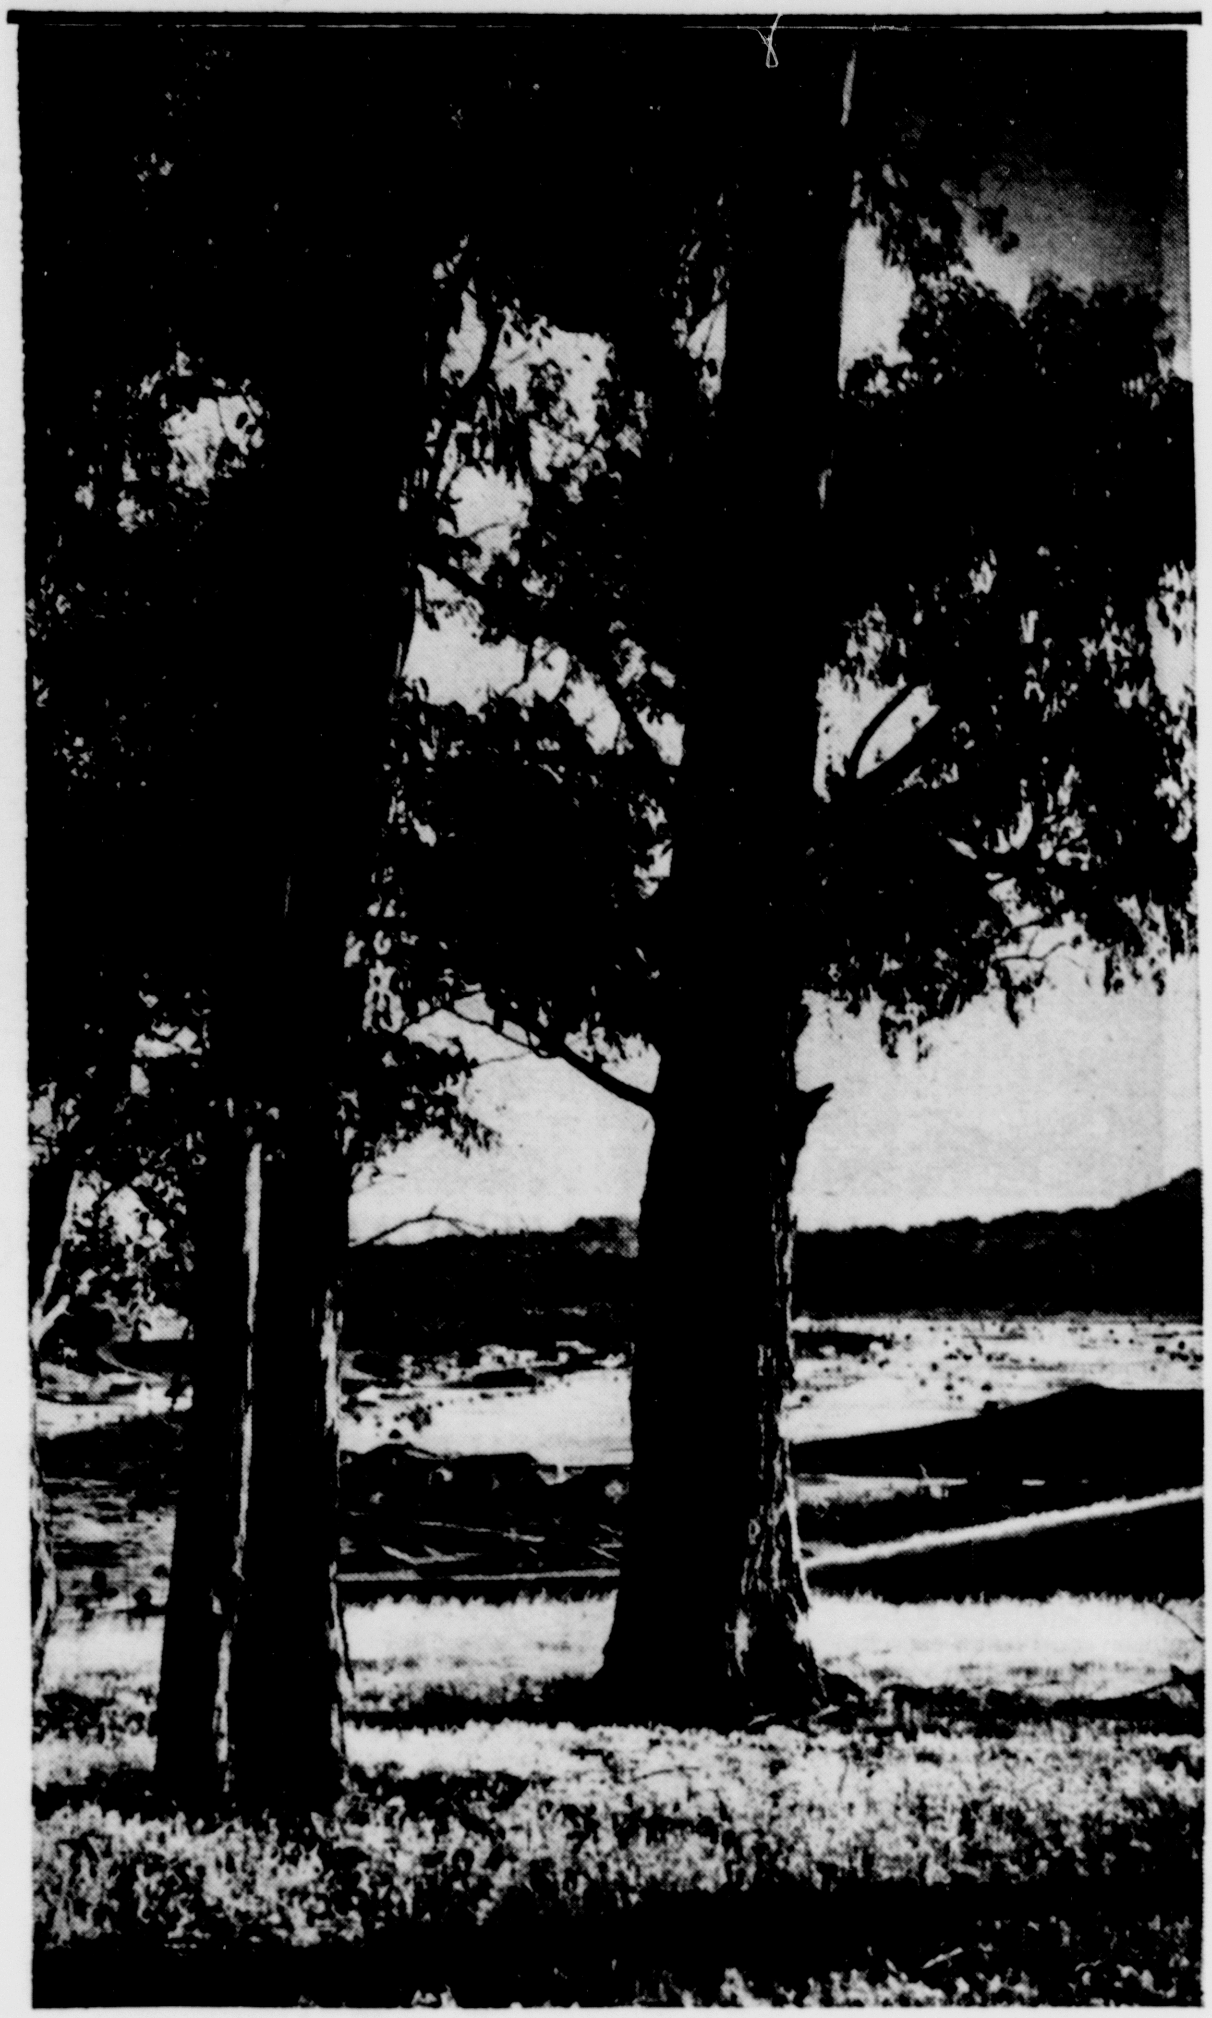

The design actually is only limited by the imagination of the architect, for more and more people are employing architects so that their homes are designed to fit into their surroundings.

The beauty about these wood structures is that you can get a high degree of elegance by using exposed wood paneling, and yet hold your costs down to the neighborhood of $10 a square foot or less. Some beach beauties may run up to $20 where the owners want comfort and are not limited by cost.

Probably the most popular exterior wood for these second homes is western red cedar because it ages so beautifully at the beach or in the mountains and fits into its natural rural surrounding. A good deal of fir is used for sidings, as well as cedar. Popular patterns include board - and - batten, center matched siding installed horizontally, and board on board. Sometimes in a more sophisticated, home bevel siding will be used.

For interior finish, architects and builders are leaning to the warm-toned western woods such as fir, western red cedar and west coast hemlock. The trend is to leave these woods in their natural color so the texture and warmth of the wood becomes the decorative motif. Clear varnishes are popular to achieve this effect.

Another earmark of the modern vacation home is the insistence of the new breed of owners on having all sorts of creature comforts. So, these homes will be generally fully electrified with fully equipped kitchens, and they will be fully plumbed.

MODEL COMMUNITY FOR OUTDOOR LIVING

Peacock Gap Country Club, a 3,000-acre development located on a broad, hilly peninsula projecting out into San Pablo Bay northeast of San Rafael, started out first with a clubhouse, an 18-hole golf course and a community of homes fringing the golf course and the hills surrounding it. But the area has developed other forms of outdoor activity. (Ken Molino photos)

MOST RECENT ADDITION to outdoor sports at Peacock Gap was la crosse, after a preview exhibition game was played in March. Other offerings include yachting and tennis clubs with frequent races and matches, and cricket. Polo matches are now being projected for the near future.

RUGBY BECAME A FAVORITE outdoor sport at Peacock Gap after the 1920-24 U.S. Olympic Rugby Team held an exhibition game last February. A second game featured the Olympic Club and Santa Clara University, and the formation of a Peacock Gap team led to a continuous monthly schedule of matches with other clubs. In this photo, Peacock Gap was playing Long Beach Rugby Club.

Twin-Bill Program Slated In Marin City Recreation

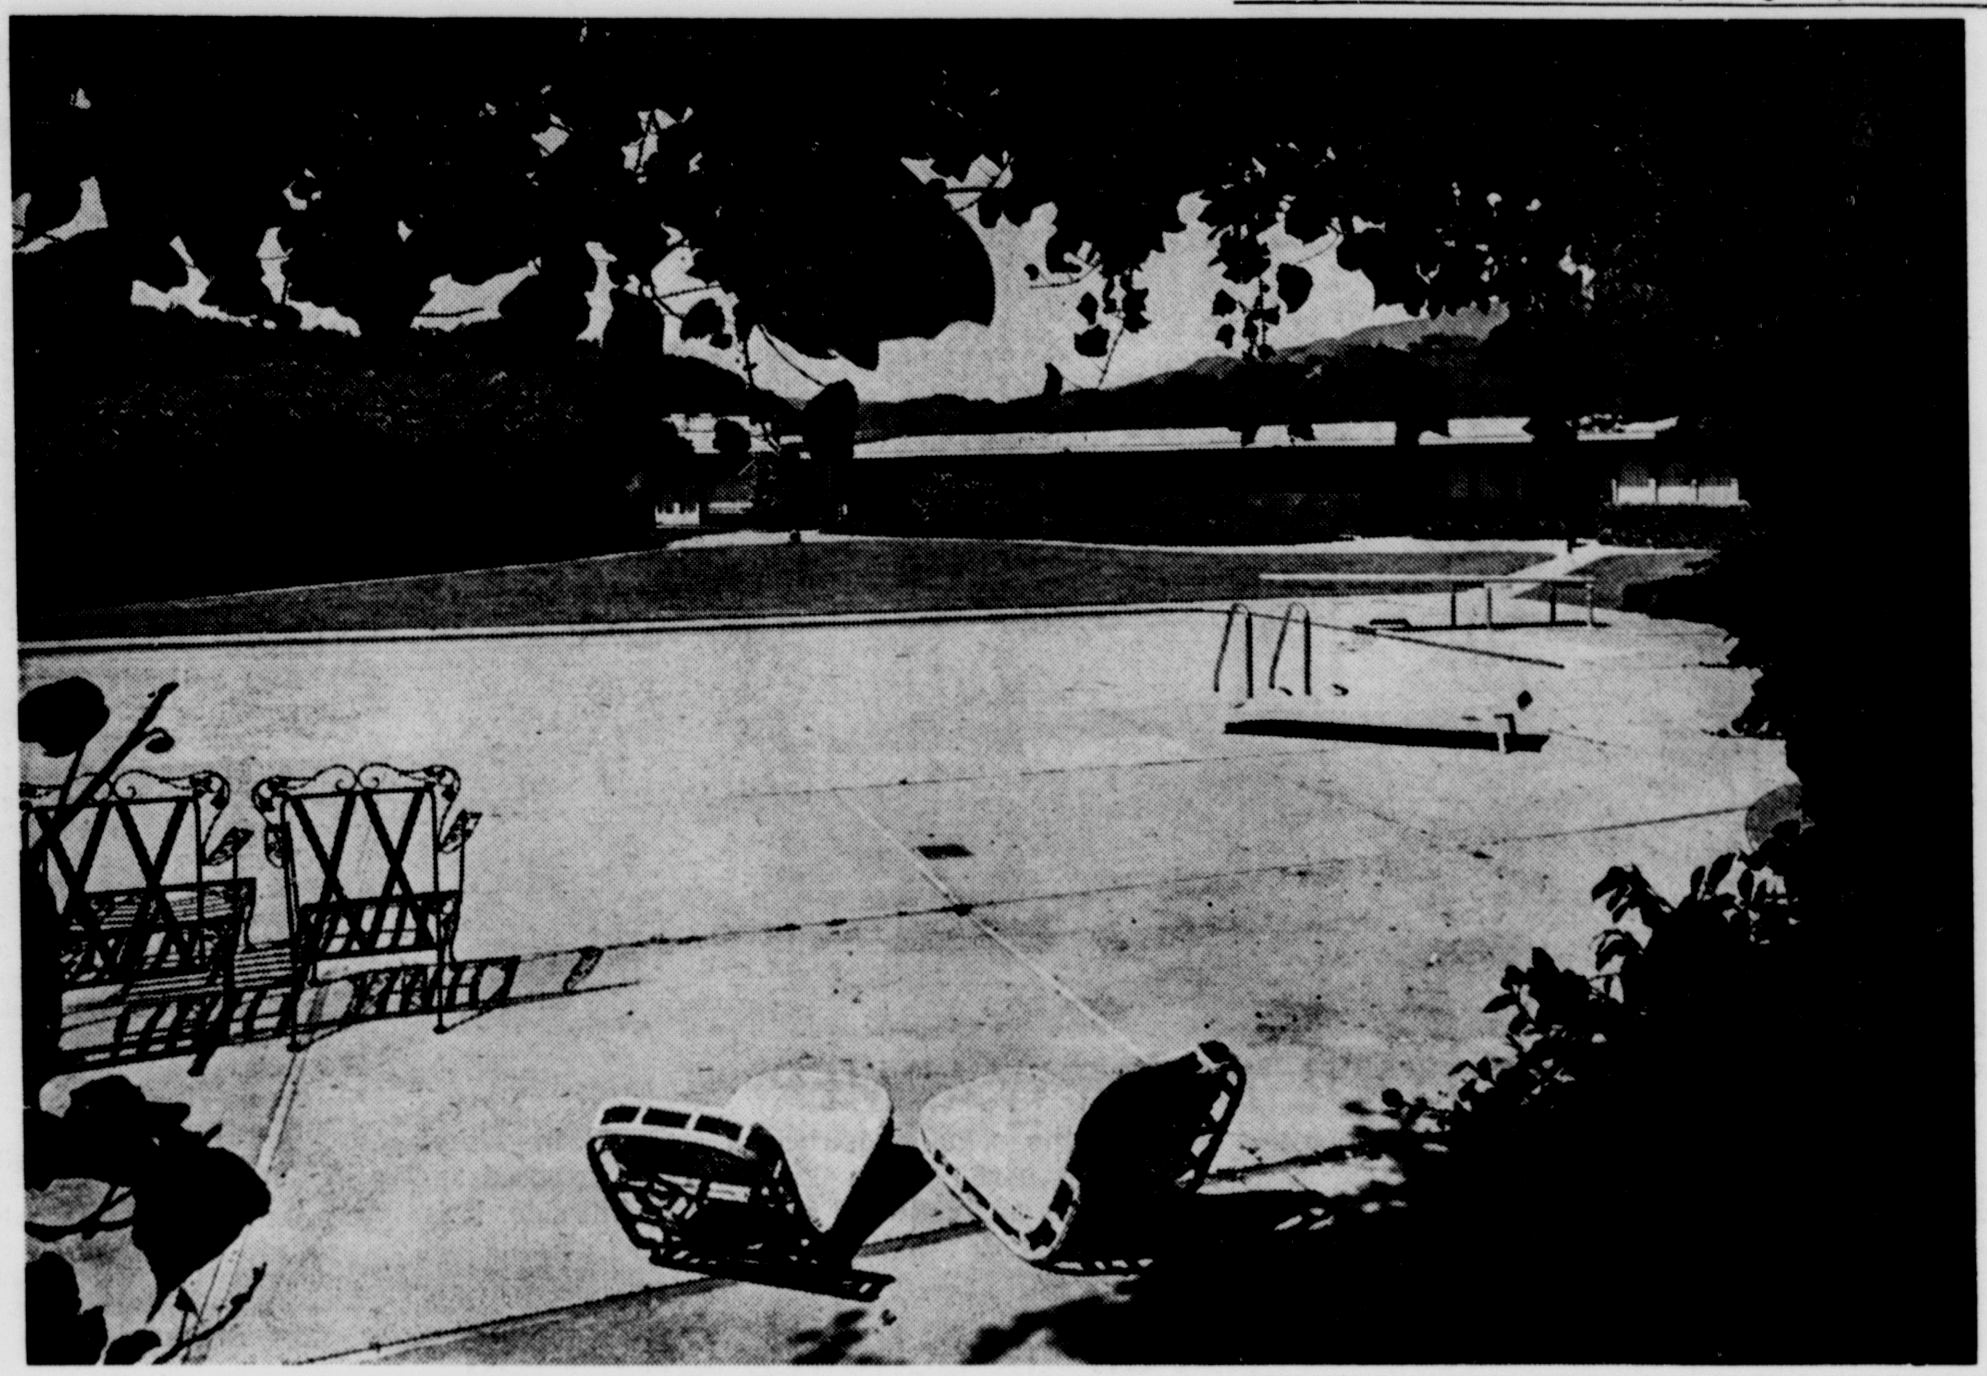

Marin City's summer recreation program is in two parts: regular activities under the county director of community relations, and the day camp, sponsored for the third year by St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Activities under the Marin City program, according to director Walter Bremond, include arts and crafts, creative dramatics, music, sports, teen club groups and girl's cooking lessons. There will be excursions to points of interest as well as beach parties, art shows and a cruise around the bay.

Mainly intended for elementary school youngsters, the program starts July 1 and runs through mid-August at Manzanita School, with hours from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Evening events are planned as well.

The day camp, from June 21 to July 16, is for youngsters who will be in the first through sixth grades this fall. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Youngsters will be taken to Golden Gate Park for hiking, fishing, swimming, singing and worship. Other trips will take them to the zoo.

Signups may be made through the church's pastors, Rev. Don Schilling of Marin City and Rev. James E. Symons of Tamalpais Valley.

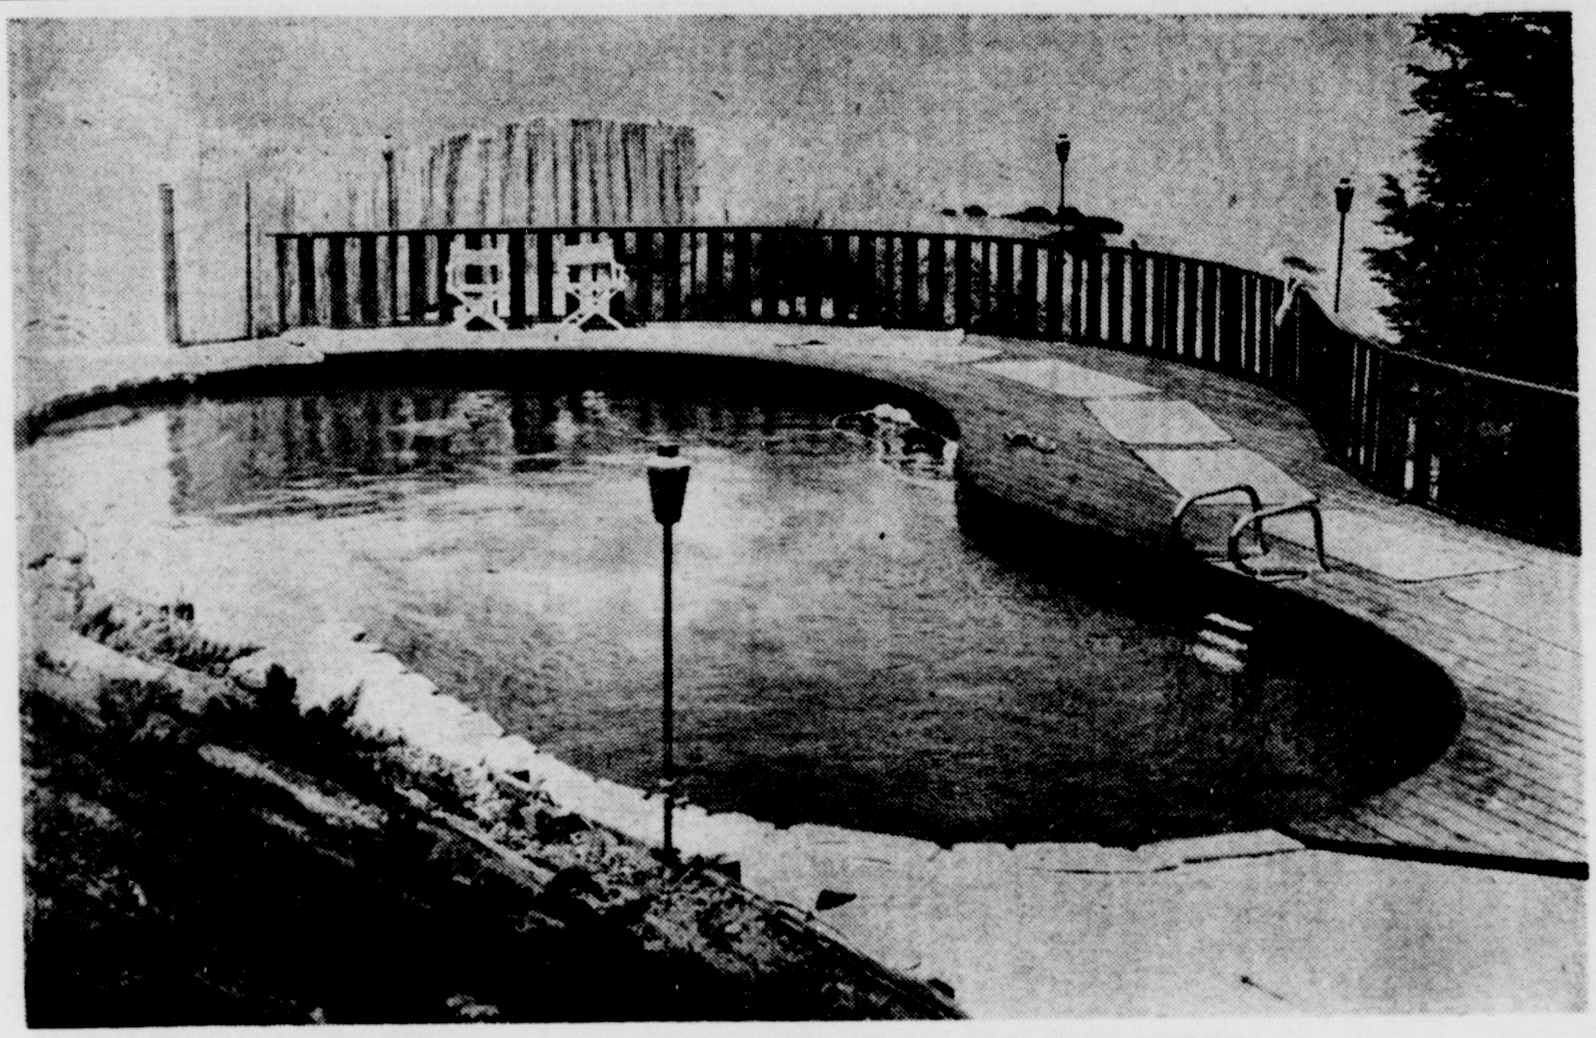

RECREATION AREA IS FOCAL POINT OF ESTATE

The sprawling home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mahoney Jr. in Ross is set in three acres of lush lawns and plantings landscaped by Thomas Church. Dominating this outdoor scene is a huge recreation area, which includes a 50-foot swimming pool.

OUTDOOR 'ROOM' PROVIDES LIVING SPACE

Recreation, relaxation, view and living convenience are all captured in this treetop deck of the William Bowcocks at Peacock Gap which adjoins the swimming pool and is set at the same level as interior flooring. Home and deck were built by Larkins Construction Co. (Ken Molino photos)

THIS POOL KEEPS WARMER

Black plaster and black waterline tile keep this pool built for Dr. Sherwin Miller in Tiburon by Blue Haven Pools seven to 14 degrees warmer than the same construction finished in white. Deck is part Arizona flagstone, part exposed aggregates and redwood on the downhill side. It is Blue Haven's "Mountain Lake" model.

San Anselmo Rec Program A Full One

"Summer fun for everyone" is the theme of San Anselmo's 1965 summer recreation program, and a glance at the detailed schedule seems to bear this out.

The program, which began officially Sunday and runs through Aug. 27, will be organized under six major areas. These are playground programs, arts and crafts, sports, music and dance, social activities and special events.

Boys and girls 6 years and over will be treated to a different theme during each of the playground program's eight weeks. These will include "fun on wheels," "outer space," "Circus Week" and "Olympic Week."

Youngsters who are 4 and 5 will be able to enroll in a special two-hour tiny-tot program at 10 a.m. each Wednesday at Brookdale and Wade Thomas schools.

Tennis, bowling, swimming, "slimnastics," a midget baseball league and softball for boys, girls, men and women make up the sports schedule.

Under music and dance, the program lists baton twirling, teen and adult folk guitar workshops, children's creative dance and adult dancing.

High on the list of social activities are "record hops" for junior and senior teen groups. The junior hops, for San Anselmo seventh and eighth graders, will be from 8 to 10 p.m. each Friday at Brookside School. The senior dances will be from 8 to 11 p.m. each Friday at Wade Thomas School.

Teen-agers will pay a small fee

Details of other teen activities, including bowling, ice and rollerskating, golf and horseback riding, are to be announced, as aer plans for special programs for senior citizens.

Special events for youngsters, to be held on Thursdays, will include a city-wide costume parade, bicycle rodeo, pet show, treasure hunt and variety show.

Registration for each class or activity may be made at the San Anselmo Park and Recreation Dept. office in Memorial Park starting June 21, or at the first meeting of the activity.

Fairfax Schools, City Plan Varied Recreation Program

The Fairfax recreation program will again be conducted this summer through the cooperation between the city and the Fairfax School District.

Activities will be held at the city's pavilion, playground and ball park, as well as at Central School. The program; which was slated for approval by the city council Monday, will run from July 22 through Aug. 27.

Schedule at the pavilion includes pool and snooker (climaxed by a tourney), basketball, table tennis, badminton and tumbling and mat exercises. All of these except the dances, pool and snooker will be for youngsters from fourth grade through high school. Pool and snooker will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily at the Andy Peri Memorial Playground through the summer.

Boys' football, men's softball and other sports will be scheduled at the city ball park.

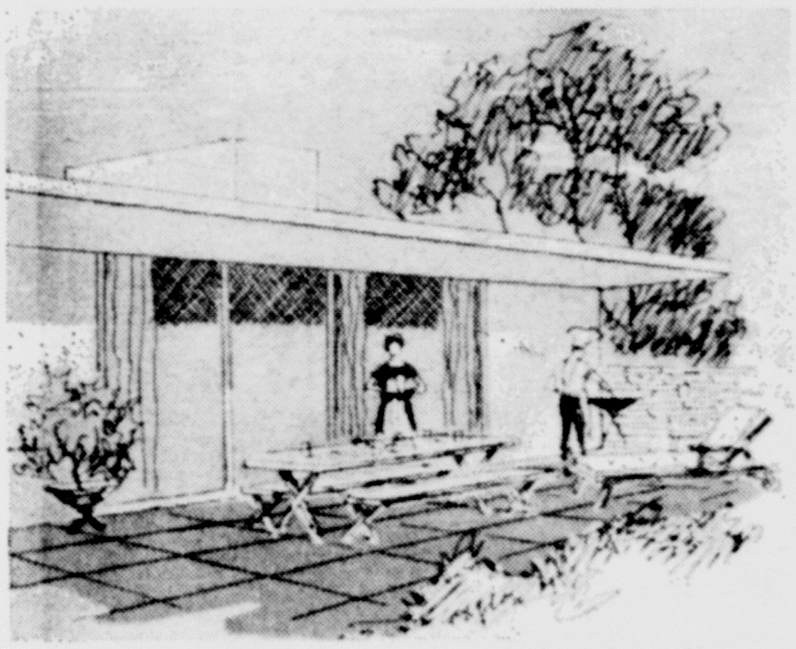

At Central School, an arts and crafts program for second through seventh graders, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, will include such projects as ceramics, cartooning, masks and wire sculpture.

Nyal De Worshom is recreation director.

Vacationers Can Avoid Becoming Insect Fare

Ah, for the smell of the outdoors and a night to spend under a starry sky.

The life of the outdoors, however, isn't all an emerald field and a sky full of fresh air. t's likely to be a field full of crawling bugs, and a sky filled with whirring wings.

But campers shouldn't be discouraged by a few bugs and beetles, for it's possible for the camper to get rid of some of the little creatures that he encounters, or at least get along with them.

If you're contemplating sleeping in the open, but the thought of crawling things gives you gooseflesh, get a tent with a sewn-in groundsheet. Most tents can also be fitted with netting over openings to keep out all but the tinest insects. To eliminate even these, spray your tent with a household instcticide just before retiring at night.

If you're the type that likes to arise with the birds, you'll probably be greeted with just as large a swarm of flying insects as you tried to get rid of the night before, for dawn and dusk are their favored times for coming into the open. If you insist on getting up then, but don't relish the thought of being bitten, rub all exposed skin surfaces with an insect repellent.

Many kinds of applicators are available, from the pressurized cans to the liquids and the roll-on types. Avoid getting these repellents into your eyes, but should you accidentally spray or squirt your eyes, bathe them immediately with cool clean water.

If you know you're allergic to insects, never sit on the ground without something protective beneath you.

To avoid mosquitoes, keep away from damp areas. Mosquitoes are particularly attracted to swamps and marshy regions and any stagnated lakes and ponds.

Prevent swarms of flies from invading your camp by keeping all food covered and clearing up remains as soon as you have finished eating.

You may encounter bees and wasps, but their stings, though painful are rarely dangerous. Some people, however, are allergic to bee stings and care should be taken. The first thing to remember is that bees won't sting you unless they think you're attacking them. Keep calm and don't rush around and wave your arms about. If you scare them they will surely sting you. Leave the bees alone and they won't hurt you.

Ticks can be a nuisance too, though they are less prevalent during the summer months than in the springtime. Ticks burrow their way into the flesh and it's wise to keep a lookout for them on your skin. If you suspect the presence of ticks in your camping area, you should be wise to give yourself a thorough inspection, including hair and clothes, each night before retiring. Most ticks are harmless, but if you find a tick on your skin and inflamation develops, see a doctor.

Comparatively few insects are harmful to humans and almost any allergies to insects can be treated these days. Many California campgrounds take preventive measures against pests, but if you camp out in the real wilderness, which is the insect's true domain, you will find plenty of them. Once you get to know them, bugs and beetles really make fascinating little friends.

Old Tubs Useful On Summery Day

Planning a backyard fling for neighbors or relatives?

If so, he easy way to keep beverages cold is to place them in a tub of chipped ice. Leakproof galvanized steel washtubs are readily available for this purpose and can be used for many other purposes after the picnic or barbecue.

Tile Enables Decks To Rival Old Patios

Modern living is outdoor living.

More and more families have decided that entertaining, eating or almost any activity is more fun when you can step right out onto a deck, sun porch or balcony.

These decks and porches, opening off upper level living areas, are beginning to rival the popularity of that all-time American favorite—the patio—in both new home construction and remodeling.

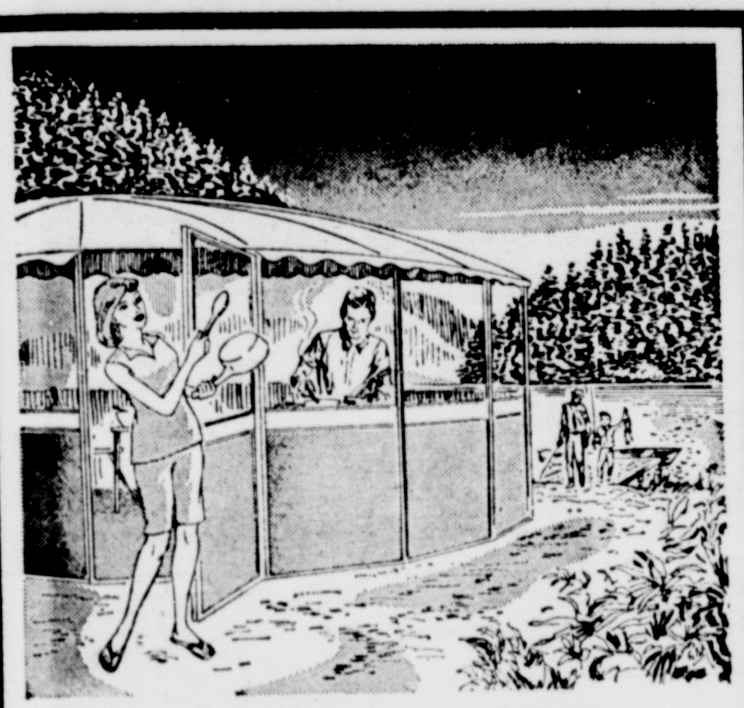

The big advantage of a sun porch or deck is that it can be installed over any lower level area with a flat roof, such as an attached garage or room addition, and provides more usable outdoor living space at relatively modest cost.

Wherever you build, it will benefit you to surface the deck with a durable material. Quarry tile is available in a variety of sizes and shapes, plus a wider range of permanent colors than ever before. For those who want a slip-proof surface, there are tiles with carborundum specks added.

Another suggestion is resilient tile which is now being made for outdoor use. Manufacturers claim it will last the life of the house in most cases. Produced in 18-inch squares, this product has an attractive natural slate design available in Spruce Green, Terra Cotta, Burnt Olive and Slate Gray. It is not affected by extreme temperature changes, is resistant to scuffing and heel indentations, and requires little maintenance.

NEW RESILIENT SURFACING MATERIAL for residential decks and sun porches closely resembles natural slate. The tile is applied over an elastic membrane which waterproofs the surface underneath. It is comparatively maintenance free.

PLEASANT RETREAT

Hideaway Furnishings Suitable For Double Duty Inside Or Out

A bucket of whitewash for that brick wall, a few flagstones, and some bright green paint for the trellis . . . that's all it takes to transform a corner of the yard into pleasant retreat perfect for reading, sun bathing or just relaxing during the long summer days.

For instant gardening, add plants in clay pots and arrange to suit your artistic sense. Geraniums make a lovely splash of color against the trellis, and ivy plants cascade from a low brickwall. By using clay potted plants, you can easily change your floral arrangements for variety and keep your niche looking its best.

To turn this very special nook into perfection, introduce some of the new outdoor furniture (although it will do double duty indoors during the cooler months) of light-weight metal, with brightly patterned upholstery and cushions of genuine latex foam rubber, for the greatest sense of comfort and ease.

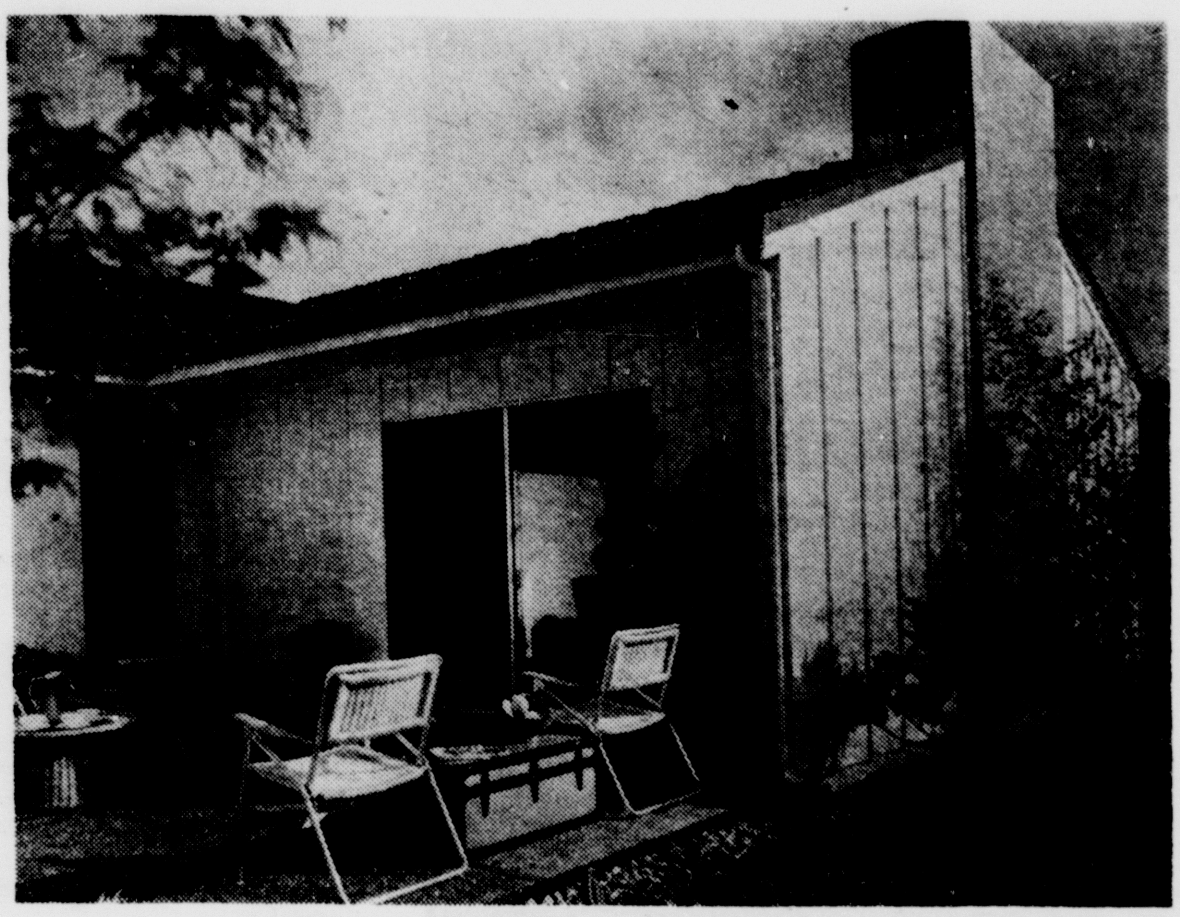

A stack or two of throw pillows of durable foam rubber makes another seating arrangement . . . one that young people "go" for whether in or out of doors.

Special fabric finishes make the cushions water proof and stain resistant. Latex foam rubber indicates a higher than ever comfort quotient in this type of furniture, and the new metal frames are unbelievably light in weight and easy to move around, but still have the rich appearance of wrought-iron and are corrosive resistant. Glass-topped tables of the same metal are decorative and practical.

Also available are coffee tables, lounge chairs and settees to fill out larger spaces . . . and all look equally well indoors for use in the family room or other areas at any time of the year.

BACKYARD LOAFING SPOT. Gay, colorful metal furniture sets the scene for happy outdoor loafing and brightens up a corner of the backyard, porch, patio—or what have you? The area becomes a garden spot with a battery of potted plants. Both furniture and plants can do indoor duty during the colder months of the year.

BUILD PATIO BY HOUSE WING

With proper planning for a new wing on an old home, the corner "L" serves as an ideal location for patio and outdoor leisure area. Patio slab shown here was brushed to expose the aggregate.

Pretty Wood Supplants Greens In The Garden

What? No green thumb? Try the hammer and nails method of landscaping.

Many of today's most distinguished gardens are created with lumber, while the traditional flower bed and swath of green lawn becomes more and more limited.

The switch, according to Barbara Fealy, prominent landscape architect of Portland, results from a re-evaluation of the yard. While our forebears wanted a park-like yard to look at, the modern family needs a garden designed for living as well as looking.

When planning a livable yard for your home, it's wise to begin with paper and pencil, advises the landscape architect. Jot down all the things you need and want for your yard beginning with uses, then noting methods of achieving those end uses.

For example, when creating an outdoor living area for your garden, perhaps you find privacy a problem. In that case, you should begin your yard development with a fence to provide your home with the needed sanctity. Don't fear using a high estate type of fence, for they can be utterly charming with the right kind of design.

One idea is to use a series of overlapping screens for the fence to avoid the straight-lined rigidity of most perimeter fences. The screens can be built with 1x2 strips of western red cedar spaced a quarter inch apart to give the fence a delightfully airy appearance. The 1x2s are nailed to a frame of 2x4s, using cedar 4x4s as posts.

A pattern of vertical louvers is another excellent design for the high fence. The louvers are simply cedar 1x6s set vertically at a 45 degree angle between a top and bottom 2x6 rail. It's an easy style to build and is, again, surprisingly open and airy in effect.

The privacy fence, whatever its style, will be the more lovely if it is used as a backdrop or foil for greens massed at its base. With a little research into the matter, shrubs that require little care and are slow-growing can be found for the fence line.

Another good trick for blending the fence into the landscaping and making it more lovely, according to landscape architect Fealy, is to let the cedar weather out instead of staining it. In a season or so, the fence will become a magnificent silver shade which compliments perfectly the greens and flowers in your garden. Miss Fealy also suggests that, to gain textural interest, rough-sawn cedar be specified for the fence rather than surfaced boards.

Once the privacy problem has been solved, the yard development can continue, little by little as time and budget permit. A handsome wood patio for comfortable outdoor lounging is generally the second most-needed item on the list. This can be attached to the house in deck style or set in a corner of the yard where, with the addition of a roof or arbor-like canopy, it becomes a summer house or gazebo.

Pergolas, garden benches, and tool houses are other structures to consider ading to your yard. Each will contribute aded livability and put a plus mark on the beauty side.

Carport Neglected?

One of the most overlooked areas for comfortable outdoor living is the carport. By its nature, the carport offers protection from both the sun and rain. It's an ideal spot for the barbecue pit. And your carport outdoor living area can be even more pleasant if the floor is surfaced with an easy-to-clean material such as quarry tile.

Novato Plans Play Offerings For All Ages

Five two-week sessions of swimming classes will combine with such activities as bridge lessons, children's drama and ballet to make up the Novato summer recreation calendar.

Sponsored by the city's parks and recreation department, the swim program starts June 21, and will be open to "tadpoles" (4 and 5), beginners and intermediates. Other classes will begin July 6, July 19, Aug. 2 and Aug. 16.

Registration for the swimming classes has already begun and can be done from 9 a.m. to noon each week day at city hall. The half-hour classes will start at several times through the day and will be held daily Monday through Friday.

In addition to these classes, the department will sponsor such special classes as adult lessons, junior and senior life saving, synchronized swimming, skin diving and water safety. Most of these start June 21 or 22.

Adult programs scheduled are intermediate bridge on Thursday nights, men's activity night each Monday and ladies' slim trim on Monday nights. All start within the next two weeks.

For children, the department plans a three boys sport camp sessions for boys 9 through 15, pewee baseball for boys 7 and 8, children's drama for youngsters 8 through 15, tiny tot classes for children 4 and 5, ballet classes for boys and girls through 7 and arts and crafts for children 9 through 18.

Details are to be announced later on a teen club and classes in tennis, golf, hunting safety, baton and archery.

Daily playground activities, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., will run 10 weeks starting June 21 at Marion, Olive, Lu Sutton, Rancho, West Novato and Lynwood schools. Weekly themes will highlight planned activities.

Ross Rec Program To Commence June 21

The eighth annual Ross Summer School Program, sponsored by the Ross P-TA with the blessings of the town council and the Ross School District board, will start June 21 at Ross School.

Courses will be offered in reading, sewing and dressmaking, athletic skills, science, world affairs, tennis, baseball, sculpture, swimming, wrestling and art.

'RESORT' LIVING AT HOME

All homeowners at Bel Marin Keys, north of Hamilton Air Force Base, have water frontage in their own back yards. Developers of the area offer handyman residents a do-it-yourself dock kit, but many owners are building elaborate decks and piers extending over the water. Most homes face on wide lagoons, others on the Novato River which feeds them from San Pablo Bay.

Sausalito Offers Art Instruction

Arts and sports will be emphasized in the Sausalito summer recreation program to be given July 5 to Aug. 13 at Central School. Hours are 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Outdoor sports, taught by Terry Bradley, will be for grade school children. Sharon Lopez of San Francisco and Martha Crowell of Sausalito, will assist Bradley.

Mrs. Jean O'Connor, a San Francisco teacher, will teach arts and crafts. She directed the art program last year. A craft fee will be charged.

The city recreation commission also is sponsoring a summer tennis instruction program.

A free program will start June 14 for 10 weeks at Richardson Bay School. Hours will be - to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays or Wednesdays and Fridays, starts June 15 at the same school.

DORSETT FARALLON CRUISER

This new roomy 23-foot fiberglass inboard-outboard cruiser, a deluxe sleeper for four, has been added to the stocks of Channel Boat Sales, San Rafael. Standard equipment includes enclosed marine head, galley, icebox; stove, 15-gallon fresh water tank, safety glass, skiff flying bridge, 45-gallon fuel system and self-bailing cockpit.

Too-Shady Corner Can Be Beloved Spot

Do you have a heavily shaded area in your yard, where the grass just won't grow, despite your planning and planting? Not all is lost.

You can convert the area into a pleasant spot for your outdoor meals or lounging by surfacing it with colorful ceramic tile. If you build a barbecue pit there, cover it with matching tile. There are more than 250 colors and designs to choose from.

New Outdoor Toys Offered For Children

Children need to play to grow on just as much milk and spinach, and if there is space in the patio or backyard a playland that is as colorful as flowers and trees can be added.

Youngsters need to climb, tumble, scramble, spatter, hurtle, and hammer in order to burn up energies and build their bodies, an area of their own will keep them off the grass, out of traffic, and away from the upholstery.

Among colorful items available for the child's paradise there is a climable giant turtle, with smaller editions for smaller children. The plastic molds can be converted to concrete on location. Soaring metal castuses in the backyard give boys a good workout. A sand-pit encourages creative play and saves scraped knees.

A tree house and connecting playground equipment are also available, delivered to be put together with bolts.

Keep Nation Beautiful By Tidy Habits

In his own small way each person can share in aiding President Lyndon B. Johnson's "Beautify America" program, says the National Automobile Club.

As summer approaches, millions of vacationers will make their annual pilgrimage to resorts, recreational areas and hideaways throughout the United States. One trash-filled paper bag thrown out the window of a speeding car may not appear to mar scenic beauty, but the situation becomes critical when repeated hundreds of thousands or millions of times. In fact, it is so critical that one-billion dollars is spent each year to clean the mess left carelessly to deface America.

NAC asks motorists to consider all land, streams and lakes as their own front yards, and give the same thoughtful care to these areas as they would their private property.

Follow these simple requests: 1) Carry a litter bag—and use it; 2) Dispose of trash in proper receptacles; 3) Cleanup camping areas when leaving.

Red Cross Will Offer Many Swim Classes

"Swim to Live" programs will be conducted throughout Marin during the summer months.

Following is a listing of swimming instruction schedules submitted to the Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross by some of the recreation centers in the county. It should be noted, however, that other communities are also planning swimming programs, but schedules had not been completed or available as of the deadline of this edition.

All of the following swimming courses will be conducted by registered American Red Cross Water Safety Instructors.

Barbecue Pit Water

For that extra touch of outdoor convenience, have your plumbing contractor run pipe from the basement or garage to the barbecue pit. With a water supply available in the backyard, outdoor entertaining is even more enjoyable, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.
